LIVE QUESTIONS DISCUSSED

At Opening Meeting for the Season of the Newton Chamber of Commerce

The Newton Chamber of Commerce held a most interesting and instructive meeting on Tuesday evening at the Newton Club House. Over a hundred members and guests sat down to dinner at 6:30 and more came in time for the after dinner speaking.

The Chamber had for its city government and city officials for its guests and Mayor Edwin O. Childs and President of the Board of Aldermen Arthur W. Hollis were at the head table with President Rupert C. Thompson of the Chamber. Mr. Stacy, secretary of the Massachusetts Chamber of Commerce was also a guest of the Chamber.

Among the other invited guests were Aldermen William S. Ball, John C. Madden, George W. Greber, Jam. Roy S. Collins, Daniel O'Connell, C. Singar Weeks, Harold F. Young, George M. Heathcote, Harry B. Ross, Thomas W. White, Henry W. Ball, J. Earle Parker, Norman F. Pratt, Howard Norton and Henry W. Pitts of the Board of Aldermen, Chief of Police Bernard F. Burke, Street Commissioner George E. Stuart, City Clerk F. M. Grant, and Henry Bailey, John R. Prescott and John W. Murphy of the Board of Assessors.

Mayor Childs made a brief and appropriate speech when introduced by President Thompson and the meeting then proceeded to consider three interesting problems affecting the city.

The first matter related to the proposed 20 per cent increase in railroad fares between the various Newton stations and Boston and the Newton French of the Commuters' Committee gave a brief, clear and comprehensive review of the changes which have been made in the railroad fares for past twenty-five years. The Secretary, Mr. Mowry, told of interviews with B. & A. officials in which it was stated that if any changes were made in railroad fares in the Metropolitan district by any one railroad, the statute requires similar changes to be made in all railroads serving Boston suburbs. It was stated that the Boston & Maine and the New Haven road needed the additional revenue while the B. & A. did not. The proposed increase will take $105,000 from residents of Newton according to figures prepared by Mr. French.

There was no opposition to a motion to instruct the Chamber officials to oppose the increase before the Department of Public Utilities.

The second matter on the program was a discussion over the proposed taking of land bounded by Commonwealth avenue, Walnut and Homer streets for municipal purposes. Mr. Albert M. Lyon said that this was a strategic place for a beauty spot and had been repeatedly urged upon the city government. He believed that anything that enhanced the reputation of the city would be reflected in the city treasury and read a letter from the Assessors in 1920 in which is was stated that the taxes from the increased valuations due to the improvement of this tract of land would more than equal the serial bonds and interest on the cost. Mr. Lyon said that the assessed value of the tract was $59,800 and that it yielded the city about $1,590 in taxes.

Mr. H. Wilson Ross said that the 2000 owners of lots in the Newton Cemetery would favor this taking in order to protect the Cemetery.

Mr. M. H. Gulesian favored taking the land even if used only for a few tennis courts and predicted a return of 6 to 8 per cent from that source alone. He raised quite a laugh when he told how the "boys and girls in white trousers" would use these courts.

Mr. Irving said that city conditions were constantly changing and that Newton must not stagnate or we will become a second rate city. Fifty years from now he said this open space will be gone.

Mr. Charles E. Gibson of the Planning Board said that that body was on record as favoring an open space somewhere in his vicinity.

Alderman Harold F. Young said that necessities of the city must be considered first and that the city had a long and still unsettled school building program to be finished first. He called attention to the fact that no increased assessments could be levied until the land had been improved and questioned what kind of a bottom would be found in this tract for any buildings. The city, he said, did not have the money and if the land was to be had the cost which he estimated at $150,000 should be raised by private subscription.

He believed that land should be taken on the banks of the Charles River at Upper Falls to protect the water supply and that the project of a 20 inch water main the entire length of Commonwealth avenue costing some $177,000 should be considered before money was used for park purposes.

Mr. C. S. Luitweiler said that the place was a disgrace to the city as it is at present and that it would be a great mistake not to take the land now.

Mr. Ross said it was used as a dump now for the street railway and no one knew what its future might be.

Mr. Tenry Bally of the board of aldermen entertained the audience with an interesting argument in favor of taking the land which he said was needed to complete the Newton boulevard. The boulevard he said had been a splendid investment for the city with a present revenue of $500,000. He believed it would be a great advertisement for the city and suggested that it might be used as a site for a war memorial.

President Hollis said that these

GOLDEN WEDDING

Hon. and Mrs. John A. Fenno on Tuesday evening gave a reception at their home, 510 Walnut street, Newtonville, in celebration of the 50th anniversary of their wedding.

The reception was attended by about 250 of their friends, including the four gentlemen who served as ushers at the wedding, which took place in Christ Church, Waltham, on the evening of October 30, 1873, the Rev. Thomas F. Fales, who was then rector of the parish, officiating. The four who were ushers are Messrs. John V. Athorp of Cambridge, Daniel T. Kidder of Newton Centre, Dr. William O. Hunt of Newtonville, and the Rev. George Osgood of North Attleboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenno were assisted in receiving by their daughters, Mrs. John E. Atwood and Mrs. Chester H. J. Keppeler, both of Newton, and their grandchildren, Ardella Atwood, Nina Fenno Keppeler and Pauline Fenno Keppeler. The ushers were Mrs. Fenno's nephews, Dr. Harold O. Hunt, Richard F. Hunt, Donald R. Hunt and William O. Hunt, Jr., who are the sons of Dr. William O. Hunt of Newtonville.

Hundreds of friends of the couple gave evidence of their remembrance by sending flowers and telegrams. Of these tokens of regard, there were two that were especially valued by the recipients. One was a huge basket of chrysanthemums sent by the conductors of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad, and the other was a congratulatory telegram from Secretary of War John W. Weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenno have resided in Newtonville for 49 years. Mrs. Fenno was formerly Miss Nina Hunt of Waltham. Mr. Fenno served four years on the Newton city government and was mayor of the city in 1893 and 1894. For half a century he has been connected in official capacities with the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad, and a year ago resigned the presidency to become chairman of the board of directors. He has twice been president of the Newton Club, and a former worshipful master of Dalhousie lodge of Masons of Newtonville.

VOCATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL

A sale was held in the Vocational High School on Tuesday afternoon, for the benefit of the Japanese Education Fund. Two of the school rooms were converted into bowers of beauty.

In one of the rooms the booths were trimmed with wisteria and in the other with cherry blossoms. Maidens in Japanese costumes waited on the customers.

All kinds of fancy articles, both dainty and useful were to be found as well as jars of fruits and preserves all made by the girls themselves.

A fortune booth decorated with Japanese lanterns did a thriving business. An orchestra of the pupils themselves added a festive air.

The sale was well patronized, and the Japanese students who because of the recent catastrophe have found themselves without funds, will be the gainers.

GIRL SCOUTS

Girl Scout Cookie Day proved a great success. The returns have not been received from all the Troops as yet so their part of the sale will not be printed until next week. West Newton and Auburndale made cookies in the centre from which they were sold and Scouts were kept busy all day making cookies to meet the supply demanded. The other villages were not fortunate enough to be able to obtain stores where the girls could do the cooking so had to be content with selling cookies made by the girls at home. The Newtonville Scouts are taking orders for cookies this week and will deliver them tomorrow.

Troop 11, Troop 11, the Newton Highlands Troop is our newest Troop of Girl Scouts in Newton. It was registered at Scout Headquarters last March. There are 50 girls in the Troop and 4 officers. Mrs. Lillian J. Collins is Captain of the Troop, Miss Mildred Moore, First Lieutenant, Miss Elizabeth Cobleigh and Miss Priscilla Cobb, second Lieutenants. The non-commissioned officers are: Patrol Leaders, Dorothy Shute, Barbara Johnson, Dorothy True, Marguerite Parker, Mary Carriek; Corporals; Katherine Locke, Catherine Carriek, Nancy Ryther, Barbara Nichols, and Catherine Thompson. The chairman of the business meetings, Barbara Johnson and Secretary, Catherine Carriek.

Troop 11 started the year with a food sale for the Japanese Relief Fund. The suggestion came from one of the Scouts that the Troop should help swell this fund and a food and candy sale was decided on. Through the courtesy of Mr. Milliken a vacant store was used by the Troop for this sale and besides soliciting food the girls helped to get the store ready for the sale, washing windows, cleaning and so forth. Everyone responded to the call and when the girls called for the food, which they had solicited, on Saturday morning, they received very generous contributions. This sale brought in 106 dollars which the Scouts of Troop 11, sent to the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross for the Japanese Relief Fund.

DURST-ROURKE

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Annie J. Rourke of 2 Walnut street, Newtonville, daughter of Michael J. Rourke, and Edward F. Durst, son of Mathias F. Durst of Waukegan, Ill., at the Church of Our Lady, Newton, on Tuesday evening, October 30. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Conrad J. Quirbach. Richard Fitzpatrick of Newtonville was best man and the bridesmaid was Miss Mary F. Rourke, a sister of the bride, of Newtonville. The bride was gown in white satin charmeuse, trimmed with pearls and wore a veil of tulle. The bridesmaid wore peach crepe de chine, trimmed with black ostrich and velvet. A reception was held at the home of the bride's father on their return from a wedding trip to New York and Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Durst will reside in Waukegan, Ill.

BOY SCOUTS

A meeting of the Council was held at Newton Club, Tuesday evening. The President, James C. Irwin, presiding. Commissioner Pratt outlined the program for the coming season and complimented the Scout Masters and local officers on the progress made in Scouting during the past summer. Mr. John H. Eddy, Treasurer, reported as to the financial condition of the Council, which was encouraging. President Irwin called for reports from the various troops represented and a general note of enthusiasm seemed to be present in all of these reports. Vice-President Carley spoke briefly on the necessity of news being furnished for the local papers and the "Norumbega Scout" and also in regard to the "Ohio," the Council camping ground, south of Needham, calling attention to the fact that several desirable sites for camps were still available and that it was believed it would be possible to get a well driven before winter, insuring a continuous supply of good water.

There was some discussion of the question of conservation of trees and while no definite action was taken it is believed there was a consensus of opinion that it was best to discourage the cutting of even dead trees by Scouts to pass their first-class tests and that live trees, of possible future value, should never be cut for this purpose.

President Irwin spoke of the loss to Troop 11 of Newton by the resignation of Mr. John M. Woodbridge, Jr., as Scout Master, but said that after Mr. Woodbridge has to the work for more than ten years, the last five as a commissioned officer, he felt that he was entitled to claim some exemption, that the Council appreciated immensely the fine work he had done. The applause following indicated the appreciation of the audience.

A nominating committee was elected to report back to the annual meeting in December; this committee consisting of Messrs. Kimball, Bunker, Crowell, Drowne and Carley.

Troop News

President Irwin talked to the Scouts of Troop 4, Newton Highlands, at their last week's meeting on Camping, Wood Craft and general preparedness for emergencies. There were about fifty boys present, including candidates, all of the commissioned officers attached to this troop and a member of the troop committee. Mr. Irwin's talk was very interesting and he found an attentive audience.

NEWTON TIES MALDEN 3-3

Hitherto Unbeaten Team Held to Tie in Disagreeable Game

Newton's teams have always been famous for their fighting spirit, and this year's team is no exception to the rule as proved by last Saturday's game at Malden. It was a tight-fight from the opening play to King's last drive through tackle. It was real Newton-Waltham football—Forty minutes of actual playing time just crammed full of action. It was a great game and Newton deserved to win, for they scored six first downs to Malden's two.

Malden received the kick-off, and taking a leaf out of history attempted to work a long forward pass on the first play. Two years ago in the Newton-Malden game, Newton almost scored a touchdown in identically the same way when "Herb" Garrity heaved the ball thirty yards over the sleeping Malden backfield to "Shad" Osborne's waiting arms. Last Saturday, however, Guy Holbrook was on the job. He intercepted Malden's forward and ran it back twenty yards before being downed. Newton was on Malden's forty yard line and the game was one minute old. As three line backs netted only six yards, Gilligan tried a drop kick which was short landing in Mangan's arms on his ten yard line. He ran the ball back ten yards and was downed by a terrific tackle by Holbrook. The tackle was so hard that he fumbled the ball. Newton recovered. On the next play Holbrook was clipped from behind, injuring his ankle so that he had to leave the game. MacQuiston who took his place, brought the ball out directly in front of the goal posts, and on the next play Gilligan booted it over.

The thoroughly aroused Malden team kicked off to Newton. King received the ball and ran it back ten yards; Considine punted to Jackson, Malden's colored flash, who could not get going—not only that once, but every time during the game. Mangan gained one yard through tackle. Jackson gained two yards on a short end run, and Malden punted to Gilligan on Newton's fifteen yard line. MacQuiston gained a foot around end, Considine punted to Jackson who was downed in his tracks by Adams on Newton's forty-seven yard line. On the next play Dewing was penalized fifteen yards for using his hands before the ball was passed. Malden had the ball on Newton's thirty-two yard line with two thousand loyal rovers howling for a touchdown. But the Newton line was fighting, and after two rushes had failed, Holden, the left end, dropped back and kicked a goal from placement.

Dewing kicked off, Malden made a first down by inches, Melansen skirted Newton's left end for three yards, and the quarter ended.

The second quarter was a punting duel between Considine and Mangan. Along kick over MacQuiston's head put Newton on the defensive in the shadow of their goal. A short Newton kick gave Malden the ball on the twenty-five yard line. Again the Malden stands thundered for a touchdown, and again the Newton line held. On the third play Malden heaved a long forward pass down the field but MacQuiston, wide awake and alert picked it out of the air neatly and started up the field. The danger was over, Newton scored a first down by straight line bucking, and then punted. The ball seasawed back and forth across the middle of the field until the end of the half.

During the intermission between the halves it was universally agreed that it was any body's game, for both teams had scored three points via the aerial route, and both teams had made one first down by rushing.

The second half opened in whirlwind fashion and whirlwind football was played until the end of the game. Newton had another chance to score when MacQuiston scored two first downs in a row, and the team went fighting up the field. On the twenty yard line Malden intercepted a forward and punted out of danger. The drive up the field started again. Straight line buck, short forwards, and end runs aided by a fifteen yard penalty brought the ball up in front of the Malden goal posts, and on third down, five yards to go, Gilligan missed a drop kick from the twenty-nine yard line.

In the last quarter both teams were desperately trying to score and both opened up. Interceptions were frequent and the ever changing tide of battle kept the spectators in an uproar. Malden completed one forward pass for thirty yards, but the Newton line tightened, and Holden was forced to try for a field goal from the thirty-eight yard line. The ball went wide and Newton punted out of danger. The battle royal went on—and the game was soon over.

It would be foolhardy to attempt to pick out individual stars. Every man on both teams fought like a wild cat—and every man deserves well earned praise.

The game was as good as a victory for Newton, for the Newton team proved that they had the fight, and that they will come through in a pinch.

Tree Is a Bridge.

The greatest wonder of the petrified forest is the agate bridge. This is a huge tree trunk, 100 feet long, spanning a 60-foot chasm, says Nature Magazine. The entire tree is made up of agates, jaspers, chalcedony, and other highly colored and handsome stones. In the canyon directly below the agate bridge is a pool of water, and around it grow the only trees in the country.

Defects Shown in Arms.

The commonest physical defect in the human race is that the arms are disproportionately long. This defect occurs more often in men than in women, and more frequently among the colored than among the white races.

gave their concert for the young people of Boston and vicinity. About 25 of the Mason pupils were in the audience. Such an opportunity to hear the best orchestral music should not be neglected!

On Monday afternoon, the eighth grade held its first class meeting. Class dues of 50 cents for the year were voted, and then a short program was given. Martha Petersen rendered a piano solo; Catherine Stone gave a short book review and Betty Lotz read a paper on Theodore Roosevelt.

Williams School

This week the children of Grade I have made all the Halloween decorations for their room.

The children of Grade II, are looking forward with great pleasure to their monthly Friday morning's visits to the K'n.

Grade III, is a fine "bee hive". Many children are becoming "busy bees". "Drones" are getting fewer.

The Fifth grade boys are showing considerable interest in their training project. They hope to have the result of the arithmetic contest by rows by the end of this week.

Grade VI, has a new member, Elizabeth Connor, coming from the Wilson School, Natick.

Hyde School

There has been a noted improvement in the "Savings" of the children through out the school. In Miss Sampson's fourth grade, twenty-eight out of thirty-nine children have accounts. Preparations are being made for observation of Educational Week, November 18 to 24.

In the recent football game played by the Hyde team against the Middlesex "Cubs" on their home field at Canton, the Hyde eleven were victors by a score of 13 to 12. The touchdowns were made by Boyce, Godsoe and Robert Bonner. Richard Wagner kicked the goal.

More than 50 pupils from the Junior High School section escorted by their teachers enjoyed the Children's Symphony Concert at Symphony Hall, Boston, on Wednesday afternoon.

Stearns School

Seventeen of the sixth grade children went with Miss Winters to the Children's Concert at Symphony Hall, Wednesday afternoon.

Officer Kiley, of the Newton Police Department, and Mr. Winslow visited every class in the district Wednesday, talking for a safe and sane observance of Halloween.

Mr. Griffin, our new Music Supervisor, is already getting popular with both pupils and teachers. The school Department's careful search for the right man is proving worth while.

The Stearns School Centre has been enjoying a week of parties. The first was the Junior Girls' Club. Costume party. The girls appeared in interesting and grotesque costumes.

The great surprise of the evening was the Chamber of Horrors in a dark closet in the basement.

The Senior Girls' Club, after the fall rush of new girls, added seventeen new members to their club on initiation night. Four girls attended the Eastern Massachusetts fall meeting of the Massachusetts League of Girls' Club which was held at the Plymouth Girls' Club.

Following the annual costume party came the Mothers' Club party. Here Mothers enjoyed their second childhood by dressing as children, and colored mummies, farmers, colonial dames and young boys. They were entertained by Mrs. Katherine P. Stearns who read their character by their palms. Sixty mothers were present.

On October 30, Mrs. Sullivan gave a talk on Dramatics to the Mothers. Sixty little girls who want to become Brownies gathered in the hall on Monday afternoon to listen to stories by Miss Zumer of the Community Service.

Burr School

A captain ball game between the seventh and eighth grade girls of the Burr and Stearns Schools was held on the Burr School playground, Tuesday afternoon. The Burr School won, 12-5. Another game is being arranged to be held soon in Auburndale.

Several pupils of the eighth grades gave short talks regarding the proper celebration of Halloween, in some of the lower grades of the Burr and Stearns Schools. A committee was appointed in the eighth grade to give suggestions to any pupils interested, for entertainments for that evening.

Mason School

There was not a vacant seat in Symphony Hall on Tuesday afternoon, when the Boston Symphony Orchestra

REWRITING THE HOLY WORD

Dutch Historian Explains Why He Has Undertaken the Task—Makes Appeal to the Masses.

Fancy the nerve a man must have to suggest that our grand old Bible should be rewritten.

And yet Dr. Hendrik Willem van Loon, famous Dutch United States historian, has undertaken this task, very seriously and reverently indeed.

He explains: "I firmly believe that 90 per cent of the world's Christian population never look at the Bible. After all, it contains nearly two million words, and much of it is written in a language which only the educated man can understand.

"My book, which I have called 'The Story of the Bible,' only contains 120,000 words, and the whole of it is written in the simplest language.

"In the States, and probably the whole world over, there are a large number of the working classes who want to learn. But until they find something that they can easily understand they are at a loss where to start.

"It is true that my way of retelling the old story may rob it of some of its charm, but I have tried to be reverent throughout, while all the time speaking in a language that is easily understandable.

"This work has taken me nearly two years and I have spent much labor and thought on it. I feel confident that the result will not only appeal to the masses, but it may induce them to study the Bible for themselves."—Exchange.

HABITS OF FALL WEBWORM

Explained by Official of United States Bureau of Entomology—Question of "Intelligence."

The familiar ugly brown patches which appear on trees in the city, orchard and forest in the fall are the work of the fall webworm, whose habits and life history have been thoroughly studied by R. E. Snodgrass of the United States bureau of entomology. These little worms, which are the progeny of a small, night-flying white moth, construct bags of glistening silk among the foliage in the spring and begin to eat the leaves inclosed in their houses. As the leaves are consumed, the houses must be expanded to cover more food, until at length brown patches of several feet in extent appear in the trees. The author gives many interesting details of the life cycle of this little creature from the time the moth lays its eggs on a leaf, through its various stages of development as a worm, until it spins a cocoon and goes into confinement only to change to a pupa, then a chrysalis and finally emerges a full-fledged moth.

In concluding, the author speculates as to whether or not such insects have any so-called intelligence. "Can the caterpillars have appetites, a sense of touch, fear of danger, and show resentment at an interference with their natural rights without some consciousness at least of their own existence?"

What Insulin Is.

Much has been said in the newspapers lately about "insulin," the new remedy for diabetes discovered by Dr. F. G. Banting, of Toronto University, but few people know exactly what it is.

Insulin is an extract of fresh, healthy beef pancreas, a solution of the internal secretion of the pancreas of the ox. The extract is made by soaking the fresh organ in a mixture of alcohol and diluted hydrochloric acid. One reason for choosing this solvent is that while it dissolves the internal secretion, the external secretion (whose chief constituent is trypsin and which is of no value in the present connection) is left undissolved. The solution so made is sterilized. Insulin has caused sugar varying in quantities from 2 to 7 grammes to be utilized in various patients per diem. The effect, apparently, is evanescent and lasts only eight or nine hours, so that injections are necessary every day.

Crossed Shoes Cure Cramps.

My mother suffered at night with cramps in her feet and ankles. One day a sewing-woman told her that if she would cross her shoes when she took them off she would have no more trouble. My mother tried it, and we all laughed and teased her whenever we saw her little crossed shoes, although she assured us that the cramps had departed. Some time afterward, in the upper berth of a sleeping car, I was seized with a violent cramp in my right foot. I was undressed and could not get down to go to the dressing room, because it was early and people were walking about the aisle. Meantime the pain became unbearable. Suddenly I thought of crossing my shoes which lay near. I crossed them and the cramp magically disappeared. —Chicago Journal.

And After That.

"Where have you been, old-timer?" inquired Cuthbert, upon meeting up with his friend Hoffy.

"Been to Iceberg beach?"

"Down where the sea has a permanent wave, eh?"

"Exactly."

"I suppose you were engaged to a summer girl?"

"I was."

"There is a theory that summer girls are very fickle."

"Oh, I don't know," responded Hoffy. "Mine stuck to me as long as I had money for rolling chairs and ice cream soda."

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of the Graphic:

Dear Sir:

In view of a hearing which has been announced for next Monday evening, about buying land at Oak Hill, for a Park, it is well to look over the situation.

The land in question is a narrow strip running along the river for about 1500 feet. It is bounded on one side by a much longer strip of land which is back of the Newton Pumping Station, and is owned by the City of Newton. It is unimproved and useless.

On the other side the "Charlemont land," as it is called is bounded by land belonging to the Charles River Country Club, which has many acres of beautiful land all shut away from the public.

Still farther along is Kenrick's Bridge with a good safe swimming place, and plenty of land owned by the Working Boys' Home. Any one of these properties might well be taken for the use of the public, and would cost much less than the Charlemont property.

A Park is considered a very desirable thing at any place. Here it is quite the custom for residents across the river more especially from the Polish district to take their families and go out walking. They find this section very accessible and it is the custom in their own country, especially on Sunday afternoons.

We ought to provide some place for them although there is much open land over on the Needham side of the river.

If a park is needed at Oak Hill (which may well be questioned) it would be wise to look at all the property in the vicinity, before deciding upon one special place.

It seems rather strange that a park in a certain place, should be decided upon when none of the property owners around in the vicinity ask for it, or care anything about it.

They don't know whether they want it or not. They will not use it themselves, and the park will be occupied on Sundays and holidays by strangers who come for the day.

These will be campers, picnickers, ball players, family parties with many children.

To judge by the noise from the other park at Upper Falls on Sundays, the whole quiet atmosphere of beautiful Charlemont will disappear.

The land in question has been carefully laid out with access to the valuable spring and to the river guaranteed. These are open to every one, and there is still quite a considerable space not yet sold which might be bought if needed.

The few houses already built, six at present four occupied, part of the year are homes and it is only as a necessity that a home should be disturbed. Newton is having an experience in taking the Byfield property, and although these homes are small they are yet just as dear to their owners.

MRS. H. R. TURNER

Young Love's Ending.

I had taken my girl to a box social held in a country school. I told her to describe her box and I would buy it. I bought the box she had described, and on opening it I found it belonged to a sour old maid. I was real angry, especially so when I saw that a nice young fellow had bought my girl's box. Our friendship ended there.—Exchange.

ABILITY TO SAY "I SAW IT"

Makes Ticketholder at Public Spectacle Get Idea That He Had His Money's Worth.

Questions from Shakespeare and the Bible, analogies drawn from the fall of Rome, and accusations of "loose thinking" are all powerful weapons in an argument, but the most effective is the stout assertion: "I saw it with my own eyes."

This explains why many spectators who have paid substantial sums to see a somewhat disappointing spectacle, such as a recent fight in Jersey City, and go to bed chagrined, come to believe before the following noon that they have had their money's worth. For theirs is the thrill of speaking with authority, says the New York Sun and Globe. Instead of being brusquely contradicted after each statement, they are listened to with respect and are freely quoted and appealed to by disputants who have not paid for the title of "eyewitness." Probably at the next event there will be many buying tickets with the resolve that "this time if that dub Jones tries to tell me what happened, I'll tell him what I saw, and let him know where to get off."

SAW METEORITE AS IT FELL

English Field Laborer Within Fifteen Yard of Projectile—Various Minerals in Its Composition.

The British museum recently received a very interesting gift in the form of a meteorite which fell not long ago near Saffron Walden, in Essex.

About one o'clock in the afternoon a laborer in a field at Ashdon heard a hissing sound, which he took to be the noise of an airplane. Looking up, he was astonished to see, not a plane, but a projectile rushing to the earth. It struck the ground about fifteen yards away, throwing up the soil all round like water.

The man was so much alarmed that he hurried away, but a day or two later returned to the spot with another man and dug out a meteorite, which was found at a depth of two feet.

It weighs about three pounds, and is five inches long and four inches wide, with a thickness of three inches. The stone is composed of various minerals and has in it many small particles of iron.

It is an extremely rare occurrence for anyone to see a meteorite actually fall to earth, only fifteen such instances being recorded in the British isles.

Kindly Act Betrayed Burglar.

His fingerprints on a glass in which he had gallantly offered a maid servant a drink of water proved the undoing of a burglar who tried to rob the home of a magistrate in Pontypool, Wales. Awakening her with his flashlight, the burglar threatened to strike the girl if she made any noise, but when she said she felt faint he handed her a glass of water, asking where the money and jewels were kept. When told there was neither in the house, the intruder disappeared. But the police by means of the fingerprints on the glass were able to trace the burglar, finding him to be a man in a Welsh colliery and an old offender. In another instance recently burglars left a note in a house in England they had just robbed, commending the excellent liquors they had found in the cellar.

Couldn't "Get" the Plot.

An English visitor was taken by an American friend to see one of our minstrel shows. It was the first he had ever attended. He sat through it with a slightly puzzled expression. After the performance they adjourned to a restaurant and the American ventured to ask what he thought of the show. "Did you like it, old fellow?" The Englishman came to time bravely.

LOCAL AIREDALE FANCIERS HAVE SUCCESSFUL DAY

Master Bowline, an Airedale Terrier owned by Alfred G. Franz of Worcester, Mass., was awarded three trophies, including the President's trophy for the best exhibit at the annual show of the Airedale Terrier Club of New England which was held this week on the grounds at 83 Greenwood street, Newton Centre.

The show is for both sexes of Airedales, all American bred, ranging in age from three to eighteen months. Master Bowline won his class—also the Senior Breeder's trophy.

Master Bowline has for some time been in charge of Emmett Warburton—owner of the A. A. Kennels in Newton Centre. Under his management this dog has made rapid progress in the show ring. This splendid young animal was awarded the prize for best Airedale at Newport which is one of the most important summer shows.

This performance was repeated at the Bridgewater and Brockton shows. The Junior Breeder's Trophy was awarded to another local puppy—one bred and owned by George S. West whose Gamecock Kennels are located at 166 Greenwood street, Newton Centre. Mr. West's puppy was shown by Miss Dorothy West and the little lady won much applause for the capable handling of her exhibit. Master West showed a puppy in this class which was awarded fourth prize.

Mr. James W. Spring of Oak Hill officiated as judge—he is, by virtue of long association with the breed, well able to handle such a large entry of puppies as was shown in the various stages of development.

THE NEWTON-MALDEN GAME

The Newton-Malden game was an interesting one to watch, but it brought to light some features that were deplorable. The first of these was that Malden, both players and spectators, had the idea "Win at any cost." As a result of this state of affairs, the necks of Newton backs carrying the ball were wrenched at every opportunity, players meeting on the ground were promptly walked upon, and Walter MacQuiston, who was known to have a weak ankle had his foot twisted and wrenched repeatedly.

Then the officials were not constantly alert. Clipping from behind was allowed to pass by unpenalized as was kneeling. There were several strong Malden fans in the Newton stands who were slightly under the influence of liquor. They made themselves objectionable to the cheer leaders and the people seated about them. After the game citizens and players coming home to Newton were stoned by over zealous Malden supporters.

Such a state of affairs is a detriment to the fine spirit of the Suburban League. It should be remembered that nowadays, as well as in the past, it is considered gentlemanly and sportsmanlike to take the fortunes of football as they come.

BOY SCOUTS

spoke Tuesday evening to the Scouts of Troop 1, Newtonville on the subject of the "Ohio" trail. The Scouts of this troop are most interested in target shooting and Captain Nash's talk was just what was needed. Several other troops are anxious to have Captain Nash as soon as arrangements can be made. Troop 1 has had four hikes to the "Ohio" so far this fall and have made some addition to their camp.

Troops 2 and 9 of Auburndale did a good turn Saturday by clearing out some of the brush in the "Ohio" trail. This will be appreciated by others visiting the camp.

Walter Shanley of Troop 11 conducted a hike to Troop 11's camp last Saturday, coming to Needham for church Sunday morning and returning for the camp for dinner. Kingsley Church of this group, who recently moved to Delaware, Ohio, reports that a troop has been formed in the church he attends and that he has been appointed Senior Patrol Leader. His first class tests were passed just before leaving Newton.

Trust Company resources of Massachusetts on June 30th, last, aggregated $727,628,888, according to "Trust Companies of the United States" for 1923, just issued by the United States Mortgage & Trust Company, of New York.

The total figures for New England were $1,420,424,817, a gain of $24,016,722 over last year. The total figures for the country were $14,441,460,650 as compared with $12,739,620,733 in 1922, an increase of $1,701,839,917.

Commenting on the excellent showing of Trust Companies as above set forth, John W. Platten, President of the United States Mortgage & Trust Company, says:

"These figures speak for themselves. They also testify in no uncertain manner to the growing popularity and added appreciation of the helpful service being rendered by the Trust Companies to their respective communities throughout the United States. Such concrete evidence of confidence can only lead to an ever widening and deepening influence on the part of these institutions."

EDITORIAL

One phase of the agitation by the police officers has received but little attention thus far and should be given the most careful consideration by the city government. We are informed that the civil service list of eligibles for these positions is exhausted and there are no applications on file. This will inevitably lead to applications from an inferior grade of men, physically and mentally and whose appointment would give us a much inferior police force in the future. The one way to insure a competent police force in the future is to make the office attractive in salary and working conditions.

With the agitation now in progress in this city, largely among the women voters, for signatures for an initiative petition in regard to classification of prisoners, it is interesting to note that other interests are at work on similar initiative petitions of professional Sunday baseball (which of course will be heartily approved by the ladies) and for legislation prohibiting the use of one-man cars. The mere enumeration of the objects of initiative petition ought to be sufficient to make every thinking citizen realize that all such matters ought to be left to the discretion of the Legislature itself.

We have found a considerable sentiment among persons who voted for Mayor Childs two years ago, that he should consider that election a personal vindication and that he should now give way to some one else. In other words, there is a growing feeling that ten years of continuous service as chief executive is enough for any one man and that the best interests of the city demand a change. We have not yet reached the point where the office of mayor should be considered a life job for any one.

The bad feeling now engendered between Malden and Newton High Schools over football is a repetition of what used to take place between Newton and Waltham and the only way to prevent such regrettable incidents is to stop playing the game until the feeling dies out.

It is interesting news to learn that the Middlesex & Boston Railway Co. contemplate the acquisition of motor vehicles to augment its trolley lines. A hearing will be given on this matter on Tuesday, November 13, at the State House.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

The very recent action of President Coolidge in designating the American Red Cross as the medium through which the American people should express with gifts of money and supplies the nation's deep sympathy for afflicted Japan, may be regarded as characteristic of the trust reposed in the Red Cross by the whole country.

To discharge effectively its responsibilities the Red Cross depends wholly upon the sustained interest of the chapters and the individual membership.

To maintain the strength of the organization and to increase the scope of its mission is the responsibility of all, no matter how humble their service in the Red Cross.

Every citizen having the welfare of his fellow-man at heart should be enrolled as a member. Every Red Cross worker will be standing upon firm ground when he or she tells a citizen that there is no greater privilege, no higher honor than serving humanity under the banner of the Red Cross.

President Coolidge—the president of your Red Cross—has said: 'The Red Cross is the first line of defense for humanity. It is intelligent; it is economical; it is a power for peace. It promotes the cause of civilization. Every man who loves his fellow-man will support it.'

The inspiration to service was never more compelling than it is today. No one can foretell when and how suddenly the next stupendous calamity will befall a people and when, as suddenly and without warning, the American Red Cross shall be called into action to ease the wounds of the injured and dying, feed the hungry, and by practical sympathy lessen the blow of distress.

Do not fail to renew your membership. Memberships taken out in Boston do not count in Newton.

LODGES

America and Newton Lodges, Knights of Pythias, will celebrate their Twenty-ninth Anniversary by a supper and theatre party on Saturday evening, November 3, 1923.

The supper will be held at Cottrell's and following the supper the party will attend Keith's Theatre. Grand Chancellor and Mrs. Harry G. Beyer and the Deputy of each Lodge have been invited as guests of the evening.

Odd Fellows Building Association opened their Bazaar in Odd Fellows' Hall Thursday morning. The many booths were well patronized as the hall was crowded to the limit until late in the evening.

The donation from the merchants of Newton and Boston and many wholesale dealers and manufacturers and the large donations of fancy work, canned goods, candy, fruit and vegetables gives a large assortment for the patrons of the fair to select from. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

Supper was served at 6.30 and was well patronized. The Bazaar will continue until Saturday until 12 P. M. Supper each night at 6.30.

Funeral services were held this morning at her late home, 141 Derby street, West Newton, followed by a solemn high mass of requiem at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton.

On Dec. 10 Mr. Frederick Fishback of Washington, D. C., will give an illustrated lecture on "Historic Washington" in the Parish house of the Unitarian Church, West Newton.

matters should be considered in the light of their relative importance and while it might be desirable for the city to take this land was certainly not so important as schools, water and sewer.

Mr. Herbert E. Smith said the cost of this would only add 9 or 10 cents to the tax rate and believed the citizens would gladly pay that amount for this great improvement.

Alderman T. W. White believed that the tax payers would not be so enthusiastic over this matter when they got their tax bills and he personally could conceive of nothing more useless for the city to put its money into. The best fiscal policy for the city was to pay as you go and called attention to the fact that our drainage system was going to ruin, the water supply was in grave danger, the school system came up all increases in taxes.

The Chamber then authorized the president to appoint a committee to consider this matter.

The third, and to many of those present the most important matter of the evening, the proposed traffic ordinance was not reached until quite late. Mr. Henry D. Floyd, chairman of the Chamber committee presented the proposed draft of the ordinance and suggested that it be discussed section by section. He read the first section regulating parking at Newton Corner, where a 20 minute limit was suggested. This was opposed by Mr. John T. Burns who said he represented the merchants of that section. He said it would be impossible to do business with such a limit and trade would be diverted to Watertown and Waltham.

Alderman Heathcote thought we were going crazy over new laws and regulations and believed we didn't have enough police to enforce our present laws.

Mr. G. Duthie Strachan opposed the ordinance as unnecessary and the meeting was adjourned after the matter had been tabled until the next meeting.

BOY SHOT BY ACCIDENT

Carl A. Pescosolido, aged 13, of 10 Beech street, Newton, who was shot Sunday afternoon while playing on the banks of the Charles River on the Newton side, by a boy who was on the Watertown side, is in serious condition in the Newton Hospital.

The bullet struck him in the side, but the full extent of his injuries is not known as yet.

A summons was issued for Anthony Salles, 14, of 153 Pleasant street, Watertown, who, it is alleged, fired the shot at the Newton boy. He will be in Newton District Court to-day on the charge of being a delinquent child. The specific charges will not be made until the result of Pescosolido's injury is known.

Pescosolido, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernardo Pescosolido, was shot while playing on the banks of the Charles River, near California street. He was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police car.

The boy was playing with two other boys, Fred Boudreau, 11, of 19 Beach street, and R. Terrio, 11, of 219 Faxon street, Newton, when the shooting occurred. Three boys appeared on the opposite bank of the river in Watertown, and one of them discharged the rifle. The bullet struck young Pescosolido in the side.

Inspector Goode of the Newton police went to Watertown to investigate the matter and as a result of his visit Anthony Salles will appear in Juvenile Court. With Salles, according to the police, were his brother, Angelo, 11, and James Campbell, 11, of 65 Beacon street, Watertown.

DASTARDLY ACTION

Murdock Gordon of 15 Cushing street, Waltham, a greensman employed by the Woodland Golf Club, while riding home from work Wednesday night on his bicycle, was struck from behind by an automobile. He was thrown into the gutter, the bicycle was smashed and the autoist speeded away before his registration number was taken.

Dennis Buckley of 1318 Beacon street, Brookline, a taxi driver, picked Gordon up with the assistance of another man and they took him to the hospital, where it was found he had sustained injuries to his back, hips and legs. His condition was not very serious and he was later taken home.

The accident occurred on Commonwealth avenue, near Washington street, and both the man on the wheel and in the auto were going in the direction of Weston. The Weston police were notified to be on the lookout for a car with damaged fenders or headlights, and for the rest of the night all cars going through Weston Center were stopped and examined by Weston officers.

Y. W. C. A.

The first of the bi-monthly dances given by the Y. W. C. A. was held last Saturday evening, and was a very delightful party. There were thirty-five couples present, and all are looking forward to the next dance to be given on November 10th.

Aside from the program previously printed in the Graphic, there is to be a children's play hour for girls under twelve years on Thursday, at 3.00 o'clock preceding the gym class for children at 4.00.

Registrations are now being received for a ukelele class to be held on Monday evenings at 8.30. An excellent teacher has been obtained and ukeleles can be obtained through him at greatly reduced rates.

Names are also being taken for the Monday evening millinery class. As the number in this class must necessarily be limited, it is suggested that women who are desirous of joining, communicate with the Y. W. C. A. office as soon as possible.

W. C. T. U.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor

Federation Topics for November include a new feature, that of the beginning of a series of greetings from sister State federations, the first being from Mrs. William B. Fellows, President of New Hampshire.

"Nothing makes us feel more akin," she says, "than to have the same impulses and ideals of work and service—service in the home, the community, and the state. We belong to a big two-million-membered family and one of the keenest joys of our club affiliation is the acquaintance and friendship of the finest women in our land working for a common purpose—the betterment of the world."

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole in her monthly letter appeals to the club women to renew their faith from the example of the Pilgrims whose faith "made possible the history you and I read."

"The world needs a renewal of the faith of its youth today, and I want our club women to help the world to find it. The suspicions bred in the war still linger, the promises made by irresponsible people are broken, and the team work of a club, community and nation is destroyed because certain people failed to keep faith."

"To help restore the faith of the world we must first keep faith with ourselves. We know what we want ourselves to be; the standard is always high when we are honest with ourselves, and let us have faith to strive toward that high standard. We know what we want our clubs to be—strong links in each community, the places where we talk and act, practicing what we preach. We know what we want our nation to be—leader of the world, a bulwark of law and order. Faith alone will not make her what we desire, but faith with works will do much. Times have changed, since the Pilgrim days of long ago, but faith has not changed. She still shines in the sky. Sometimes heavy clouds hide her light, but the light is there. We fortunate women of America, counting our blessings as no other people may, shall we not see that the clouds are scattered, so that the clear rays of the star of faith may once more shine over our world?"

State Federation

Tickets, at 80 cents each, for the luncheon on the day of the Autumn meeting of the State Federation must be purchased before November 10th by sending stamped addressed return envelope and check to Mrs. Charles Selman, 112 Abbott road, Wellesley Hills. The meeting will be held on November 19 in the Auditorium of the Babson Institutes. Automobiles will meet both train and trolley at the railroad station until 10:30 A. M.

The chief item of business will be action on the proposed amendment to the by-laws increasing the dues from 7 cents to 10 cents per capita. A protest was made at the Presidents' Conference against violation of the law in games of chance. This was referred to the Autumn meeting and action will be taken. Further details regarding the program will be given next week.

Local Happenings

The Boston Trio—Mr. Frederick Tilton, pianist, Mrs. Louis Dalbeck, cellist, and Mr. Frank McDonald, violinist, presented a musical program of a very high order at the last meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club. Their numbers included selections from Samson et Dalila by Saint-Saens, and the Dumky Trio by Dvorak. Mr. Tiltonson gave as solos, Spinning Song by Mendelssohn, Spring Song by Mirovitch, and the Prelude in G minor by Rachmaninoff. The soloist was Mrs. Virginia Denny Birgfeld, mezzo soprano, who sang "Homing" by Del Riego, "I love and the world is mine," by Manney and Schubert's best-known and most famous work "The Erlking." Mrs. Birgfeld's voice is of pleasing quality and she interpreted her songs artistically. At the close of the program the officers received informally. Dainty refreshments were served by the Hospitality Committee in charge of Mrs. Clarence S. Angell.

One of the most artistic affairs ever given by the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club was held Monday evening, in Emerson Hall. Time and thought were given to carry out the idea, "An Indoor Garden Party," the decorations being particularly appropriate—all colors of hollyhocks peeping through and growing beside the little white fence, whose gate opened into the background of wisteria, tulips and evergreen trees. Much credit is due Mrs. T. E. Lees, chairman of decoration. The superior program rendered by five members of the Federation of Boston, left nothing to be desired, and the solo dancing by young girls was very pleasing. At intermission, the ushers, club daughters, under the leadership of Miss Eleanor Mills, made a striking appearance in their white gowns and rose colored "hollyhock hats" and aprons as they served the refreshments under the direction of Mrs. Schuyler Smith and Mrs. William Mella.

The Auburndale Review Club met at the Episcopal parish house on October 30th, at 10 o'clock. The morning was in charge of Mrs. Austin Eaton, who read the Egyptian play, "Marda," and Mrs. Henry R. Turner, who had a paper on the eleventh and twelfth Dynasties in Egyptian history. Stereoscopic pictures of the Nile valley, Thebes and Cairo were shown.

The next meeting of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club will be of interest to the women of the town as it will be addressed by Mrs. Elizabeth Stone MacDonald of the Priscilla Proving Plant and also by Miss Marjorie Stoddard of the Exchange Trust Co.

HOW NEWTON IS GOVERNED

Some Interesting Facts About the Various Departments of the City by J. C. Brimblecom

Health Department

One of the least understood and most abused departments of the city is that in charge of the board of health. It is blamed for all the ills of municipal administration and is never praised. Its work is based on the self evident truth that the well being of the whole must be considered as paramount to that of the individual and while it may be censured by the latter, it certainly deserves the kind thoughts of the community at large.

The modern tendency of concentrating the population in our cities has emphasized by severe and costly lessons, the extreme importance of sanitary regulations. The family of the rich in fine mansions, grossly deceive themselves if they imagine they are above and beyond the general welfare of the whole community. Matters of health and sanitation, like the strength of a chain, are no stronger than its weakest point, and it can be truly said that the health of a town depends upon the sanitary condition of its poorest district.

The board of health of Newton is composed of three citizens appointed, without pay, by the mayor, to serve like most of our other city officials, during good behavior. One of these gentlemen must be a physician. Our city is especially fortunate in the fact that the chairman of the board, Dr. Francis George Curtis, has served in that capacity for nearly 30 years. It is not too much to say that the high standing the Newton board has attained not only in the results of its work locally, but in its reputation in the state and country, is mostly due to the initiative and executive ability of Dr. Curtis.

The other members of the board, John H. Gordon and C. Sidney Egan, are equally devoted to the city's interest, and have a wide acquaintance with its needs.

The executive work of the board is handled by its clerk and agent, Mr. Alfred M. Russell, assisted by a sanitary inspector and a stenographer.

The work of the department is seemingly endless, covering as it does, such subjects as the quarantine, and inspection for all kinds of communicable diseases, the maintenance of a bacteriological department for examination of disease bacilli, medical inspection of school children, the investigation and control of a thousand kinds of nuisances, inspection of provisions, the inspection of dairies, milk farms, and bakeries, the prevention of over-crowding in tenements, the licensing of stables, cattle, live fowl, sheep, goats, and swine, the connection of houses with the sewer, the construction and cleaning of privies and cesspools, and the oversight of burial permits.

What may be considered the first duty of the health department is the protection of the public from the spread of those diseases which are known to be communicable from one person to another. The most important in this city are diphtheria, scarlet fever, tuberculosis and typhoid fever. Measles are also noted, and there is always fear that the dread scourge of the 18th century, small pox, may again show itself.

Notice of these dangerous diseases are sent to the office of the board of health by the attending physician, or parents, under severe penalties for neglect.

As a usual thing, Newton physicians heartily co-operate with the board of health in this and other particulars. As soon as the reports of diphtheria and scarlet fever are received, the agent visits the premises, places a suitable warning placard at all entrances to the house, and imposes such quarantine regulations as will insure the complete isolation of the patient from the public. Hospital treatment is urged in all cases, as most beneficial to the public as well as for the patient, and there is a growing tendency in this city to take advantage of the conveniences attached to our modern contagious wards and the excellent treatment given at the Newton Hospital. Where the case remains at home, the quarantine usually restricts entrance to the sick room to the physician and nurse. School attendance is of course prohibited from children of the family, unless they leave the premises, and even then during a probationary period of suspicion. The public has become fairly well acquainted with the need of quarantine and the regulations are usually faithfully observed. Severe penalties are attached, however, to their violation, as well as to the unauthorized removal of the warning placards.

When notified by the attending physician that the patient has recovered, the premises are visited by the physician to the Board, who takes cultures in cases of diphtheria, and makes an examination conclusive, the placards are removed.

For diphtheria cultures, the board maintains a laboratory, and culture tubes can be found at convenient stations all over the city. When a physician has a suspicious throat disease, he obtains one of these tubes and uses the swab on the throat or nose of the patient. It is then re-enclosed in the tube and sent to the laboratory where it is placed in a gas oven for a number of hours. By this time the swab has been developed on the culture media, which is of bacterial composition, and are carefully treated and inspected through a microscope. If found to be diphtheria bacilli, the culture is said to be positive, if other forms are found, the culture is negative and the physician and health office are notified accordingly.

For release from diphtheria, two consecutive cultures from both throat and nose are required, the first taken by the attending physician and the second by the physician to the board, after a lapse of 24 hours.

The quarantine for diphtheria usually lasts about ten days, while that for scarlet fever has a minimum limit of four weeks. One week must also elapse after recovering before school attendance is permitted.

Typhoid fever is traced to its source wherever possible, although as a rule nearly every case is contracted outside of the city.

The typhoid prophylactic furnished by the State Department of Health for protection against typhoid fever, is kept at the office and distributed to physicians upon request.

The board also provides laboratory examinations for detecting this disease, and for the examination of sputum for tuberculosis.

Measles are hard to control, the old fashioned notion that they are inevitable to childhood is so firmly rooted that infection is often invited by foolish parents.

Notices or all cases of diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles mumps, and whooping cough are sent to the school and library authorities as soon as reported.

One of the important duties of the agent in connection with the care of contagious disease, especially where the patient is sent to the hospital, is tracing the legal settlement of the patient or patients that the city may recover from the proper authorities, in case the patient is unable to pay for the case. This work is often complicated, and is always difficult.

Seven physicians, five nurses, and a dentist are employed by the Board for the medical inspection of the school children. Contrary to the commonly accepted ideas, medical inspection of school children has a much wider scope than the mere detection of communicable disease. It includes a general supervision of the physical condition of the children, with the object of detecting and correcting the various defects which prevent the children from obtaining the best results from their schooling. Defects of vision, of hearing, of the teeth and malpositions all are included and when found, it is the duty of the agent to visit the parents and urge them to have the defect corrected, preferably by the family physician, and if this cannot be done by sending the patient to a clinic.

Under the provisions of General Laws, Chap. 94, Sect. 43, every dairy sending milk into Newton must be inspected and passed upon by the Board of Health, before a license is issued. This has greatly increased the work of dairy inspection as many of the farms that supply our milk are situated in other states.

Arrangement are in force with certain private hospitals for the care of patients ill with tuberculosis, who need to be sent to hospitals and are not cases which the state sanatoria will take. For others, a nurse is employed who makes periodic visits and sees that the persons on the lists are taking proper precaution.

The old theory that fifth was the direct cause of contagious diseases has been succeeded by the knowledge that dirty conditions will undermine the health and prepare the way for sickness of all kinds. With this object in view, the health department causes regular inspections to be made of the entire city and more frequent inspections of the worst districts.

This inspection covers the condition of the plumbing, traps, cellars, out-houses, stables, privies and cesspools and notices for remedy of unsuitable conditions are thereupon issued by the agent. If not corrected, the board issues a nuisance order, under which the person responsible for the premises can be heavily fined, if disobeyed. The board also has power to vacate the premises if it sees fit.

The department also regulates the building of privy vaults and cesspools and licenses a party to remove their contents. This work is of small account at present, the extension of the sewer system greatly reducing their number.

Power is also vested in the board to compel connections with the sewer and much good work has been done in that line. On all such orders hearings are granted by the board and the excuses given by real estate owners for delay are varied and often humorous.

All of the above work is in line of prevention and no available statistics are possible as to value. That it is important, however, no intelligent person can doubt, although it cannot be expressed in dollars and cents.

The abolition of wet and spongy lands is vested in the board of health although work costing $2,000 or over must first be sanctioned by the aldermen.

Licensing of stables, both to erect and to occupy, is an annoying duty of the department and many a neighborhood row is stirred at stable hearings. The board also licenses the keeping of live fowl, cattle, and swine and maintains an oversight on the places in which they are kept.

No human body can be buried within or removed from the city without a permit from the health office, and the return of physicians as to cause of death and of the undertaker as to other vital statistics are transmitted monthly to the city clerk for record.

One of the most disagreeable duties of the board is to prevent overcrowding. Suspected premises are visited late at night with the assistance of the police, and many a truthful tale could be related by the inspectors, which would rival Munchausen in its seem- ing improbability. One inspector reported the finding of six men sleeping in a closet, six feet long, six feet wide with but one window and a door, both fortunately open. These conditions are not common, however, but it is the duty of the department to prevent them.

In the main the department works on broad lines, realizing that individual rights must be respected, wherever and whenever possible, but that above all, its first duty is to the whole people. The city treats the board fairly in the way of appropriations, about $26,500 being annually expended, outside of the Hospital cases, the cost of which varies greatly from year to year. The work of the board is not limited to appropriations on certain lines, and if a serious epidemic should visit the city, the board's first duty would be to quell it, regardless of expense.

One peculiar feature of sanitary work is that it is never finished. No sooner is one defence completed, than it is found necessary to extend the picket line against the constantly retreating armies of disease and dirt. New conditions arise, new methods are required and invented, and it is hoped that the growth of sanitary knowledge among the people will soon render the work of the health department less strenuous and of greater benefit to the whole community.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, MAN AND CITIZEN

October 26th, is the anniversary of the birth of a man whom many of his contemporaries unhesitatingly pronounce one of the greatest Americans of the last fifty years; and some of his admirers go so far as to call Theodore Roosevelt the greatest American since Lincoln. But whatever one's opinion on this point, even his most bitter opponents admit the compelling force of his dynamic personality, and the vital interest attached to the varied events of a remarkable career which has left its mark not only on the history of events in our own century but of world affairs.

The latest biography of Roosevelt, by Godfrey R. B. C. Charnwood (ER677-Ch), is by many critics considered the best of a considerable number of good ones. Besides this, the following partial list of books in the Newton Free Library concerning Roosevelt emphasize different aspects of the life and character of this many-sided man.

Theodore Roosevelt, an autobiography (the man as he saw himself) ER677-Ro.

My Brother, Theodore Roosevelt, by Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson ER677-Ra. (the man as his family saw him)

Roosevelt as the poets saw him; tributes from the singers of America and England to Theodore Roosevelt, edited by Chas. Hanson Towne, assisted by Clara Thackeray Hillman, with introduction by Corinne R. Robinson YP-9T66

Roosevelt was essentially a boy's hero as well as a man's man, so it is fitting that some of his biographers should consider him from a boy's standpoint. Hermann Hagedorn's book, "The Boys' Life of Theodore Roosevelt," illustrated by photographs, cartoons, and reproductions of Theodore Roosevelt's own diaries, is a comprehensive book for older boys ER677-Ha. For younger boys, "American Boys' Life of Theodore Roosevelt," by Edward Stratemeyer, is quite readable JER677-S

ON MAKING MISTAKES

We made a mistake in last week's issue of the Sentinel. A good subscriber told us about it. The same day there was a letter in our post office box that didn't belong to us. We called for ninety-eight over the telephone and got 198. We asked for a spool of No. 50 thread and when the train was reported thirty minutes late. We arrived at the depot twenty minutes after train time and the train was gone. We got our milk bill and there was a mistake of ten cents in our favor. We felt sick and the doctor said we were eating too much meat. We hadn't tasted meat for two months. The garage man said the jitney was missing because it needed a new timer. We cleaned a spark plug and it's run fine ever since. Yes, we made a mistake in last week's issue of the paper.—Glen Elder (Kan.) Sentinel.

There are about 33 letters and pieces in each line of type set in the paper and there are 33 times 33 chances of errors in each line. There are 5,412 pieces in a column and 29,289,744 chances to make a mistake besides innumerable chances of having inaccurate statements made. Figure it up yourself. There are 56 columns in the Mirror each week and each column runs the same chances of mistakes. Everyone makes mistakes, that's why rubbers are put on lead pencils.—Ely (Minn.) Miner.

THRU THE EMPIRE STATE

From Niagara to Manhattan with the National Editorial Association

New York State has made a reservation of some 550 acres of land at Saratoga Springs, covering some 122 springs and wells of naturally mineralized and carbonated waters.

In many ways this region resembles a baby "Yellowstone," with water gushing from the wells instead of steam.

The springs are divided into four principal classes—cathartic, digestive, iron and state seal waters and are used for both drinking and bathing purposes.

In the three parks upon the State Reservation, Geyser Park, High Rock Park and Lincoln Park, and in Congress Park, which is the property of the City of Saratoga, much careful thought and large sums of money have been expended. Congress Park must take high rank among highly developed city parks. Its treatment is formal, whereas that of Geyser, the largest of the Reservation parks, is entirely naturalistic. In the development of Geyser Park every effort has been made to retain the wild, sylvan atmosphere that constitutes its chief charm.

Many of the Saratoga waters are available immediately at the springs, most of which are found in the parks, but for the convenience of visitors the most important waters are served in bottles at the Drink Hall, facing Congress Park. Here also Hathorn No. 1 bubbles up in a glass bowl, revealing its full charge of carbon dioxide and a marble drinking fountain flows with Patterson water piped direct from the spring. The Drink Hall is operated by a private corporation.

At three different places upon the State Reservation bath houses are conducted by the Conservation Commission for administering various courses of treatment. They are run in accordance with the highest standards of the medical profession and many of the baths are given only under physicians' prescriptions.

The bath houses are equipped to give all of the well recognized baths and hydrotherapeutic treatments, including Turkish baths and Russian baths, hot air and electric light baths, packs, douches and sprays, as well as rubs, alcohol rubs and massage. Neurovascular training is also available under thoroughly competent supervision.

Saratoga Springs has another famous attraction—the races—held here each August.

The mile and a quarter track is one of the best in the country. The paddocks are built to stable hundreds of horses, and when the races are being run thousands come here and business—especially the hotel business—booms. In August hotel rates take a jump, being advanced about a hundred per cent. But every room in every hotel is taken and the higher rates are cheerfully paid. There are great times in Saratoga in August and the hotel lobbies are jammed and money flows freely. It is golden harvest time. A number of the hotels run only through the three summer months.

The Association held its business session at Saratoga and as its President I had rather a busy time of it and could not give much attention to the beauties of the place.

We had some prominent persons at the convention including Lieutenant Governor George R. Lunn of the state

UNITARIAN CAMPAIGN BY YOUNG PEOPLE

Albert Palmer, 63 Lombard street, Katherine Lincoln, 24 Moreland avenue and Otis Clapp, Jr., presidents of the young people's societies of the Newton, Newton Centre and West Newton Unitarian churches respectively, have been invited by national headquarters of the Unitarian Campaign by and with Young People in Boston, to take charge of the conduct of the campaign in the Newtons.

The Campaign by and with Young People is to be carried on among the 7,000 young men and women throughout the United States and Canada who are affiliated with the Young People's Religious Union. Training young people for church leadership, promoting interest in liberal religion among college students, studying the principles of the Unitarian and other faiths, and interesting young people of the church in practical community service, are some of the purposes as defined by Miss Sara Conlins, executive secretary of the movement.

Each of these 7,000 young people will be asked to write out his own creed or statement of faith at the end of a special study of Unitarian principles to be made during October, November and December, the outline from national campaign headquarters states. Study classes will be conducted by ministers and laymen and an effort will be put forth to invite to these classes every young person in the community who is not definitely connected with any church. As an item of this study, it is suggested that young people visit churches of their own denominations to observe their "emotional atmosphere," their order of service and their theology.

LION'S COMPANY UNPOPULAR

Colored Elevator Men Inclined to Draw the Line at Four-Footed Animal, However Tame.While a circus was in Indianapolis recently R. B. Dean, publicity director for the shows, went to the city hall, accompanied by a dangerous looking mountain lion, to pay a visit to Mayor Shank.As Dean and the lion entered the front doors of the city hall, some one informed Dean that the mayor could be found in his office on the second floor. At the moment both of the elevators were standing at the first floor, their colored operators, waiting for passengers."I guess we will ride up," Dean remarked.Suddenly the door of one of the elevators was closed with a bang and the operator shot the machine upward, though his signal bell had sounded no call. He had heard Dean's remark.Dean and the lion approached the other elevator and entered. The operator tried to appear unconcerned.
As he stopped at the second floor Dean remarked, "Let me off here.""Yes, sir," the operator said, as he hastily opened the door, "I'll let you both off here."And after Dean and the lion had completed their visit in the mayor's office and had started to leave the building, both of the elevators were conspicuous for their absence at the second floor landing. Dean walked downstairs, the lion treading after him.—Indianapolis News.

Finding of Portrait of Stradivarius, Great Violin Maker, Has Stirred Collectors Everywhere.A portrait of Stradivarius has been found. No picture of the great master had ever been identified and his face has remained a mystery for nearly 200 years. The portrait, which the experts who have so far examined it declare genuine, has come into the possession of a Cremona piano maker, who has always had the greatest interest in Stradivarius. He found the portrait in the possession of a certain professor, who had bought it from a Geneva antiquary but who kept its existence secret. The portrait, signed by the painter Gialdini, bears the name of the maestro and the date 1691. Stradivarius is portrayed as a stern Cromwellian type, with flashing dark eyes and flowing hair. He is shown holding one of his famous violins against his breast. The interior evidence of the painting all corresponds to the contemporary descriptions of Stradivarius, none of which have been in harmony with various paintings which have wrongly been thought to represent the great violin maker.

—Before I Die.

To endow "before I die" some sort of green place where little street urchins could play cricket, all accessories provided, was one of the dreams of Herbert Jenkins, London publisher. He began life at fifteen in a bookseller's shop. He and another boy used to sit up half the night devouring books.
That boy was the poet, John Masefield. Walking to save a penny omnibus fare, refusing an invitation to a river picnic because of a sixpenny railroad fare, lunching on a bun—this is the picture of his early twenties, as he many times described it. In 1911, when he was about 36, his "Life of George Borrow" first brought him into public view. He has just died after building up a great publishing business.

—World's Coal Production in 1922.

The world production of coal in 1922 exceeded the output for 1921 by 72,000,000 tons, despite the drop in the United States occasioned by the five months' miners' strike.The geographical survey reported that the world had turned out 1,208,- 000,000 metric tons last year. The production in the United Kingdom rose to the level of the early war years and counterbalanced not only the loss in the United States but that of all other countries.The miners' strike caused the United States to contribute a smaller part of the world's output than at any time in a decade. Turning out more than 40 per cent of the whole for the seven prior years, its percentage slumped to 34.6 per cent in 1922.

—Old-Age Relief in Alaska.

Alaska has an old-age pension system which includes a home for the aged, indigent Alaskans. It disburses monthly pensions of $12.50 to men and $25 to women without cost of administration, and maintains its home with only two salaried officials, a superintendent, who draws $3,000 annually, and a secretary, on a nominal salary of $50 per month. The supervision over pensions and the home is carried out by a non-salaried board of trustees, of which the governor is chairman.

—Sure Thing.

The faculty of Hollywood High is still looking for a certain young man whom they firmly believe may some day be president.It happened in the auditorium, where one of the teachers was lecturing on California reptiles, regarding one of which he remarked, "this snake is said to strike with mathematical precision.""Must be an adder," cried a voice from the back of the hall.—Los Angeles Times.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by Leverett D. G. BentleyWe are glad to write a paragraph on bicycle riding on sidewalks. Our gladness is more than editorial. It is personal and intensive. It comes from the fact that we are still able to to manipulate a typewriting machine
after a thrilling escape from probable injury. That we still remain physically intact is not the fault of a young man on a bicycle who regularly chooses the sidewalks of Newton Corner for a speedway. He is not the only one we have seen enjoying such diversion. Some small boys seem never to have heard that a bicycle belongs between the curbstones and not on the concrete. The youth, whose progress we interrupted by assuming that a sidewalk is for the exclusive use of pedestrians, glared savagely at us as we fell against a tree to avoid a collision. If he hoped to bump us and was disappointed he should remember that it was our mistake. We dislike to be disobliging but because of lack of self-control we still respond to natural impulses. In this instance we admit we were selfish and thought only of ourselves. We jumped because of the spirit of self-preservation which at that time dominated us. We doubt not but what the cyclist would have preferred to see us rolling among the leaves in the gutter. We admit there are so many leaves these days that such a bed would be soft. Again we wish to say that idea also did not enter our minds. Hereafter we shall try to be more considerate. Meanwhile we would like to express our regret that in the march of events the bicycle should have been crowded from the streets by autos and motorcycles. It seems a pity bicycle-riders should not have the sidewalks to themselves. Or at least be allowed more freedom.We wonder how it would be if traffic rules for pedestrians should be established. It has occurred to us that some program such as the following might be advisable: Sunrise to 7 A. M. pedes-trains may use both sidewalks and every third crosswalk. After 7 A. M. pedestrians shall gather at designated points (not less than a quarter-mile apart) and join hands. When no truck or other vehicle is approaching they
the pedestrians, may move from one side of the street to the other, providing not more than fifteen seconds are consumed in the process. Between 12 o'clock noon and 1.30, when chaf-feurs are at dinner or taking their midday rest, pedestrians may walk across streets, providing they wave handkerchiefs or in some other suitable way giving warning of their intentions. From 2 to 4 P. M. baby-carriages, perambulators, etc., may be operated on sidewalks, providing a permit for the operation of the same has been issued by the police department and approved by the Chauffeurs' Union. From 4 to 7 P. M. pedestrians must remain at home unless in case of emergency they find it necessary to travel the sidewalks. Special permission must be obtained, however, for such a privilege and not more than one permit a month may be issued.
From 8 P. M. to midnight, the same rules that obtain in the early morning shall be observed. From midnight until sunrise pedestrians may have full use of the street and sidewalks provided they exercise due care and regard for others.Among the blessings this generation enjoys and which its predecessors were denied is the so-called "warrant" furnished by the Boston Elevated to permit two rides, in opposite directions and within a limited district, for 10 cents. Everybody knows, or has heard, that if you ask for a warrant when you pay your fare you may (and anyway not) get it. You're entitled to it anyway. The warrant is exchanged for a paper slip just as you leave the car.
This applies of course to a Newton passenger headed east for some point this side of Braves Field. The second slip permits the passenger to return any time within 30 days or so. It is a complicated solution of the five-cent fare problem. The complication begins when you try to get a warrant as the crowd is piling on the car in Shawmut. One conductor says, "Go on inside" when you make your request. Another says nothing.
Still another (he is in the minority) produces a slip at the time your request is made. Still most conductors have their eye on the coin-box and you'll get your warrant when they get around to it. The other day a woman who had boarded the car with a woman friend failed to make a request.
She waited until the car had turned from Park Street into Tremont Street.
"May I have a warrant?" she asked.
The conductor slowly produced the warrant. "And may my friend have one?" the respectful passenger continued. "Say, what do you want, you must have a half-a-dozen of them by this time," growled the conductor as he handed over the second warrant.
But he didn't get away with it. The lady, and she was a very gracious lady, said, "Oh, if you feel that way about it we do not care to accept them.
You may keep them." The conductor didn't take them back. He was dumb, if y'know what I mean.We wrote last week of the commendable foresight of those who nearly 30 years ago put through a wise plan whereby Newton should be saved from the terrors of a drought.
Since then we have been permitted to peruse the official record. It was in 1895 that the Newton Water Board voted to become part of the metropolitan water district. Read how keen-minded were those men, now dead but not forgotten, when they voted:
"Whereas if the city held aloof until obliged to enter it might be compelled to pay a large sum for the privilege.
After mature deliberation the Board decide it would be better for Newton to be included in the district and so recommended." Those men were William P. Ellison, president; Edmund T.
Wiswall, George S. Rice, Henry D.
Degan and George D. Davis. And remember this, that Brookline was one of those places which "held aloof" and is now confronted with the positive necessity of joining the metropolitan district at an appalling cost.

SOMERVILLE WINS FROM NEWTON

Football Game at Somerville Last Saturday
Lost by the Close Score of 14 to 13

Newton High has yet to win a Suburban League game, for Somerville at their expense climbed into the win column by a 14 to 13 score on the George Dilboy Field last Saturday. After the showing against Malden the Newton fans expected a clean cut win, but they were sadly disappointed. In the first half the team lacked drive; assignments were carried out, but they were not carried out consistently or with zip. In the second half there was more fight, but this was counteracted by a lack of judgment shown in choosing the plays.

Considine received the kick off on the ten yard line, and in the best piece of individual work that he has done this year, ran it back twenty yards, shaking off a tackle or two, before he was downed. Gilligan called for two end runs and MacQuiston was thrown for a two yard loss on each occasion. Considine got off a short high punt which Adams covered easily, downing Cronin in his tracks. Hogan made three yards off tackle, Littlefield intercepted a forward, Newton was unable to gain. Considine punted, and Somerville had the ball once more. But as on fourth down there was still four yards to go, the ball was punted back to Newton. Aided by a pretty end run by MacQuiston, a sweet forward King to Gilligan, and a slashing line buck by King, the ball advanced up the field. Everything was going beautifully when Mr. Hogan jumped into the air, intercepted a forward, and ran fifty-two yards for a touchdown. Then when the Somerville center made a bad pass thus spoiling the chance for a placement kick, Fraser tossed the ball to Kelson for the extra point.

In the latter part of the period the Newton goal was endangered once again when MacQuiston fumbled in midfield. Somerville completed a forward, Hogan went through tackle like a bullet, and then Oakes intercepted a pass which allowed Newton to punt out of danger.

The Newton score came as a result of the failure of Somerville to punt on fourth down with a yard to go on their own thirty-five yard line. Newton had a chance to even things up. A pass King to Gilligan made seven yards, an attempted drop was blocked, but Parker recovered the ball on Somerville's fifteen yard line. Once more Newton had a chance to score, once more Gilligan was forced to try a drop kick, and once more the kick was blocked. But on the play Somerville was offside, and Newton was given the ball. There was another offside penalty to Somerville. Gilligan took the ball over from the one foot line, and then kicked the goal.

Late in the second period Somerville scored again. With the ball in mid-field Breen tossed the ball fifteen yards to Cronin, who was downed on Newton's fifteen yard line by a flying tackle by Gilligan. Hogan then proceeded to put the ball across; three rushes and the deed was done. Fraser kicked the goal and the score read Somerville 14, Newton 7.

Newton was unable to score again, until the middle of the third period when by a series of short forwards which gained from five to seven yards apiece and then aided by a fifteen yard penalty against Somerville for interference with the receiver of a forward pass, Gilligan went across for a touchdown. On the next play Hagerty blocked Gilligan's drop kick and saved the game for Somerville.

Newton threatened the Somerville goal line for the rest of the game. They worked five or six forwards, one of the MacQuiston to Adams for twenty-two yards. Still they were not able to score, and the game ended with King vainly tossing the ball into the air.

Hogan was without doubt the outstanding star of the game. He played a heads up game and was in every play. Fraser of Somerville did some good work as did Oakes, Dewing, and Littlefield in the Newton line.

Newton seems to be an every other week team. They played well against Everett, fell down horribly against Cambridge Latin, ascended to the heights against Malden and then proceeded to backslide against Somerville last Saturday. By the same token of things, they should beat Medford tomorrow, be defeated by Rindge and then clean up Waltham. After that—Oh well, who cares what happens after that?

The offensive power of the team will be materially strengthened next week with the appearance in the Newton line up of O'Donnell and "Turk" Eady. Eady is a good back in spite of the fact that he only weighs 135 pounds. He gets off like lightning and hits a line hard. It is his fourth year as a back on the Newton team. O'Donnell is a drop kicker of note, he can punt well, and knows how to take care of himself in a broken field. He also is a veteran as he was a member of the squad three years ago.

COUNTY FAIR

On Thursday, November 1st, the Parish House of the First Unitarian Church, West Newton, was the scene of a very successful "Country Fair," given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of that Church.

Autumn leaves, pine branches, fruits and vegetables were used in the decoration of the booths and in the general scheme, under the able direction of Mrs. Robert E. Mandell. The stage was used for a very attractive Food display, in a setting of high sheaves of corn stalks, gorgeous pumpkins heaped high, and other decorative vegetables, while at the side was an old cart with rosy apples, attended by a very real apple woman. At the left of stage was a well with bucket, from which lemonade was served.

The country idea was further carried out in the costumes of those who served—bungalow aprons of soft crepe with cretonne trimmings and umbonnets of cretonne being worn. Sunbonnet babies and overall boys were also in evidence.

Luncheon was served from 12 to 2 and tea from 3.30 to 5 in the Ladies' Parlor. In this room bright colored geraniums in small painted pots were set in the windows and upon the tea tables, on which little covers were used with clever design in stencil. At 6 o'clock and again at 7 o'clock, a delicious and abundant supper was served in the upper room. There the table decorations of fruit as centre piece and of orange colored candles in glass candlesticks.

"Grabs," balloons, ice cream cones and the usual features of a Fair were enjoyed by the children. At intervals during the afternoon and evening in the study, Mrs. George P. Bullard gave a delightful talk on boxes, of which she has a very choice group, collected by her from all parts of the world.

The Fair was held from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M., and a large sum was realized. The Fair was under the general direction of Mrs. William B. Baker as President of the Ladies' Aid Society, and the chairmen of the various committees were:

Decorations, Mrs. Robert E. Mandell; Ready to Wear, Mrs. Grace F. Rice; Children's, Mrs. Frederick K. Leath-erbee; Food and Jellies, Miss Louise Lovett; Arts and Crafts, Mrs. Louis F. Bachrach; Books, Miss Margaret McGill; Aprons, Mrs. A. J. Steadman; Household, Mrs. H. B. Fowle; Dollar, Mrs. F. M. Lowe; Supper, Mrs. F. B.

SWIMMING MEET

All next week the local Y. M. C. A. will turn over its excellent swimming pool to the boys in and around Newton in the sixth grade and up who cannot swim for the purpose of teaching them free of charge how to swim.

The schools have been co-operating by distributing among the non-swimmers letters of information relative to the campaign and as a result a large number of boys will take advantage of this opportunity to learn the art of swimming free.

The boys are to meet at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday morning, Nov. 10, at 9.30 for a physical examination and assignment to classes. This is a rare opportunity to learn to swim and parents who have boys unable to swim and are in the sixth grade or above should be sure to have their boys participate in their campaign.

Jack Manning of the Humane Society of Massachusetts will do the instructing. He has had remarkable success teaching groups over a period of several years. The water will be drained to a low depth and heated to a comfortable temperature. Every precaution to safeguard the boys will be taken. No bathing suits required.

If for any reason your boy did not receive a notice at school and you wish him to take part give him a note with your signature and have him report at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday, 9.30, November 10, for examination and assignment to classes.

LASELL

At the chapel exercises Tuesday morning, Miss Anne Wiggins of New York, Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., spoke to the girls in regard to friendly relations of college women to foreign students.

Thursday afternoon, Dr. Leon H. Vincent will continue his course on literature, his subject being, "Latest Figures—Arnold Bennett, John Galsworthy, and J. C. Snaith."

Stanley High, of Boston, author of "China and the Light of the Sun" and other books, will be the speaker at Sunday afternoon vespers.

Bancroft; Luncheon and Tea Room, Mrs. Arthur Lane; Candy, Mrs. Norman Bingham; Remembrance, Mrs. Charles E. Lauriat, Jr.; Grabs, Miss Mary Sprague; Ice Cream, Mrs. M. H. Ballou; Lemonade, Miss E. Howland; Radio, Mr. F. F. Day.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

The American Red Cross is welding itself into the life of the nation in times of peace as it did in the days of war. Its vigilance and its power to act quickly and efficiently to allay human suffering wherever it occurs depends upon its resources. The equipment of our great army of mercy must never be allowed to rust.

The record during the past year is one of which we may be justly proud. In Greece and in Japan we aided materially in repairing the havoc of crushing disasters. In every section of our own country the work has steadily progressed and broadened.

There is always work, even when there are no disasters, which the Red Cross can do for people at home and abroad—welfare and disease prevention enterprises of vast extent in the aggregate. While it does these things it is also continually prepared to meet emergencies on behalf of the people of the United States with a direct efficiency that has no parallel elsewhere. Probably there is no other avenue in which a dollar can be invested to better humanitarian advantage than in your Red Cross membership.

The American people have come to feel, by virtue of frequent experience, that against the crash of calamity the American Red Cross is ALWAYS READY and ALWAYS prepared.

The vision of future conquests over human suffering should inspire us to make this Roll Call memorable. Do not fail to renew your membership. Memberships taken out in Boston do not count in Newton. Roll Call start Armistice Day, Nov. 11th.

EXHIBIT OF ANTIQUE QUILTS

One of the most interesting exhibits of quilts, old-fashioned furniture and needlework ever seen in Newton was shown on Thursday afternoon at Grace Church Parish House. The platform was artistically arranged so as to resemble an old-fashioned room, and candle light completed the illusion.

More than fifty quilts of all sizes and patterns, and of wondrous needlework were exhibited.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Clara Sexton Crowley, Mrs. D. A. Richardson and Mrs. John N. Lankeneau rendered old fashioned songs and tea was served by Mrs. Frederick H. Loveland and Mrs. I. S. Dillingham, assisted by a group of young ladies in old fashioned gowns, consisting of Mrs. Emma Leonard, Mrs. Betty Buckminster, and the Misses Mildred Davis, Eunice Learned and Betty Sawyer.

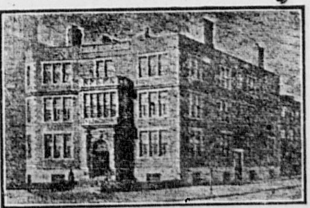

Mrs. Laurens MacLure assisted by the Misses Margaret and Alice Aubin received.

POLICE AMBULANCE DEMOLISHED

Bad Accident Monday at Junction of Commonwealth Avenue and Washington Street

One of the worst automobile accidents of the season took place Monday afternoon at the junction of Commonwealth avenue and Washington street, Auburndale, when the Police ambulance was rammed by a heavy truck and five persons were injured.

The ambulance was on its way to the Newton Hospital, carrying Mrs. Margaret Wilson who had fainted in the Newton Post Office and her friend, Miss Marion Marsh of West Newton. With them were patrolman Jackson B. Sartwell, driver of the ambulance. Patrolman Thomas Whalen and former patrolman Benjamin M. Thomas, Jr., who had just closed his duties as an officer.

The truck was a five ton car operated by Joseph Toscano of Border street, West Newton. Just as the ambulance was crossing the south roadway on Commonwealth avenue, the truck turned sharply towards it and although Sartwell turned as far as possible to the right, struck the ambulance near the driver's seat, and with such a severe impact as to practically demolish the car.

Sartwell, its driver, was thrown to the street unhurt. Thomas was thrown through the side of the car to the street, carrying away part of the railing and the curtain and landing on his head. The two women were hurled to the floor of the ambulance. Patrolman Whalen and the truck's driver escaped injury.

Patrolman William Dowling, who was following the ambulance in a police ambulance, taking George Tight a Boston contractor, to the hospital, took the injured into his machine. All but Thomas were able to leave the hospital.

The accident was the second in which the ambulance has figured this year.

At the Hospital it was found that Mrs. Wilson was somewhat cut, Miss Marsh and Officer Whalen bruised, Sartwell had a bad bruise on his leg, and Thomas was seriously injured, 28 stitches being taken in his head.

DEATH OF MRS. HOVEY.

Mrs. Augusta Maria Hovey, widow of the late Rev. Dr. Alvah Hovey, a former president of the Newton Theological Seminary, died on Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Helen Parsley at Live Oak, Florida, where Mrs. Hovey had gone to spend the winter. She was 92 years of age.

Mrs. Hovey was the founder of the Women's American Baptist Foreign Mission Society and a trustee of Boston Baptist Hospital.

She is survived by two sons, Dr. George Hovey of New York and Fred H. Hovey, formerly National tennis champion, of Orange, N. J., and one daughter, Mrs. Parsley.

The funeral will take place today at 2 P. M. in the First Baptist Church, Prof. J. E. English of Newton Theological Institution will officiate.

75TH ANNIVERSARY

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the First Unitarian Society in Newton will be observed on Saturday and Sunday of next week, Nov. 17 and 18. On Saturday at 6.30 there will be a supper in the parish house at which Hon. George H. Ellis will preside. The addresses will be made by Hon. John W. Weeks, Secretary of War, Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, D.D., president of the American Unitarian Association, and Chas. H. Strong, president of the Unitarian Laymen's League.

On Sunday morning there will be a special anniversary service at which the minister, Rev. Paul Phalen, will preach, and the recently rearranged chancel will be dedicated. That same evening there will be a community service in the church at 7.30, at which Professor W. W. Fenn, D. D., of Harvard Divinity School, will give the address.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by DOROTHY DRAKE

NEWTON CENTRE SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Under the auspices of the High School Committee of the Newton Centre School Association, a meeting was held on Wednesday, November 7, in the Mason School Hall, for the purpose of discussing overcrowding in the High School. The audience of nearly a hundred people had the very best conditions in our High School and the difficulties in overcoming them clearly presented in several very interesting and enlightening addresses and discussions. Mrs. Winslow, president of the Association presided and introduced Mr. Bacon, principal of the High School as the first speaker.

Mr. Bacon told of the increase in attendance since 1890. Since that year the number has increased five times and doubled since 1910. Newton has more children per thousand attending High School than any other N. E. city.
While the school seats under the ideal modern conditions only 725 pupils there is an attendance of 1191. Eighty pupils have to be seated in the occupied Building and go back and forth to classes regardless of the weather.
Many have to study in rooms where recitations are being held, making conditions for both study and discipline far from good. Seven teachers have no rooms and go about to classes
in different parts of the building.
Much needed classes cannot be organized because there is no room for recitations. In spite of these conditions Newton pupils have stood well
in their college entrance examinations.
Out of 175 graduates in the last class 165 are at present in higher institutions. As an immediate help Mr.
Bacon suggested two solutions, portable school houses at the High School or the two "platoon system." The latter would mean one division attending school from 8 to 1 and the other from 1 to 5:30, a system which, in a city the size of Newton would be most undesirable.

Mrs. Grace S. Kuntz, Supervisor of Physical Training for Girls, spoke of the very inadequate gymnasium facilities. The present building is 30 years old and was built as a drill hall.
There is no running water, no dressing rooms or toilets. A state law requires that all pupils have physical training, but because of lack of space only one half that number are able to take it. She also spoke of the undeveloped condition of the greater part of Claffin field and the need of a proper lunch room, emergency room and a place for corrective gymnastics.

Mr. George Pratt, of the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen, presented the financial side very clearly. He said that the Board realizes the seriousness of the situation.
At present, 36 per cent of the budget goes for the School Department. The desire of the Board is to keep the tax rate of Newton below $28 per $1000.

At present, a conference is going on between a special committee of the Board and the School Committee, with a view to adjustment and to formulate a building program. He offered several ideas for relief and hoped for a speedy solution of the matter.

Mr. Wheeler, Superintendent of Schools and Mr. Kent, Chairman of the School Committee, answered several questions from the floor. Mr.
Angier of Waban was also present but did not speak.

Before the meeting adjourned, it was voted that the High School Committee of the Association be instructed to petition the School Committee to provide adequate portable buildings at the High School to house the class entering in the fall of 1924.

STEARNS SCHOOL CENTRE

The Baby Clinic is held every Wednesday afternoon at the Stearns School and is growing every week. Last week was the record week with thirty-one babies.

One of the new activities at the Centre this fall is a Boys' Club for boys between ages of 13 and 17. The leader is a college graduate from Kansas and is a student at the School of Arts and Sciences at Harvard.

The Brownies are now meeting each Monday at the School and the Wise Brown Owl is assisted by girls from the High School and Boston University, who act as sixers.

Next Monday, November 12, from 7 to 9 and Wednesday, November 14, from 2 to 5, and 7 to 9, there is to be a Bargain Sale by the Co-operative work rooms, under the auspices of the Stearns School Centre. Mothers from the neighborhood can buy aprons,
house dresses, children's clothes,
sheets and many other useful articles
at a reasonable price.

Stearns School

Three highest per cents for the Stearns District attendance reports ending November 1 are:

Miss Smith (Eliot) Grade I . . . 98.5
Miss Lovely (Eliot) Grade IV . . . 98.5
Miss Lusk (Eliot) Grade II . . . 97.6

The average per cent of attendance for the Eliot School was 98.1, which we consider a very high per cent.

A former boys' club of the school has established a trust fund from which a cash prize is to be given each year. The principal and sixth grade teachers select the boy who has the highest rank in character, scholarship, athletic ability, effort and loyalty.

Miss Stoddard returned to her duties Thursday morning after a long absence.

Burr School

Miss Cornwell's eighth grade had the highest per cent of attendance in the Burr School the last four weeks.
Their per cent was 98.5. Miss Marsh's seventh grade stood next with 98.3 per cent.

The eighth grades and the kindergarten each had only one tardy mark
the last four weeks.

Grade V of the Burr has formed an
"ing" of class—being declared on all who do not pronounce plainly all words ending in "ing."

Members of grades seven and eight attended the Symphony Concert in Boston Wednesday afternoon, October 31st. They showed their appreciation of this wonderful opportunity to hear good music.

The Burr first grade children visited the Williams first grade children last Friday afternoon, thus bringing all the first grade children in Auburndale together.

The Burr kindergarten was a busy place on Halloween. The children made their own masks and Jack o' Lanterns and thoroughly entered into the spirit of fun as Halloween Browns-ies.

Williams School

Miss Cotton's sixth grade had the highest per cent of attendance in the Williams School during the last four weeks. It was 98.0 per cent. Mrs.
Fiske's fourth grade came next with 97.4 per cent. Mrs. Fiske's room had only one tardiness and Mrs. Doehler's fifth grade stood next with only two.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

The Health Classes in two divisions meet every Tuesday afternoon. Miss Melick, assisted by Mrs. Lacroix, has reorganized the membership, and there are about 40 pupils enrolled in both classes.

Four Americanization classes are meeting in the upper-grade class rooms every Tuesday and Thursday evening, under the direction of Miss Roy.

The daily care of the teeth is being emphasized through the continued use of the Health flags in all the rooms.
The classes of Miss Smith and Miss Forgan have the largest totals with 37 days for each class.

The school has two live Book Clubs,
one in grade eight, the other in grade seven. In the former class, Norman Payne is the president, in the latter Earl Atkinson. Interesting meetings are held each week.

The school deposits in the bank
from September 10 to November 1, have increased from $130.69, for last year to $198.29, for the present year.

The attendance of the graduating class is worthy of special mention.
For the four weeks ending November 2, the class stood at 99 and with no marks for tardiness. Miss Kelly's class was second with 98.2 per cent.

The primary grades are preparing a health play to be given in the Hall, during Education Week.

The school was favored with a visit and an inspection of the health work last week, by Dr. Mackie of Belgium.

Mason School

The boys and girls in the fifth grade enjoyed a most interesting and instructive talk on leather, given by Mr.
Horace Williams last Friday. Mr. Williams has presented a valuable leather collection to our school and adds to it each year.

The record of attendance in the Mason District for the second four weeks of school, is worth mentioning.
The Oak Hill School had 98%; the Bowen, the Mason and Rice Schools (with the exception of the Kindergartens) stood over 90%.

The highest per cent in the Mason was 98.3% in Miss Cox's room; in the Bowen, was 96.3% in Mrs. Colton's room; and in the Rice, 94.9% in Miss Bartlett's room.

The banner for the largest attendance of parents at the last meeting of the Newton Centre School Association went to Miss Lawrence's pupils, room 7.

CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK, NOV-EMBER 11 TO 17

Newton Free Library Will Display
 Children's Books

What books shall we give to the children? From all the beautiful, colorful and fascinating ones that there are, just what shall we put on the child's own bookshelf? During Children's Book Week, November 11 to 17, libraries, bookstores, and publishers throughout the country will unite in helping to answer this important question. In all the libraries in Newton, there will be special exhibits of the best books for children to own. The old favorite, the very new books, the lavishly illustrated and the plainly printed, the very expensive and the reasonably priced books—all these will be on display. The main library in Newton will hold its exhibit in the wide hallway between the reading and reference rooms, where all who pass through the library may easily see the books. For those who are especially interested there will be additional displays in the Children's Room downstairs. Each branch library will also have an exhibit. The library is in this way offering an exceptional opportunity to adults to see and handle books without feeling obliged to buy them as in a bookstore. Be sure to see the exhibit in your own part of the city and the one in Newton, too, if you can.

Picture Books
 What are some of these books that the library considers worth buying for children? First, for the tiny children there are books that are filled with pictures—pictures that famous illustrators have made especially for the little ones. Kate Greenaway's quaint children dance across the pages of "Under the Window" and "Mother Goose." Randolph Caldecott's "Three Jovial Huntsmen" ride up to "The Queen of Hearts" in one of his "Picture Books." Leslie Brooks shows us all the amusing animals that live in "Johnny Crow's Garden." These three English illustrators have made picture books that are nearly perfect for small children, so has the French illustrator Maurice Boutet de Monvel in his "Jean of Arc." Of the Americans, Palmer Cox with his little Brownies and E. Boyd Smith with his realistic pictures of farm and animal life have each become dear to the children. If possible, buy some of these picture books for the tiniest children, for they most certainly will love them. There are a few stories which are suitable for these same children. Two favorites, "The Cock, the Mouse, and the Little Red Hen," by Felicie Lefevre, and Beatrix Potter's "Peter Rabbit" story are about animals. Newer books are "Charlie and his kitten Topsy" by Helen Hill and Violet Maxwell, and the book called "About Harriet" by Clara W. Hunt. These two stories of real children interest small readers as much as animals do.

Children's Classics
 There are some classics for children which we wish that every child could own. These the library is exhibiting under the caption "The old books that are always new." They are published in numerous editions, and the important thing is to buy the best possible ones. This is not always the most expensive, for the worth of the edition depends in the case of traditional folk tales or rewritten classics upon the rendering of the story and not upon the illustrations or the physical make-up of the book. On the other hand, where the text is identical in different editions, and one illustrator has caught the spirit of the story much more clearly than another, care should be taken to buy the edition with the best illustrations. Take for example "Uncle Remus" by Joel Chandler Harris. It has been illustrated by several men, but not one has made mischievous Brer Rabbit look quite so human and amusing as has A. B. Frost. It is really a pity to give a child any but the edition illustrated by him. Another similar case is "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland" by Lewis Carroll. This should always be bought in the edition that contains Sir John Tenniel's original illustrations, for no one else has pictured Alice so perfectly. Other illustrations which are the best for their stories are Walter Crane's pictures for Grimm's "Household Tales," for "Don Quixote," and for Hawthorne's "Wonder Book." Louis Rhead's detailed picturing of "The Swiss Family Robinson," N. C. Wyeth's gorgeous coloring of the "Boys' King Arthur," Maxfield Parrish's pictures for "Arabian Nights," and Jessie Wilcox Smith's illustrations of "Little Women." As for the best rendering of certain traditional tales and the retelling of long classics, we may cite a few here. Sidney Lanier's edition of Malory's "Boys' King Arthur" is the best telling of this great cycle of stories. It is the one already mentioned as being illustrated by N. C. Wyeth. The Robin Hood ballads are rewritten by Howard Pyle in the best form for children. His "Merry Adventures of Robin Hood," with his own illustrations is loved by every boy who owns it. The retelling of "Don Quixote" by Judge Parry, and of Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" by F. J. H. Darton are the best rendering for children of these two classics. "Arabian Nights" is very well edited by Kate Douglas Wiggin and has the illustrations by Maxfield Parrish already mentioned. Of Bible stories, the best collection is Frances J. Olcott's "Bible Stories to Read and Tell." These few books mentioned by no means exhaust the number of those that might well be on every child's bookshelf. The library, however, has lists for distribution which cite many more of these children's classics in the best editions.

Helpful Lists
 The best of these lists is called "Gifts for Children's Bookshelves." A longer list "The Bookshelf for boys and girls" and the 1923-1924 Supplement to it will also be given away at the different libraries in Newton during Children's Book Week. Two other lists which it would be well for a family to own are "Graded List of Books for Children," prepared by the National Education Association, and Caroline Hewins' list called "Books for boys and girls." Both these may be ordered through your bookseller. If you do not want to own them, however, you will always be able to consult them in the library with many other helpful lists.

Books of 1923
 Every year hundreds of books are published for children; many of them are fit only for the waste basket. The books of 1923 are no exception to this rule. There are a few, however, that are well worth buying, and many of these will be found in the library exhibit. Hugh Lofting has added "Doctor Dolittle's Post Office" to his books about this eccentric animal doctor. Lucy Fitch Perkins delights the children with "The Filippino Twins." "The Pied Piper in Pudding Lane" continues Sarah Addington's successful "The Boy who Lived in Pudding Lane"; while Henry Beston has written fairy tales in "The Starling Wonder Book" which are almost equal to those in his "Firelight Fairy Book." For older boys, there are Heyliger's "Spirit of the Leader," Dudley's "King's Powder," "Jibby Jones," by E. P. Butler and "Danger Trail" by Schultz. The older girls will enjoy these and "Garth, able seaman" by E. B. Price, and "The Continental Dollar" by Knipe, and "Vinzi" by Spyrer.

Throughout Children's Book Week, in fact at all times, the library is ready to answer questions about the best books for children, the different editions available, and their prices, for one of the ambitions of the Newton Free Library is to help the children of Newton into the possession of more books of their own.

BOOK NOTICES
 Peter Rabbit captured our interest some time ago as the medium by which Mr. Burgess makes familiar to children the wonders of the animal and bird kingdoms. Now Peter has been studying the wild flowers and our wonder grows that one little wobbly head can carry all he knows about them. Of course he is assisted by the Merry Little Breezes and Tommy the Chickadees and others of his bird and animal friends, but Peter is an apt pupil and his enthusiasm, once he is started on the hunt for flowers, knows no bounds. At a hint from his friends, off he goes lipperty-lipperty up to the swampy places in the Green Forest for the earliest sign of spring, the skunk cabbage, showing its green-and-brown hood, or the snowdrops to the hills for the hepaticas, the top of the hill, in the crevices of the rocks, for the saxifrage, for the claytonia or spring beauty in the green meadows; each and every flower in its native haunt he searches and studies. And not only that, he watches the Little Bee busily gathering nectar from one flower, getting his book dusted with pollen in the process, which deposits itself on the next blossom he visits, thus helping to make seeds for another spring.

All this Peter learns and much more. He notices the formation of flower and leaf and root, and how Mother Nature has fitted each flower to its special habitat so that it shall be best protected, he discovers what flowers bloom only for the day and the night, and he knows of his own home that if pulled up by the roots they will disappear utterly. This interesting knowledge of Peter's his scribe gathers into a beautiful book with splendid big print, and he puts into it also one hundred and three illustrations, most of them colored so perfectly that they look like the flowers themselves. Then he adds an appendix for older people containing facts "helpful in identifying and classifying the flowers described." He dedicates the book "to the awakening in children of love for our wild flowers and the desire to preserve them in their native habitats for the beauty and joy they give to the world." Its timeliness, and the love and enthusiasm with which Peter infuses it should insure the attainment of its object.

HOW NEWTON IS GOVERNED

Some Interesting Facts About the Various Departments of the City by J. C. Brimblecom

Library Department

One of the most highly prized departments of our city life is the Newton Free Library. Our library is considerably more than a depository for books, though hardly one person in ten is fully aware of all its manifold advantages. It reaches the lover of art with its portfolios of engravings; the musician with its music; the traveler with views of English and Italian scenery, the student with its fine books of reference, as well as the general reader. The present library is the outgrowth of a literary association formed at Newton Corner in 1848, and which conceived the free library idea in 1865. The present site was purchased in 1866 and the corner stone of the building was laid by the late Hon. J. Wiley Edwards in 1868. The money for its construction and equipment was raised by popular subscription over $65,000 being received, and it was formally opened on June 17, 1870. The library was incorporated in 1871 and on the inauguration of the city government in 1874 steps were taken to transfer the property to the city. This was consummated in 1876, when the keys were delivered to the city authorities on March 16.

The library is managed by a board of five trustees appointed by the Mayor, which annually organizes by the choice of a president, a treasurer for its Trust Funds, a secretary, and a librarian, and appoints such committees on the library and the building. Assistants and all other employees are also appointed by the trustees. The board holds meetings the second Thursday in each month, except during July, August, and September.

The librarian is the executive officer of the trustees and has the general care of the library books, and assistants at the main library and its nine branches. The yearly cost of maintenance is about $60,000. It is needless to say that such a position requires executive as well as literary ability and Newton has always been fortunate in finding the right person to fill the position. The first librarian was Miss Hannah James, who served for seventeen years, and was followed temporarily by the Rev. Bradford Pierce, whose six months in office ended on Jan. 1st, 1888. Miss Elisabeth P. Thurston was his successor, and brought to the position an experience of seven years in the library as an assistant. During her long term of thirty-five years as librarian, the library made rapid strides in development. She retired from service on Dec. 31, 1915, when the present librarian, Harold T. Dougherty, was appointed.

The library now contains 112,000 books, with a circulation in the homes of over 450,000 volumes, and about 7000 new books are added yearly. Twenty newspapers and over 200 magazines are also taken. New books are selected by the librarian, who regularly visits the various book stores from which new books are sent on approval. From the myriads of books which are published annually, the librarian selects those that seem the best—the best of fiction, of travel, of history, of science and art, of philosophy, and especially the best of children's books.

The library can be roughly classified numerically as follows:
 Fiction, 25,000 volumes; History, Travel and Biography, 27,000 volumes; Social Science, 7,000 volumes; Arts and Science, 18,000 volumes; Literature and Periodicals, 20,000 volumes; Philosophy and Religion, 5,000 volumes; Reference, 9,000 volumes. About sixty-seven per cent of the total circulation is prose fiction.

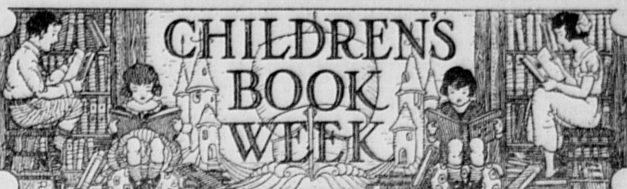

The card catalogue, which lists the entire library's collection by author, title, and subject cards, is at the main library. To this are added temporary cards as books are purchased, and later printed Library of Congress cards that those who desire may have the complete bibliographic record. A bulletin of new books is published at frequent intervals and this lists the books purchased, except Fiction. Frequent lists also appear in the Newton paper, which keep the library's patrons in touch with all the current acquisitions.

Every resident of the City of Newton is entitled to an identification card, upon presentation of which at any of the libraries, he may take as many volumes as he desires, providing one only is of new fiction purchased within a year. It is the aim of the library to supply Newton residents with what they need in books. The book stock of over 112,000 volumes takes care of this fairly well, but many times there are calls for specific books needed for study and investigation which are not in the library. The librarian, however has access to larger libraries, and he may borrow, through an Inter-library Loan plan sanctioned by state law, such material as is needed. Hundreds of books are obtained annually under this plan.

The Newton resident wherever he may be is entitled to the privileges of the library. If on his annual vacation, he takes a number of books with him and is allowed to keep them an extended time (1500 volumes were so lent last summer); if on a business trip, he takes books with him, sending them back to the library by parcel post, other volumes being forwarded to him by mail; if on a trip to Europe, or the Bermudas, South Africa, or Japan, he reads up on these countries before sailing, and perhaps takes an old volume of Baedeker along; if away at college, he supplements the facilities of the college library by an occasional volume from the home library; if at home, he visits the main library or one of its branches regular-

In lieu of branch libraries in the widely scattered districts of Oak Hill and Chestnut Hill, the trustees inaugurated, about four years ago, a house to house delivery service. Residents of these sections may telephone or mail requests to the main library and delivery is made once each week, on Tuesday, Oak Hill, and on Thursday, Chestnut Hill.

The library receives the income of several funds, donated by its friends. The late John S. Farlow gave $5000, the income to be used for the purchase of books for the reference library. The income of the Jewett Art Fund of $10,000 is used to purchase photographs, music and art. The several hundred dollars each year from the Read Fund provide new books of a general character for the School collection, the income of the $1000 of the Alden Square Fund is used for books on manufacturing and mechanical trades. Mr. John C. Chaffin bequeathed $5000, the income to be expended for books of an instructive and elevating character, and Mary Shannon left $5000, the income to be used at the discretion of the Trustees.

In conclusion it should be said frankly that Newton ought to be proud of its library. It stands as a monument to the public spirit of those gentlemen of a past generation, who were far-sighted enough to provide for all time to come for the dissemination of literature to all who desire to avail themselves of its stores of knowledge.

BOOK NOTICE

Sara Ware Bassett of this city adds a fourth volume to her series of stories for boy readers based upon great inventions. The printing press, the steam engine and the telephone have each in turn served her as the basis of stories in this series. Now comes "Walter and the Wireless" (Little, Brown & Co.), which is the story of a live boy whose turn for the radio served him and others in very happy fashion during a summer on the New England coast. The story is alive with action and Miss Bassett again illustrated her happy capacity for entertaining and informing young readers without ever writing down to them. W. F. Stecher of this city contributes several full page illustrations.

EDITORIAL

We understand that there is some doubt as to the position of the editor of the Graphic on the initiative petition now in circulation in this city for a law relative to the classification and segregation of prisoners. We thought we had clearly stated our position on the initiative petition. We are strongly opposed to any initiative petition regardless of the measure it is intended to foist upon the people. It is the wrong way to pass laws and if followed to its legitimate conclusion would supersede our present representative form of government. We do not intend to discuss the merits of the bill which this present petition is supporting, it is enough to say that on high authority at the State house, the bill has many flaws and is badly drawn—a condition which may well be expected when irresponsible and biased persons are allowed to make our laws.

Advocates of the proposed bill should realize that good legislation frequently takes years of agitation before it is passed by the General Court and when it does become law, it has received so much consideration that its final form is usually satisfactory to all concerned. The proper remedy for failure to pass legislation desired by any group of persons is to campaign in the districts of legislators opposed to the scheme until there is a majority of the Legislature for the measure. The initiative petition is destructive to any form of representative government and ought not to be used by any one who has the best interests of the State at heart.

The advent of Children's book week ought to turn the thoughts of parents towards the books which their children are reading. Too much care cannot be exercised in this direction. The editor once noted the son of a Newton clergyman purchasing a copy of a "near" salacious magazine at a local newsstand. What do you know fathers and mothers, of the character of the books and magazines your children are reading?

Once more we urge the voters of Newton to take thought for the personnel of the city government to be elected on December 11th. A weak and inefficient city government will certainly follow any lapse of interest by the average voter before the day nominations close (November 28).

D. A. R.

The first meeting this season of the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., was held at the attractive home of Mrs. J. W. Foster, 1955 Walnut Street, Newton Highlands, on Tuesday, October 30.

The Regent, Mrs. Sanford Thompson presided after the opening exercises, considered and concurred reports from the siders and concise reports from the Holyoke Conference were given by Miss Hurd and Mrs. Bicknell.

The different characters were the feature of the meeting. Mrs. R. C. Cody supervised the production of the different characters were portrayed by Miss Annie B. Head, who read the prologue. Mrs. Myron Cudworth, Mrs. S. E. Emery, Mrs. C. E. Beane, Miss Anna Thompson, Mrs. Sanford Thompson and Mrs. R. C. Cody. The decorations were tastefully arranged to represent an old fashioned garden. Costumes representing the different periods of the pageant were worn.

The soloist of the afternoon was Miss Anna MacKinnon who was accompanied by Mrs. John Glover. The pageant was both entertaining and inspiring. Afterwards Mrs. Cody, who also attended the conference, gave a more extensive report. The regent read statistics of the work being done by the American International College, there were also suggestions of ways and means of raising funds, pledges for the Dormitory Fund were then received amounting to ($237 dollars) two hundred and thirty seven dollars were received, a committee of seven members were appointed to collect the balance of the Chapters quota for the College.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the Hostess assisted by the participants in the pageant. Several new members were present, also many guests, and all felt that the enthusiasm of the first meeting of the chapter gave promise of success throughout the year.

MUNICIPAL POLITICS

Some work has been done in the matter of circulating nomination papers for the coming city election on December 11th. Mayor Childs has papers out for a sixth term.

In ward 1, Alderman Earle will be a candidate for the two-year term and Alderman John C. Madden for the one-year term.

In Ward 2, Alderman Grebenstein is undecided about seeking a second term of two years, and Alderman Daniel O'Connell will seek the one-year term.

In ward 3, there will be contests for both the two and the one year terms. Alderman Fred L. Smith will be opposed by William B. Baker and Alderman Hickey's seat will be sought by Algernon McCarthy and Richard T. Leahy.

In ward 4, Alderman Young retires and Alderman Harry B. Ross will be a candidate for the two-year term and the names of Harold Knowlton, Albert L. Cole, William Noone and Charles B. Floyd are mentioned as other candidates.

In ward 5, Alderman White is undecided as to seeking a re-election and Alderman Parker will stand for the one-year term.

In ward 6, both Aldermen George W. Pratt and Norman F. Pratt will be candidates, the former for the two-year term.

In ward 7, Alderman Norton will retire and Alderman Hollis may do so, although it is possible he may again be a candidate. Friends of former Alderman Henry D. Lloyd are urging him to stand for the vacancy in the present delegation.

For school committee, Judge Joseph N. Palmer and Chairman Everett E. Kent will retire from wards 1 and 7, respectively, and there seems to be a dearth of candidates to succeed them. Mr. M. C. Hutchins of ward 4 will probably be a candidate for reelection.

NEWTON COMMUNITY CLUB

"There has never been any analysis made into the causes of misconduct," said Mrs. Jessie D. Hodder in her address upon "The Criminal Woman and Social Well-Being" before the Newton Community Club, yesterday afternoon. "The problem must be approached in a scientific manner, and the causes analyzed." The bill which is now being pushed means of an initiative petition is a perfectly good and a perfectly worthy one, she said, and will do a great deal of good.

The Woman's Reformatory, of which Mrs. Hodder is superintendent, will soon have completed fifty years of service, and in that time 12,000 women will have passed through its walls. Are any of us to blame for this great number? She asked. Have any of us helped to prevent it? God never made any criminals. It is time that women should begin to burn to ache, to smart, and to get busy. We have never been quite fair to our women criminals, until it comes to a case of murder. In Massachusetts no woman ever electrocuted.

There are few purposeful criminals among women, she said. They are for the most part either feeble minded or epileptic, or psychopathic, or mentally or nervously defective, and should be taken out of prison and treated for their disorders. But all these together with the rounders are treated as criminals. At the present day the Commonwealth is manufacturing criminals. The time has come to remove these mentally and nervously defective who are not responsible for their acts, and send only normal prisoners to penal institutions.

It is not so long since the insane, formerly cared for in the prisons, were taken out and placed in separate institutions under the control of the state, and it is time that these other unfortunates should also be taken out and cared for similarly.

Mrs. Hodder stated that Europe has no faith in adult evil-doers, but in the case of juveniles it has more faith. She told of the system used in Belgium. Every offender is placed where she can be studied for three months, and allowed every possible opportunity to express herself in order to determine the real cause of her wrong doing, and she is then helped to overcome the particular twist. All this is done without placing any stigma of criminality upon her. Some such system Mrs. Hodder would like to see put into operation in this country.

In closing her talk she put an interesting question. May we not be all wrong in our educational system. We send children to school until they are 4 to 16 years of age, and then turn them out into the world whether or not they are mature enough to stand alone. Should we not let maturity rather than age be the deciding point. Were such a system put into practice Mrs. Hodder prophesied that we should even see the disintegration of the reformatory.

Miss Chase, superintendent of the children's work at the Newton Library, described what is being done there both for children themselves and to help parents in selecting books for their children. A trio of club members Mrs. E. L. Foley, Mrs. Arthur S. Plinn and Mrs. Wallace Wales, sang several selections which were greatly enjoyed, as well as were also the violin selections by Mrs. Kenneth Hastings of Newtonville. Mrs. Edwin Smith, chairman of the Music committee, was at the piano.

GIRL SCOUTS

Cookie Day for the Newton Girl Scouts proved to be most successful. Successful in the sense that distinct ways—First—the cookies were delicious and those who were fortunate enough to get a taste of them will welcome another Cookie day sometime.

Second—Many persons who thought that Scouting is all outdoor work have learned that our girls are good cooks as well as good hikers and that the home end of the Girl Scout program is even more important than the outdoor work.

Third—The proceeds of the sale added very materially to the fund being raised to carry on the Girl Scout work.

Seven of the Troops sold cookies on Cookie Day and three hundred and seventeen dollars was realized. Thirty dollars was the least made in any one town and seventy three the most.

Three thousand dollars is the amount which the Newton Council wants to raise and the girls who took part in this cookie sale feel that they have helped to raise this money which is to promote Scouting here in Newton and all over the country as well.

The Junior Division of Troop 3, has elected its non-commissioned officers. They are: Patrol Leaders, Betty Kidder, Elizabeth Walworth, Eleanor Shirmer, Frances Niles and Olive Riley. The Corporals are Ethel deMille, Barbara Randlett, Virginia Randall, Constance Wright and Lucille Norton.

Miss Freeman attended the Directors' Conference which was held at Cedar Hill, Waltham, November 2 to 5. Directors from all over the state were present at this conference.

FATHER DANEHY DEAD

Rev. Fr. Timothy J. Danehy, for over 25 years pastor of the Church of Mary Immaculate of Lourdes in Newton Upper Falls, died Monday morning.

Fr. Danehy was born in Killarney, Ireland, December 8, 1846, and came to this country as a small boy, his parents residing in Roxbury for a long time. He completed his early studies in that section and eventually went to the Seminary at Troy, N. Y., where many priests for the Boston diocese trained in those years.

He was ordained to the priesthood December 22, 1877, and was assigned to Quincy, where he passed a long term of years as one of the assistant priests at St. John's parish. More than 25 years ago, he was assigned by the late Archbishop Williams to the Newton parsonate, where he had remained since.

During his tenure as pastor he accomplished considerable in the parish. He was a disciplinarian at all times, strict to himself and those around him, and at all times a student. He was ever interested in the spiritual welfare of those in his charge and never spared himself in his efforts in behalf of his parishioners.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning with a solemn high mass of requiem at 10.30, which was attended by a throng of mourners that overflowed the church and included His Eminence, Cardinal O'Connell, Mayor Edwin O. Childs of Newton, many of the older priests of the archdiocese of Boston and hundreds of parishioners.

The solemn requiem mass, with the musical accompaniment by the priests' choir, the presence of the Cardinal, accompanied by an escort from Bishop Cheverus Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, and the large number of priests in the congregation were the signs that a priest was being buried, for the service itself was a simple one.

Rev. Lawrence W. Slattery, pastor of the Church of Our Lady, Newton, was the celebrant of the mass and two other Newton pastors, Rev. William J. Dwyer of St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, and Rev. Timothy A. Curran of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Newton Centre, were the deacon and subdeacon, respectively. Rev. Edward Daley of Jamaica Plain was master of ceremonies assisted by Rev. Frank Murphy of the Church of Mary Immaculate of Lourdes, and the acolytes were Rev. James F. Hancy of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Newton Centre, and Rev. David B. Waters of St. Patrick's Church, Roxbury.

Bishop Cheverus Assembly, fourth degree, K. of C., escort to the Cardinal, was composed of the following: Daniel Crowley, Florence Crowley, William Crowley, Michael Turner, William H. Kerrigan, and Fred L. Donahue.

At the end of the mass, the final benediction was pronounced by Cardinal O'Connell. Burial was in Needham Cemetery. The cortege was led by a police escort.

A requiem mass, which was attended by the children of the parish was celebrated at 7.30 by Rev. Denis Donohue of the Church of Mary Immaculate of Lourdes.

EARL EYNEAT HARPER, PastorSPECIAL ARMISTICE SERVICE*Sunday, November 11, 7.30 p.m.

A great service of music, worship, and commemoration. "A. D. 1919," Horatio Parker, and other appropriate musical numbers will be sung.

CLEON HOPKINS, Trumpeter

This service, arranged by the pastor, has been presented to 5000 people outside of Newton.

Music Ritual Processional Dedication
—Admission Free—NORUMBEGA COUNCIL BOY SCOUTS

Scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters were entertained at a dinner at the City Club, Boston, Tuesday evening, by Mr. William Brock Pratt, Commissioner. Other invited guests were, Mr. James C. Irwin, President of the Council; Mr. Jerome M. Carley, Vice-President; Mr. Everett W. Varney, Deputy Commissioner and Mr. L. R. W. Leland of Newtonville.

A very excellent dinner was enjoyed, after which a program of activities was outlined by Commissioner Pratt on the question of the Court of Honor discussed. It was voted to resume the former method of having the Court of Honor at the various troop's meeting places, at such times as a sufficient number of scouts to come before the Court could be ready.

A special meeting of the Executive Committee will probably be held next week to hear the reports of committee and decide several important questions. Special notice will be sent to members as soon as the date can be set.

Troop 4, Newton Highlands had a special memorial meeting Monday evening, in memory of our late President. This is part of a program planned by National Headquarters, Boy Scouts of America, to have one troop in every community carry out such a meeting. The speakers were Dr. Woodrow of the Congregational Church and Mr. Cobleigh of the Troop Committee. Including the scouts there were over fifty present.

Troop 8, of Newton Centre, is reorganizing under the general supervision of Rev. Fr. Haney. A Scoutmaster has been obtained and it is expected that meetings will start soon. A special meeting of Troop 11, of Newton will be held at their usual meeting place, Bigelow School, Friday evening, November 9th. A full meeting is desired as important matters are to be discussed.

Albert Edgar Angier School

The pupils of the Angier School are striving to improve their thrift and attendance records.

For the month of October the most money was deposited by the eighth grade, the amount being $62.86. The seventh grade came second with $34.30. The sixth grade saved $28.71. For the entire school $262.21 was deposited. This is a very good record and shows that the Angier School has some real thrifty pupils.

The attendance record for the entire school reached 95 per cent for October. The eighth grade came first with 98.4 per cent; the third grade, second, with 98 per cent, and the sixth grade, third, with 96.6 per cent. The Kindergarten had no tardy marks. This is a fine record. Grade eight and seven each had one.

Wednesday morning the Kindergarten spent an enjoyable hour making butter, after which, each child had some of the butter on two little pieces of bread.

Miss Sear's room has formed Health Club. The officers are as follows: President, David McElland; Vice-President, Nancy Miller; Secretary, Marjory Burke. The Club is striving for a better health record in every way.

Miss Holt's class has thirty-three out of thirty-four taking milk. This is a splendid report and we wish all classes could do as well. As a result of this none of the pupils are in the red group.

Tuesday afternoon the Angier School played its last football game of the season at Waban, with the Hyde School. Angier was victorious with the final score 33 to 6. The school showed excellent spirit in coming out to the game. The cheering gave the team splendid support. The team has played eight games this year and has won them all. This is a fine record considering that with exception of one team all the boys on the opposing side have had a heavier average weight. The boys of our team have showed excellent spirit in obeying the regulation football rules. Everyone feels that the football team is a great honor to the school, and the coach feels justly proud of his youngsters.

Out of the 367 pupils of the school $41.71 was given to the Red Cross. We gave our contributions bearing in mind that we were helping other girls and boys.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor

On Sunday afternoon the Red Cross roll call will take place. In view of everything that has happened within the last few months in which the Red Cross has been called into action, Newton people do not need any arguments to induce them to join.

If anyone ever hesitates, the fact that fifty cents of every dollar is used right here in Newton ought to be an added reason for giving. The solicitors will count it a favor if people will either stay at home until they have been called upon, or will leave the contribution with someone who will be at home. Should anyone be overlooked, one need not feel left out, for one can always send in the subscription to the headquarters at 12 Austin street, Newtonville, but the chairman of the different districts much prefer that the memberships should come through the solicitors and thereby count toward making up their own quota. Be ready then with your contributions, and make the work of the volunteers a pleasure and not a burden.

Levi turns to the League of Nations and to the World Court as a solution of the problem.

Speaking of the World Court he said that forty-seven different countries have pledged themselves to it. We, the United States, ought to help to develop its strength, and should be the last to refuse to give it our support. He made a strong appeal to the women, who, he said, think more, feel more, have more emotion and more sentiment than the men, to do their utmost toward substituting law for war.

If we really had religion, we would have no more war. If we truly believed that God is the father of all men, we would hesitate a long, long time before we would raise arms against them.

Before Dr. Levi's address, Mrs. Elery Peabody, president of the Community Service Club of West Newton, the hostess of the day, greeted the large audience in the name of her club. Mrs. Edmund I. Leeds made a stirring plea for the sale of the Christmas Health seals. Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, chairman of the Federation's Legislative committee, gave the provisions of the bill for the examination, classification, etc., of convicted prisoners, and read a letter from Mrs. Wenonah Osborne Pinkham explaining the working of an initiative petition.

The chorus of the Auburndale Woman's Club, under the direction of Mrs. Julia Ritter McCormick, rendered a group of songs in a most artistic and finished manner. The first three were characteristic of different nations—the American Indian, the English, and the Russian; and the last, Kipling's "Recessional," came as a very fitting introduction to Dr. Levi's stirring address. A social hour during which tea was served, gave an opportunity for intercourse with the club women from the North and South sides of the city.

THRU THE EMPIRE STATE

From Niagara to Manhattan with the National Editorial Association

When the New York members of our party suggested that the Editors wind up their trip in the Empire State with a week of entertainment in the great city of New York in the middle of summer, I entered a strong protest, but was persuaded to agree to the program outlined by Past President John Clyde Oswald and Vice-President Wallace O'Neil. I am glad to say that I yielded to their arguments. For New York city did itself proud, not only in the extent of its program for us, but in the cordial and efficient way in which it was carried out. Mr. Oswald, in particular, was always on the job during the entire week.

Our headquarters at the Hotel Pennsylvania could not be improved, the accommodations were excellent, and the service unsurpassed. The Pennsylvania has 2,200 rooms, every one with bath. One cannot realize the immensity of this hotel until you have been a guest. During our stay every room was occupied. As many of the rooms were occupied by more than one person, one can conservatively figure that the guest population was more than 3,000—possibly nearer 4,000. Add to these the large army of employees and you have the reputation of a good sized town under one roof.

In each room adorning the dresser is a pin cushion with a needle threaded with white thread and one with black thread, with six buttons of each color, as well as pins. Guests desiring to sew a button on their garments have little difficulty in securing a button the right size and color. In every bath room hangs a plush shoe-shiner and a strap of cloth for the men to dry their razors. Three spigots at the lavatory furnish hot, cool and ice cold water. A one inch pipe supplies water for the built in porcelain tub, requiring one minute to fill it to the required depth. The cost of each room in the hotel is figured at $4,000.00.

In the lobby of this hotel may be seen people of all nationalities, except Africans. A battery of a dozen large elevators just off the lobby enable the guests to reach their rooms with little delay. One-half the elevators work the lower ten floors while the other battery make no stops except from the tenth to twentieth floors.

Mr. Statler, owner of the hotel, has introduced many innovations for travelers. For instance each room has a "servi-door." These doors have two openings, one into the outer hall and the other into the guest's room. A suit of clothes is to be cleaned, laundry sent out, etc., the guest places this in the servi-door, locking his side, and phones the head valet who sends one of his assistants to the door, unlocks it, takes out the articles, replacing same at some late hour in the night without disturbing the guest.

The first day was spent in Jersey, the guests of the New Jersey publishers and it proved to be full to the limit from early morning to long after midnight. Personally I did not take the trip, but from what others have said there was little left undone to make it attractive to every member of our party.

The first visit was to Colgate's factory, Jersey City. Two hours were spent going through part of this tremendous plant and the editors saw how toilet and laundry soap is made, as well as washing flakes, perfume, tooth paste, shaving cream and probably fifty other articles that are known in every country in the world.

Soap is drawn from steel vats and cast into blocks about three by four feet, to harden. When the soap has hardened it is then run through a wire mesh that cuts the blocks into slabs and then run through another mesh that cuts it into bars. The bars are again run through a machine that gives them the octagon shape and at the same time stamps the name on each cake. The cakes are then wrapped and packed into boxes and are ready for market.

A guide explained all of the details of each piece of machinery. There was a machine that wraps the oval toilet soap, so popular everywhere. It was stated that it required several years to perfect a machine that would wrap the oval cakes, for it was a tedious task. Machines are used to tie strings around all size card board boxes, formerly done by hand. The employees here are paid by the piece, with a guaranteed salary. Bonuses are distributed each Christmas and the factory has been in operation for nearly a hundred years, during which period there has never been a strike or any labor difficulty of any kind. Everywhere one may see the men and women work rapidly for the more work they do, the more pay they receive and larger profits to the company, and this leads to larger bonuses.

The largest clock in the world was constructed and erected for the Colgate Company on the roof of one of its buildings and faces the ocean. The dial is 40 feet in diameter.

A brief trip was made through part of the great refinery of the Standard Oil Company. Here are storage tanks where millions of gallons of crude and refined oils are kept in reserve. The crude oil is pumped from Texas and Oklahoma oil fields, a distance of 1800 miles. This is the longest pipe line in the world. Pumping stations are necessary every thirty to forty miles all along the pipe line. The pumps are kept going 24 hours a day. The standard Oil Company owns its own oil burning locomotives and tank cars. Hundreds of cars are loaded and shipped from this plant daily, while thousands of gallons are piped from the plant to the various piers in and around New York City. It was said that there are not enough railroad tank cars in the world to keep this refinery supplied with crude oil, and for this reason the giant pipe line 1800 miles long is absolutely essential.

In one section of the plant five gallon oil cans are made. It is all done by machinery. First the tin is cut into the proper size, then shaped and crimped square, another operation places the bottom on and the top comes last. These cans travel on an endless belt and run through melted solder. The last operation is the stamping or printing of the side of the can showing the contents. Several different languages are printed on these cans, as they are exported to various countries throughout the world.

An interesting sight was the oil refiners or distillers. It is here that the crude oil is converted into gasoline, kerosene, lubricating oil, varnish, axle grease and probably a dozen or more other commodities. Nujol is also made at this plant as well as a number of toilet articles including a new dental lotion, samples of which were presented to the members of the editorial party.

In the yard there are hundreds of giant tanks in which are stored millions of gallons of crude and refined oils. Guards are to be seen all over the field of tanks, watching day and night for fire. In another section of the plant giant pumps are kept in readiness to pump chemicals into the tanks when a fire starts. With all these precautions very few fires are reported and the losses are kept at a minimum. The company carries no insurance, except its own.

The real treat of the day was the luncheon aboard the big steamer George Washington, docked in Hoboken. The United States Shipping Board acted as hosts, being represented by the officers of the liner.

Entering the spacious dining room of the George Washington, the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." At the foot of the stair-way was placed the beautiful and massive buffet table. The center piece was made of a large American eagle, moulded from ice, with the colors of an American flag moulded inside the ice. It was indeed a novel and beautiful sight. From the buffet table the French waiters served a most delicious iced luncheon.

Ribbons bearing the lettering "S. S. George Washington" has been placed at each plate and everything looked deliciously clean and inviting. Following the luncheon the visitors made a hurried inspection of the great liner, second largest in the United States Shipping Board fleet.

The decks are stupendous in their breadth and length and the vessel rises above deck to a great height above the water.

The lounging and writing rooms of the vessel are beautifully, simply furnished. Comfort and coziness are manifested in every detail in fixing up the state rooms and suites and it made the editors very proud that such a wonderful ship as the George Washington bore the Stars and Stripes.

Special interest was evidenced by the ladies of the N. E. A. party in inspecting the suite of rooms used by the then President and Mrs. Wilson when the nation's chief executive sailed for France following the World War's close to participate in the memorable peace party.

The visitors deemed it a great pleasure to take luncheon aboard the vessel, to be given the opportunity to examine the ship and to be so royally and courteously treated aboard.

Visit Amusement Parks. There remained a busy afternoon and evening ahead for the editors. Invitations had been extended to visit the Columbia and Palisades amusements on the Jersey side and to be the guests of the managers.

Dixie Anzer, publisher of the Hudson County News, and his attractive wife, were in charge of the arrangements for entertaining in New Jersey, and their efforts brought about a vast deal of pleasure to the newspaper fraternity.

RAILROAD FARES

The State Department of Public Utilities held a three days' hearing this week on the petition of the railroads serving the Metropolitan district for a 20% increase in rates of fare.

Newton is represented by City Solicitor, J. W. Bartlett and by the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

Newton is interested from a different angle than most of the other municipalities, as it is evident that the Boston & Albany does not need the additional revenue as much as the Boston & Maine or the New Haven roads claim for themselves, but as the law requires rates of fare in the Metropolitan district to be the same "where practicable," it is possible for this part of the district to suffer for the needs of the district as a whole.

The testimony of Mr. W. A. Barrows, passenger agent of the B. & A. was of considerable interest, largely in what he failed or refused to say.

Mr. Barrows explained the proposed increase as it would be applied to fares on his railroad, showing that they would still leave the fares behind those which prevailed in 1908, in proportion to the straight fare. Between Boston and Newtonville, he said, by way of example, the fare would be 12.75 per mile or 42.5 percent of the straight fare, compared with a rate of 9.58 per mile in 1908, when it was 63.86 percent of the straight fare.

Under severe cross examination Mr. Barrows admitted that the Boston & Albany was earning a surplus on its operation, as a whole, and he successfully parried questions intended to support the contention that the Boston & Albany Railroad does not need the increase and is asking for it only because the other roads ask for it.

No financial statement was submitted by this company, and questions in regard to its finances and the revenue derived from it by the New Haven Railroad were avoided.

Considerable attack was made on Boston & Albany officials because they provided no figures on the cost of commuting service, such as the two other roads furnished, and it was charged by opponents of the rate increase on this road that the Albany is already making a profit on its commuting service. The officials successfully evaded the issue, but expressed the opinion that they were losing money on the present rates and that they were "not remunerative."

The hearing will be continued in the near future to allow the opponents to present their case.

BEAUTY IN THE HOME

"Beauty in the Home" was the appealing subject of the address given on Tuesday, by Mr. Royal B. Farnum, director of the Normal Art School of Boston, before a joint meeting of the Eliot Guild and of the Mothers' Club of Eliot Church.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Ellison G. Day representing the Guild, and Mrs. Arthur E. Holt, representing the Mothers' Club.

Mr. Farnum defined Art as the attempt of man to apply the principles of Nature, principles which are always true but which are frequently misunderstood.

He gave illustrations of homes which were inartistic through ignorance and of the effect of such homes on the individual. He spoke particularly of the necessity of taking into consideration the environment or setting of a work of art, as well as its intrinsic beauty.

Design which is largely a matter of line, is reason in art. Mr. Farnum showed by illustrations on the blackboard the value of different types of lines, the vertical line, the line of force, the line of mystery, and the line of weakness.

He also showed the difference between dynamic and static forms.

The three fundamental principles of all art are the principle of order, the principle of unity, and the principle of balance.

In nature we find all three. Trees are good examples of balance. Balance may be divided into bismetric balance and tri-metric balance. In everyday life we prefer things a little out of balance, as perfect balance would make for monotony.

All life consists in balancing certain instincts and powers against one another.

The final advice which Mr. Farnum left with his hearers was not to over-crowd their homes. Rejection, he said, is the real test of artistic culture.

Many of Mr. Farnum's illustrations were very funny, and his drawing was very clever. The lecture was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

A social hour with tea concluded the afternoon.

CHRISTMAS TRADE CAMPAIGN

Merchants Making Plans To Boom
Christmas Shopping In Newton

The Mercantile Division of the Newton Chamber of Commerce is developing a campaign to boom Christmas shopping in the Newtons, plans for which are to be perfected at a meeting of the Mercantile Division at the Newton Club, Newtonville, next Monday evening, November 12. The chief objectives of the campaign are to be two in number: First, to bring about the busiest and most successful holiday season yet enjoyed by the business men of the city; and, second, to provide greater and more attractive facilities for the citizens of Newton to do their holiday trading at home, thus eliminating the inconvenience and disagreeable features of shopping out of town at a time when stores are congested and prices are not always in keeping with the holiday spirit.

The Mercantile Division Committee has been gradually taking account of stock in the Newton stores, and have found that a majority of those articles that are popular as Christmas gifts may be purchased in Newton at the same price and frequently at a smaller price—than in the Metropolitan stores. The quality is the same, while the service extended with every purchase is usually superior. Deliveries are more prompt, proprietors and clerks are in many instances persons who are acquainted with the prospective purchasers, and there is an attitude of the "We appreciate your trade" type which cannot be encountered in the stores of a large city.

While perhaps the great variety offered in a large retail emporium may seem to be lacking the Newton merchants are planning to overcome this condition through special buying for the holiday trade, to placing the emphasis during the entire Christmas season on superior quality, and on prices that will convince their fellow-citizens that it will be to their advantage and profit to do most of their holiday shopping in their home city.

Many of Newton's merchants are already committed to the plan, and it is the expectation that the other members of the Mercantile Division of the Chamber will get solidly behind it at the meeting next Monday evening. It has been recognized from the beginning that the proposed campaign would not be a success unless it was developed in such a way as to make it a real object for the people of the city plan to do at least a substantial part of their holiday shopping in the Newton stores. The members of the city hope to benefit materially, they expect to benefit only in proportion to the extent they make it worth while for Newton people to co-operate in making the campaign a success.

The Mercantile Division of the Newton Chamber has been pledged from its organization to a continuous effort to improve their service rendered by the business men of the city, believing that it was only through real service, combined with quality merchandise and fair prices, that the merchants of the city would receive the support to which they are entitled, because of their location and their relation to the business development and future prosperity of the city. That there has been a marked improvement in the concen-sus of comment by many Newton people and the Christmas Shopping Campaign is being planned to bring still more Newton people in contact with Newton stores, that they may have first hand and convincing proof of the constantly growing advantages of trading at home.

Further announcements of special interest may be anticipated following the meeting at the Newton Club next Monday evening. It is anticipated that plans will take more definite shape at this meeting and—if one may judge from the enthusiasm already displayed and subsequent announcements will be such as to be of interest and special significance to every Newton citizen.

All members of the Mercantile Division of the Chamber are cordially invited to be present at the coming meeting, while other members of the Chamber who may be interested will be welcome. A dinner will be served before the meeting, at 6:30 o'clock, for those who care to attend. The cost of dinner tickets will be 1.50 each and reservations must be made in advance,
by mail or telephone, not later than 10
A. M. on Saturday morning, November 10. No special effort will be made to bring out a large attendance at the dinner, which is merely for the benefit of those who enjoy this part of the Chamber meetings. But every possible effort will be put forth to secure the attendance of a large representation of the Mercantile Division membership at the subsequent meeting, at 7:45 o'clock. All members are therefore urged to plan to be present at the meeting, if possible, and to make advance reservations for the dinner if they care to participate in that part of the evening's program.

GODDARD-COOKE

Much local interest was shown in the wedding on Saturday of Miss Barbara Cooke, daughter of Dr. and Mrs.
William F. Cooke of Sumner street,
Newton Centre, and Mr. Paul Martin Goddard, also of Newton Centre.
The ceremony took place at the Methodist Church, Bishop Hughes and Rev.
Ralph E. Davis assisting in the service.

The matron of honor was Mrs. John W. Cooke of Newton Centre, and the bridesmaids, the Misses Helen Goddard, Miss Virginia Speare and Miss Winifred Smith of Newton Centre, and Miss Eleanor Gibbs of West Newton, and Miss Davis N. Ripley of Newton.

The best man was Mr. Sargent Goddard of Newton Centre, and the ushers
Mr. Richard Cooke of Conn., Dr. John W. Cooke, Mr. Albert Speare, Mr.
Arthur Holt of Newton Centre, Mr.
Robert Bushnell of Newton, and Mr.
Gordon Marshall of Newtonville.

The bride's gown was of white satin,
while the matron of honor and bridesmaids wore gowns of lavender chiffon velvet.

A reception at the Newton Centre
Woman's Club followed the ceremony.
The bride is a graduate of Miss Mc-Clintock's School, and the groom of Harvard, class of 1918.

THE DRUNKEN AUTOMOBILE DRIVER

In Massachusetts it is found that 2108 automobilists have been convicted for operating while under the influence of intoxicating liquors in 1922 as compared with 883 in 1920.
The figures for 1923 will be greatly increased over 1922.

In Rhode Island the available figures indicate that 180 have been tried in all courts of that State for operating while under the influence of intoxicating liquors in 1922 and of these, 23 were tried in the Superior Court and suffered the punishment of a fine only,
while only nine received short jail sentences running from ten to twenty days each.

This is substantially the record in proportion to the automobiles in use in practically every State east of the Mississippi River, not including the Southern States, but especially including New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan.

Notwithstanding this appalling increase of drunkenness on the part of automobile operators and the trail of killed, injured and misery left in its wake, the courts of these States have not awakened to the enormity of the offense, except in a few instances, now have they inflicted the punishment which such a crime deserves.

In Massachusetts within the past sixty days numerous cases have been prosecuted by the police and although the courts have found offenders guilty, they have placed several flagrant violations on file, or imposed small fines.

In one of the district courts of Boston, two cases were recently placed on file after the Judge had found them guilty. The Judge, in these cases, might just as well have told the criminals that they did not regard the offense a serious one, and practically invited them to repeat it.

Only recently two Harvard students were found guilty of this offense and paid a fine of $100 each. One can readily imagine the chuckle of these two young men who merely paid the fine out of their allowances and regarded the experience as a lark. In other outlying districts of Boston similar instances have been recorded and in Rhode Island small fines seem to be the rule rather than the exception.

The figures are given out by the Automobile Legal Association, which has already petitioned the Massachusetts Legislature to pass a bill providing if anyone is convicted of operating while under the influence of intoxicating liquors, he shall be sentenced to jail for not less than three months nor more than two years; that no Justice, who finds one guilty of this offense shall have the right to place the case on file, and that the Registrar of Motor Vehicles shall revoke the license of a person thus convicted for not less than three years.

The Association contends that any bill which provides that the punishment shall not be for more than say two years, is wrong in principle, because it permits the Judge to impose a jail sentence of one day, which in many cases will be simply giving the criminal an opportunity to sober off.

Not less than three months in jail is the Association's slogan and it is believed that the public will support the Association in this position. The Association is also preparing similar petitions to be introduced at the next session of the Legislature in every State in which it operates.

An attraction of very unusual interest is offered by the Central Club,

kins of Dartmouth College, will be the speaker. All the men of the Newtons are invited. It is "Educational Night" in the club program.

ALLIANCE BAZAAR

A member of the Stebbins Alliance of the Newton Centre Unitarian Church has been so inspired by the thought of the Bazaar and its new features, to be held in the Parish House on November 15 and 16, that she has penned the following lines as prophecy and invitation. On November 15, the hours will be from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M. On November 16, the hours will be from 1 P. M. to 10 P. M.
Peddlers' Parade each night eight o'clock.
Our Stebbins Alliance with greetings invites the community to come to its party.

To see the sights of fakers' Row,—
Each vender in costume queer, you know—
There'll be the chef in cap and gown Who'll sell you doughnuts rich and brown;
The cook who'll make the nicest cake
As only our own people make.

The cushions, lines and mystic grabs
Will vie with holders, flowers and bags;
Fine pies, sweets, pop-corns, jams and jells,
The Hokey-Pokey who ice-cream
sells—
While each in poem or song will tell
About the wares they have to sell;
Music and singing will sure be there
To add to the program their fine share.

To admit 'twill need but a very small sum
But you better bring dollars when you come.
Remember the Place; remember the date—
And buy your entrance, but don't be late!
So be on time that you may see
The Peddlers' Parade
From A to Z.

EASTERN STAR BAZAAR

A very delightful and interesting bazaar was held last week Thursday, in Masonic Hall, Newtonville. The affair was under the auspices of Palestine Chapter, O. E. S. Festivities began at 8 o'clock in the morning and lasted well into the night.

There were many decorated booths
where food, candy, fancy work, gifts, books, grabs, etc., were sold. The fair was unique in that nothing was sold on chances.

The general committee consisted of Mrs. John R. McLean, chairman; Mrs.
Harry Wilson, Mrs. Alfred E. Allen,
Mrs. Albert L. Babbitt, Mrs. Charles
F. Alexander, Mrs. Harry B. Ross,
Mrs. Judson D. Sartwell and Miss Maud L. Withington.

In the evening an entertainment was given by Miss May Evelyn Bews who, in Scottish costume, with the pipes, gave an attractive program of songs, ballads and dances.
Part of the funds raised will be applied to the philanthropic work of the Chapter; the two most important objects being the O. E. S. Home Fund and the O. E. S. Benevolent Fund.

MEDFORD DEFEATS NEWTON 10-3

Local Football Team Plays Well at First But Lacked Necessary Stamina to Win

Coming back on the field at the beginning of the second half on the short end of a 3 to 0 score, a fighting Medford team came through with the necessary drive to score a touchdown and a field goal, and defeated Newton 10 to 3 at Clavin Field, Newtonville, last Saturday. This victory for Medford gives them a firm hold on first place and puts them in a direct line for the Suburban League title.

In the first half it was all Newton. They made seven first downs and limited Medford to but one, thus keeping the ball constantly in Medford's territory. In the second half, however, the order of things was a little reversed. Medford scored, it is true, but she had to work mighty hard to do so.

King received the opening kickoff and ran it back to the twenty-five yard line. In two line bucks he plugged out nine yards. Esty gained another yard, making it first down, and Considine got off a beautiful spiral which rolled outside on Medford's twelve yard line. After Leary had gained a yard, Ellis hurried by the fast charging Newton line, kicked offside on his thirty-five yard line. The Medford goal line was in danger, and the Medford forward line, Reilly alive to the fact, held, forcing Considine to punt. Then on the first play Medford tried an end run with the fleet-footed Hank Moore carrying the ball. Tony Ryall, who knew

Hank Moore of old, was on his job and promptly threw him for a four yard loss. Ellis kicked and a bit of hard luck caused the ball to strike the ground and bounce ten yards towards the Medford goal before it could be stopped. A forward King to Dewing gained ten yards, King made three more through tackle, a forward to Gilligan netted another first down, and then King heaved the ball down the field. Ryall fairly flew across the ground, but the ball was thrown too far ahead of him, and it grounded behind the goal line. Medford should have been able to punt out of danger, but a heart-rending break occurred, the ball bounced crazily and rolled offside on the twenty yard line. Newton was again in a position to score. The Medford defense tightened, however, and Gilligan's drop was partially blocked. Howell recovering the ball on the ten yard line, Leary made two yards, Ellis punted offside again on the thirty yard line, and Newton took the ball again. Two rushes made five yards—and then O'Donnell came in place of Esty. He promptly proved his worth as a drop kicker, for after a forward pass had grounded, he sent the ball sailing through the uprights for three points from a difficult angle on the thirty-three yard line.

Towards the end of the half, Medford threatened once. A forward pass

DARTMOUTH NIGHT

President Ernest M. Hopkins of Dartmouth College was the guest of the Central Club, Monday evening, at Central Church, Newtonville. A large number of Dartmouth men were present. The President, Mr. C. H. Mergendahl, opened the evening's exercises, and introduced the speaker.

Dr. Hopkins gave an address of remarkable power on education as related to present day world conditions. His line of thought required very close attention, yet the address was greeted with an enthusiastic round of applause at the close.

The speaker dwelt first on the question whether the country had kept the faith with the men who died in the war. He had personally known many of the soldiers, many had come to him for advice, and he felt that they were acting from an altruistic desire, and a feeling that their cause would somehow produce a better world. But he pointed out how the war had apparently left the world worse off instead of better.

Man has produced a wonderful civilization, remarked the speaker, but it has gotten out of his control. He spoke of the exactness with which the scientists and technical men carry on their work, how they find a practise formula which will accurately describe the results they observe or that they want to reach, and he felt that the world needs to find some similar formula with which to regulate human affairs.

He dwelt upon the necessity of the search for truth, a willingness to abandon old methods and results where these are proved faulty. He found that the institutions of freedom

D. A. R. MEETING

Col. Charles R. Gow Gives an Illuminating Address on the Federal Constitution

A meeting of unusual interest to the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., was held at the Chapter House, Monday afternoon, November 12.

The regent, Miss Lucy Ellis Allen, presided and after a short business meeting, Mrs. Arthur P. Friend gave an interesting report of the Annual State Conference in Holyoke, October 18, after which Miss Allen introduced Colonel Charles Gow, president of Associated Industries of Massachusetts, who addressed the chapter on the Federal Constitution.

Colonel Gow told of the two fundamental conceptions of government, the socialistic and the individualistic, stating that our own government was of the latter type, and that the so-called "progressive" theories of the socialists are reactionary, and mean retrogression. Under the present constitution the nation has prospered to an unusual degree, liberty and protection are afforded the individual as in no other country. In no other country may the individual of humble origin rise to a position of influence and power. No other country has prospered as ours has.

The framers of the constitution, according to the speaker, intended that the real will of the people should govern the country as opposed to the passion of the moment, and so the representative type of government was chosen. Our country is not, therefore a pure democracy but a republic. In regard to the proposed amendment that the Supreme Court decisions should be carried by a vote of 7-2 instead of 5-4, Colonel Gow said that this amendment would make it possible for any three members to prevent congressional action. Recently decisions of the Supreme Court have been found fault with by radicals in congress who are seeking to overrule the Supreme Court. This tendency, he said, is to be greatly deprecated and is of serious moment to the individual citizens.

The speaker then briefly reviewed the amendments to the constitution showing how they grew out of the conditions of the time and dwelling particularly on those which have been passed since 1920.

The first of these, the income tax amendment, resulted in giving congress unlimited power to spend the money of the several states. At the present time 72 per cent of the money comes from eight states. The bill for good roads, the maternity bill, etc., are paid for by these eight states, the other forty receiving the benefits without an adequate share of the cost. At the present time an educational bill is being considered by the federal government. These functions formerly belonged to the different states and communities; in other words, the trend is towards government paternalism.

The 17th amendment which elected the senators by direct vote, has resulted in entirely different type of men in the senate from former times, so that now the senate is no longer

THE ROTARY CLUB

At the weekly luncheon on Monday at the Newton Club, Rotarian Harold T. Dougherty, the librarian, gave an interesting talk on the ancient history of the Newton Free Library, after stating that the "How Newton Is Governed" article on the library covered the present activities of the library.

The chapter night of the Club will be held on Tuesday, November 20th with a banquet and dance at the Woodland Golf Club.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—To add to the avalanche of Cohan plays the Boston Stock Company steps to the foreground this week with "Madeline and the Movies," which is not only a Cohan production, but of all the Cohan dramatic plays in town, is the only one written by Mr. Cohan himself. It is of further importance inasmuch as the role of Madeline was originally played by Mr. Cohan's daughter, Gerorgette, and Mr. Cohan replaced James Rennie in the part which will be taken by Mr. Gilbert.

Preparations are being made to organize a health clinic in connection with the school.

The seventh grades are preparing the Thanksgiving program to be given in the school hall.

The health posters in all the rooms illustrate the children's interest in this phase of the school work.

The lumber camp project in Miss Ryder's fifth grade is well under way. The children enjoy this helpful part of the geography work.

The average attendance in all rooms the past month has been very high. Miss Prentice's seventh grade has the highest average again this month which is 98.2 per cent.

The next three highest are:—Mrs. Blakemore, Grade VII, 97.4 per cent; Miss Green, Grade V, 97.4 per cent; Miss Abbott, Grade VI, 96.3 per cent.

Miss Lewis's absence this week is due to the death of her father. She has much sympathy from the teachers and children.

NEWTON ODD FELLOWS ACTIVE

The fourth of a series of five whist parties was held at Odd Fellows' Hall, West Newton, on Tuesday night, November 13th. Twenty tables of players were present. The first ladies' prize was won by Mrs. J. H. Seaver of Newton Lower Falls, second ladies' prize by Mrs. Arthur Smith of Newtonville and the booby by Mrs. H. Sawyer of Auburndale.

The first gentlemen's prize was won by Mr. Alfred Hyatt of Newton, the second by Mr. N. Forte of West Newton and the booby by that popular police officer, Mr. Jack Roache of West Newton. Refreshments were served and during the partaking of the refreshments Mrs. George Brophy of Auburndale sang several selections accompanied by Miss Catherine Brophy on the piano. Her renderings were enthusiastically received and she was obliged with several selections. Mr. Frank Cunningham of Auburndale also sang several popular numbers which were well received and appreciated.

The fifth and last of this series of whist parties will be held at Odd Fellows' Hall, West Newton, on November 27th when in addition to the regular prizes there will be prizes for the grand totals of the entire series. All those who have attended several of these parties are urged to be there as the scores due to non-attendance for various reasons are considered very low.

On November 21st there will be a costume party held at Odd Fellows' Hall, West Newton. The party is expected to bring out a generous crowd as both the Hurdy Gurdy Party in the spring and the Barn Dance early this fall were well attended and the various stunts staged by the energetic entertainment committee were appreciated and enjoyed by all. It is said that several surprises are to be staged during the evening and those who attend can feel sure of having a hearty laugh and an enjoyable time.

Cole's Colonial Orchestra are to play and prizes will be given to both the ladies and gentlemen.

HOW NEWTON IS GOVERNED

Some Interesting Facts About the Various Departments of the City by J. C. Brimblecom

Police Department

To protect the City of Newton from lawlessness and to maintain decency and order, costs the taxpayers about $201,707.29, and requires a police force consisting of a Chief, Captain, two Lieutenants, six Sergeants, three Inspectors, two ranking as Lieutenant, and one as Patrolman, a Clerk, Police Matron, and 55 Patrolmen. The department maintains four police stations, good, bad and indifferent, one garage, a patrol auto combination and ambulance, chief's auto, three motorcycles and two touring cars.

The chief of police is appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the aldermen and receives a salary of $3000 per year. He is responsible for the entire department financially and otherwise determines all appointments, promotions and discharges on the force subject to approval of the mayor and makes a weekly and annual report to that official. He must see that proceedings are instituted for all violations of law and order, and that they are duly tried. The chief attends to the correspondence of the department including hundreds of anonymous letters which usually reach the waste basket, and acts upon all complaints against police officers.

The police officer represents the city to the general public to a far greater extent than any other city official. He comes in daily contact with all classes and conditions of people and must possess intelligence, coolness, firmness, integrity and courtesy. The police force of Newton stands these tests remarkably well and is a credit to the city.

Admission to the force is obtained through civil service examination, covering a knowledge of arithmetic, spelling, composition and the duties of an officer. The appointment is made from the certified list (three names being certified for one vacancy) by the chief and approved by the mayor. The first appointment is for a probationary period of six months as a reserve patrolman.

The salary is $1400.00 per year for the first year, $1500.00 per year for the second year, $1600.00 per year for the third year, $1700.00 per year for the fourth year, and $1800.00 per year for the fifth and subsequent years.

Police officers are entitled to wear a blue stripe on the sleeve for each period of five years' service. The city provides a revolver, club, and handcuffs carried by each patrolman, but the expense of three uniforms a year must be met by the officer personally. Day men work ten hours, and night men work seven hours a day for seven days in the week, with fourteen days' vacation during the year determined by lot. In addition each officer has one day off in every eight in addition to the regular vacation. The men are however, subject to call at any time and are not allowed to leave the city even when off duty without permission from headquarters.

The department is divided into three platoons. The first goes on duty at 8 A. M., and remains until 6 P. M., the second platoon at 6 P. M., and remains until 1 A. M., while the third platoon goes on at 1 A. M. and remains until 8 A. M. The second and third platoons alternate every other night, making a "long" day of 24 hours of duty, with the next day a "short" day of ten hours.

A patrolman going on street duty at 6 P. M., reports for house duty when he comes off the street at 1 A. M. and sleeps until 8 A. M., subject to call. A patrolman going on street duty at 1 A. M. will report for house duty at 6 P. M. and sleep till 1 A. M. if he desires, subject to call. The day platoon is in charge of the captain, in the station, and a sergeant on the street. The night platoons are in charge of lieutenants or sergeants on the street.

Each patrolman covers an assigned beat, making hourly duty calls on first half and half hourly calls on last half of duty to headquarters from the various street boxes and acting as the eyes and ears of the state and city for tramps, beggars, thieves, drunks, gamblers, liquor sellers, disturbers of the peace, and violators of the law or ordinances. Lost children, fires and vacant houses come within the scope of duty of a police officer, who may be termed the general utility man of the city. The duties of both regular and reserve men are the same although the regular men receive the most desirable assignments.

As a general rule no one can be arrested without a warrant from a magistrate but an officer can arrest without a warrant for violations of the city ordinances or misdemeanors committed in his presence. Arrests for past offences where the crime amounted to a felony (the punishment for which is state's prison or death) can also be made without a warrant. After arrest the offender is taken to the nearest signal box, the wagon call sounded and on its arrival the prisoner is turned over to the wagon man and the patrolman resumes his beat. On arrival at the station the prisoner is carefully booked and searched and if charged with a felony a photograph is also taken and added to the 1000 pictures now in the rogue's gallery at headquarters. The finger print system is also used by the department. Prisoners are provided with substantial meals of sandwiches, coffee or tea, cake and pie at a contract price of 25 cents each for each meal while awaiting trial.

The following morning the arresting officer makes a formal complaint against the prisoner before the clerk of the police court, and he is then brought before the Judge. In court the officer presents such evidence and witnesses to substantiate his charge as may be necessary. The duty of the police department ends here, the county officers executing the decision of the court. In cases of breaking and entering, the patrolman makes an exhaustive report to headquarters covering the conditions of the premises when discovered, how entrance was effected and the value and description of the property stolen. The chief and inspector then take the case, trace the stolen articles, if possible, notify other police departments, watch suspected persons and employ all the tricks of the trade to run down the guilty parties. Fake robberies are occasionally unearthed, and usually occur when an alleged victim is bluffing off some insistent creditors.

All fires and evidence relating thereto are reported to the state fire marshal and all accident claims against the city are investigated, witnesses interviewed and a report made to the city solicitor. An elaborate system of house inspection is maintained during the summer, every vacant house placed in charge of the department by the owner being inspected day and night and a written report made to headquarters.

The police signal system of which mention has been made is invaluable to the department. 47 street boxes are constantly on for duty, wagon and telephone calls, which bring men nearer together, and in cases of emergency, accident or fires the wagon goes at once. The system assures attention to duty by the patrolmen and protects them from unjust charges of neglect of duty.

It establishes communication between headquarters and the various stations for patrolmen on their beats.

Duty calls, of which there were 270,825 during 1922 are received silently at headquarters and recorded on a tape. Telephone and wagon calls ring a bell to attract the attention of the houseman. In case headquarters desires to communicate with a certain patrolman, a switch is set for the box he will next pull on a duty call, and when he opens the box for that purpose, a tapper notifies him to use the telephone call. 846 telephone calls and 502 wagon calls were recorded last year, as well as 107 ambulance calls.

The patrol stable is located at Police Headquarters, Washington street, West Newton. A day and night man is in attendance ready to answer all wagon or ambulance calls, accompanied by the houseman from headquarters.

But little attempt has been made to describe the detective work of the department, the bulk of which falls upon the shoulders of the inspectors who work in plain clothes. These officers' duties are so varied that it is almost impossible to do justice to their work in an article of this kind. That they are an indispensable part of the force goes without saying and their work is thoroughly appreciated.

A police matron has charge of all female prisoners of which there were 56 in 1922.

One feature should be borne in mind when considering the efficiency of this department, and that is the inadequacy of the present number of patrolmen to cover the twenty and more square miles of territory embraced within the limits of the City of Newton, and we are far behind other communities in the number of patrolmen to the area covered.

the conservative body it was originally intended to be.

The prohibition amendment is a restriction upon personal liberty, rather than a protection of personal liberty. It has resulted in a violent disregard of law on the part of those states and individuals who were not yet ready for it. Now that it has passed, however, the only right thing to do is to see that it is carried out. Our government for its own safety cannot allow disregard of law.

In regard to the woman's suffrage amendment, the Colonel says that while there was no logical reason why women should not have the vote, he had hoped that they would not seek it as he considered them temperamentally at a disadvantage in regard to the hard facts of life which governments have to deal with.

In conclusion the speaker said that the time has now come when we should resist further encroachments on the constitution. Discontent comes largely from those who wish to escape duties and responsibilities, and for whom any change offers a hope of a millennium.

The real menace to our government comes, however, not from the extreme radicals but from the indifference and inactivity of the general public who are content to allow the government to get into the hands of such people.

NEWTON PALS DEFEAT WATER-TOWN

The Pals of Newton defeated Watertown A. A., in a wonderful exhibition of football, by a score of 21 to 0, at Boyd Park last Sunday.

Although Watertown outweighed them five pounds to a man the Pals outplayed them and earned a well-deserved victory.

"Dotty" Wright's broken field running, "Shick" Herlihy's and Johnny Lyman's open field running and Jerry Arsenal's line plunging for the Pals were a thrill to watch, while McArdle, Boyd, Campbell and McLean played well in the line for the Pals. Colza excelled for the losers.

The Pals will play the High Agres of Dorchester at Franklin Field, Sunday, November 18, 1923, at 3 o'clock.

EDITORIAL

While we have been most explicit in opposing the initiative petition for legislation providing for the segregation and classification of prisoners, we hope we have made it clear that our opposition is wholly directed at the method of obtaining this legislation and not against the legislation itself. For some years we have believed that the present method of caring for prisoners by counties might well be improved and as one of Newton's representatives in the Legislature, we have supported every measure for a centralized control of persons confined in our houses of correction or county jails. This we believe is the common sense way of handling this problem and one which the Legislature, itself, should work out and approve.

Pessimists and Jeremiahs, with their notions that Mayor Childs is politically invincible, have succeeded in preventing the candidacies of several excellent gentlemen whose acceptance of the office of mayor would have added honor to the city. On the other hand we have had enough evidence to convince us that there is a strong under current of opinion that Mr. Childs has held the office long enough and that the best interests of the city demand a change. We should like to see that matter given a test and earnestly hope that some one, not afraid of a possible defeat, may take out nomination papers and give Mayor Childs a run for the office.

The formal statement from Secretary of the Treasury, A. W. Mellon showing that the recommendations suggested by him will reduce taxes on a $4000 income by $12.25 on a $5000 income by $29.75, on $6000 by $56, and others in proportion is without doubt, the best method of bringing home to the individual taxpayer just how he will be affected by the proposed legislation. Citizens can now follow the course of legislation with intelligence and interest.

The city is to be congratulated that such men as William B. Baker of West Newton, John H. Gordon of Auburndale and Horace M. Walton of Newtonville are willing to stand for the office of alderman at the coming election. With men like these the old time prestige of Newton's city government will be revived.

Alderman White is entirely right in his observation that "budgets are budgets." There is entirely too much of unauthorized expenditures by the mayor and department heads, and a too easy acquiescence on the part of the board of aldermen.

We invite attention to the announcement of Education Week and earnestly approve the suggestion that parents take this opportunity to visit the schools and make the acquaintance of the teachers as well as witness the educational methods in vogue.

While the attack on Judge Weed shows how close we are to the doctrine that "might makes right," there is some satisfaction in the fact that our police showed themselves competent and alert in capturing one of his assailants.

Y. M. C. A.

This being the Week of Prayer for young men throughout the world, appropriate meetings are being held at the Newton Y. M. C. A. Dr. C. W. Huntington spoke before the Fellowship Club on Monday evening. Rev. Ralph E. Davis of Newton Centre addressed the men's gymnasium class on Tuesday. George Merriam, one of the Y. M. C. A. Secretaries of the State Committee, spoke to the Hi-Y Club on Thursday evening, and Mr. Clyde G. Hess spoke to the younger groups of Boys' Gymnasium classes on Thursday afternoon. Many Christian men are praying for the young men of the world during this week. The Y. M. C. A. staff has been meeting for prayer every morning during the week. A three mile cross-country run will be conducted by the Newton Y. M. C. A. December 1st, for its members who are interested in running. Several men have signed up for the event and prospects are good for an interesting run. Medals will be given to the first six men finishing. The course will be announced shortly. The race will begin and finish at the Y. M. C. A. The speaker at the Fellowship Club next Monday evening will be Harold T. Dougherty Newton Librarian.

NEWTON CLUB

The bowling team lost three matches Wednesday evening to the Middlesex Sportsmen Club in the Newton League tournament.

Y. W. C. A.

At the monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Young Women's Christian Association, held at the association rooms last Wednesday, a budget amounting to $18,000.00 to cover the work of the association with such expansion as is likely to be called for by the needs of the community, was prepared for presentation to the Membership at its November meeting.

Upon invitation from the Boston Y. W. C. A., it was decided that, instead of making an independent drive to raise funds for the work in Newton this fall, it would be well to combine with Boston and the Metropolitan Students' Association in a big drive in the spring. This will mean that the people of Newton will receive only one call for funds in the work of the Y. W. C. A., local, city, student or national, during the next two years, whereas heretofore some confusion has arisen in the minds of business men who have been called upon to support the very extensive work of the Boston association, as well as the needs of our own growing local unit.

The question of transferring from the town form of association which was adopted when the Newton Y. W. C. A. was organized to the city form which would be more suited to the association spreads out into surrounding villages and towns was taken up. Miss Lena Farrar, traveling secretary of the National Board explained the differences to the Board, and it was finally decided to leave the question for the membership to decide at its next meeting.

At the meeting of the Blue Triangle Club that evening, Miss Farrar spoke on the subject to the professional and business women who composed the club; and they were enthusiastically in favor of a membership drive through all the Newtons, for the purpose of putting on a big city wide program here.

Miss Farrar also spoke to the girls of the coming convention at New York and the part to be taken in that convention by the business women of the association. She also touched upon various conventions being held in different parts of the world, such as the convention now going on between the women of China, Japan, Czechoslovakia, the U. S. A., and other countries, and the first convention to be held after the war when women from Germany, France, Italy and other warring countries were brought together to discuss the problems of the Y. W. C. A., in friendly relationship. Miss Farrar was showered with questions at the end of her address, and the girls decided that they should like to have a series of lectures on the association in order to familiarize themselves with the various phases of the wonderful work that Christian women are doing through the association in all parts of the world.

NO BUSES HERE

The Middlesex & Boston street railway Tuesday revealed to the department of public utilities some of the difficulties it experiences in pleasing its customers in various cities and towns. The road proposer to put busses on certain lines in Lexington and Natick, and the residents of the two towns strenuously oppose the idea and insist that the trolley be retained. On the other hand, residents of Newton are demanding busses for one of its lines, and the road prefers to keep its one-man trolley cars in operation.

President Pitt F. Drew, representing the road, explained that it desires to experiment with busses on lines which are not profitable, but that the road is reluctant to change. The busses would be operated without increase in fare or radical change in schedule.

Through its petition the road seeks blanket authority to operate busses in Lexington, Arlington Heights, Bedford, Billerica, Concord, Wayland, Saxonville, Cohasset and Natick, but Newton is eliminated from the list.

INDOOR CHAUTAUQUA AND FESTIVAL OF LIGHTS

Centenary Methodist Church, Auburndale, is the scene of a very ambitious church fair November 21-23. All the organizations of the church have been formed into committees and prospects are bright for the most successful effort of its kind yet made in Centenary Church and Parish.

The Indoor Chautauqua presents a very strong program, each evening at 8.00 o'clock. Wednesday evening, November 21, the Vespers Quartet, a negro musical organization from Morgan Memorial Church, will present a program of Negro spirituals, folk songs, and melodies. A reader of the colored race accompanies the quartet, as well as a piano soloist, Mr. Lawrence. This organization sang in Centenary Church two years ago to a capacity audience and it is confidently expected that this capacity audience will again assemble. The quartet has had two years' experience, singing in concerts and services, and have been pronounced one of the most competent negro musical organizations in the United States. Mr. Harper, pastor of Centenary Church, has taken great interest in the organization since its inception, and has been more or less personally identified with its work and success all the while. He believes music lovers will find an artistic treat in seeing them, and that the general public will be entertained in most unusually interesting fashion.

Thursday night the Junior Choir, one of Centenary Church's own musical organizations, will sing and act "A Little Old Folks' Concert." This is a program embodying many worth while old time songs and melodies, both secular and religious, and presented in the form of a choir rehearsal. The children will be costumed in colonial dress, and one of the choir boys will direct the concert.

Immediately following this a brief musical program will be presented by the church soloists and accompanists. Mrs. Harper will sing "The Shadow Dance" from Meyerbeer's opera "Dinorah." Mr. Arthur Wellcome will sing a group of modern compositions for tenor. Mrs. W. F. Hall, organist, and Mrs. E. Leland, pianist, will play a piano and organ arrangement of "Lovely Apper," from Gounod's "Redemption." Mrs. Leland and Mr. Harper, pastor of the church and director of its musical program as well, will play Chopin's "Rondo for Two Pianos," opus 73, and Mr. and Mrs. Harper will sing a duet, "Come to My Heart, Beloved One," by Millard.

Friday night, November 23, Phidela Rice, dean of the Leland Powers School of Expression, and one of America's greatest play readers, will monolog "The Servant in the House." This is one of the strongest programs of the entire Chautauqua. Those who have heard Mr. Rice in his play readings pronounce him incomparable, his programs unforgettable.

The Chautauqua will be held in the auditorium of the church. The Festival of Lights will be conducted in the Parish House, from 5.00 to 10.00 o'clock, Wednesday, November 21, and from 2.00 to 10.00 o'clock Thursday and Friday.

The decorations will be featured with a brilliant electrical display. Every booth will have special and attractive lighting. An expert electrician has been engaged to take charge of this feature of the festival.

The booths will be as follows: Children's Table, Cafeteria, Aprons, Fancy Articles, Handkerchiefs, Kitchen Furnishings, Candy, and Novelties. These will be conducted by the various groups of the Ladies' Aid Society, the Young Women's Club, and the Intermediate League. The Men's Club will conduct a complete grocery store, with fruits and vegetables, canned goods and all that goes with such a store. The Young Men's Club will have charge of a drug store, with ice cream, soda fountain, and the various and sundry articles commonly found in a drug store.

The whole effort is elaborately planned and will be presented on a big scale. The cafeteria, in addition to providing lunch at any hour during the progress of the festival, will serve a special supper each evening from 5.00 to 7.00 o'clock. Many people will come to supper, visit the festival, and attend the evening program of the Chautauqua.

The Executive Committee is Rev. Earl E. Harper, Chairman, Mr. William Jarvis, Secretary, and Mr. E. E. Braithwaite, Treasurer.

HOSPITAL AID BRIDGE PARTY

Newton society always looks forward with pleasure to the Bridge Tea given each year by the Newton Hospital Aid Association at Brae Burn Country Club.

This year it will be held on Monday, November 26th, and in addition to auction bridge there will be tables for Mah Jongg, in the efficient hands of Mrs. Prescott Warren, who will personally vote her afternoon to it. After the cards Mah Jongg, an additional treat is promised in a half hour of music. Violin solos by Mrs. Arthur Lewis, and songs by Maurice Quinlan, tenor, Mrs. Edward Stratton, accompanying, will precede the tea.

The Hospital Aid Association has for many years worked quietly but steadily to meet many of the needs of our hospital, earning thousands of dollars which have been spent to supply equipment, thus materially adding to the efficiency of the Newton Hospital.

The new and very up-to-date X-ray department, the furnishing of the new private ward, as well as the maintenance of a scholarship for nurses and a yearly supply of linen for the hospital needs are only a few of the more recent things which this body of earnest women, under the leadership of Mrs. George H. Talbot, have contributed.

Mason School

The Mason football team played the Emerson team at Newton Highlands, on Tuesday afternoon, and won 27-7. This was not a league game, but Mr. Person reports one more league game to be played. The Mason School Banner for thrift is made to resemble a safe. The dial bears the numbers of the rooms of our school. The room that has the best record in both number of depositors and amount of money saved has the right to place their room number in a position to unlock the door of the Thrift Safe. Room 3 held the banner at the opening of the Thrift drive and held it for about two weeks, when it was captured by Room 5. Room 3, now has recaptured it and hopes to hold it, as we have a 100% record in depositors and have saved $83.74 as a class.

PROCLAMATION

Monday, November 19th, 1923, has been designated Motion Picture Day by the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America.

The day will and should have widespread observance. For good or for evil, the motion picture is here to stay. Pleasure and entertainment are demanded by the present generation. The motion picture affords both and at a reasonable price.

The week commencing November 19th has also been designated as National Education Week. Quite appropriate it seems to me that this is Education and motion pictures are related. Education and recreation go hand in hand. The motion picture can be made a great factor in the education of youth.

Here in Newton right thinking people are keen for films which uplift rather than drag down, which make one desire to be better rather than worse. After all the average man in the community for himself and family wants the best. It is the best which our local picture house managers are trying to present, and if their judgment ever seems to be in error, they welcome constructive criticism from individuals or groups.

EDWIN O. CHILDS, Mayor.

POSTAL STATION AT NEWTON

Upon the request of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, Congressman Robert Luce is assisting in securing a complete investigation of the situation in the Nonantum section of Newton with regard to the desires of residents of that village for better postal facilities. Assurances have been given by First Assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett that a complete investigation will be made to ascertain the postal needs of Nonantum and if the Post Office Department will be justified in adding another postal station to the Boston district. If the report of the pending investigation is encouraging, it is probable that the matter will be brought to the attention of the Directors of the Chamber, for such further action as may seem advisable to that body.

While there have been no developments as yet which promise tangible results, considerable encouragement has been received. After conferring with Postmaster Baker, the Secretary of the Chamber solicited the aid of Congressman Luce, with gratifying results. As evidence of the interest of the Congressman and his desire to be of assistance, the Newton Chamber is in receipt of a letter from his office, under date of November 12, offering much in the way of helpful suggestion, and further assistance.

NOTABLE SOCIAL AFFAIR

One of the notable social events of the season was the debut on Wednesday, of Miss Caroline Elizabeth Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Stewart of Montvale road.

The house was a scene of beauty with its profusion of roses, numberless baskets of chrysanthemums, and variegated flowers of every description.

Miss Stewart, who received with her mother, was gowned in white chiffon embroidered in silver and crystal over cloth of silver and carried pink roses, orchids, and lilies-of-the-valley tied with long silver ribbons. She looked radiantly beautiful against a solid background of flowers.

Mrs. Stewart wore a gown of blue sapphire velvet embroidered with old silver steel and trimmed with chinchilla. She carried orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Stewart was assisted by twelve debutants and intimate friends: Miss Frances Wiley, Miss Priscilla Baird, Miss Eleanor Bradford, Miss Augusta Bradford, Miss Virginia Conway, Miss Eleanor Snow, Miss Dorothy Spurr, Miss Alice Dow, Miss Mary Louise Butterfield and had as house guests, Miss Katrina Cassidy of Amsterdam, N. Y., Miss Marjorie Brown and Miss Ruth Spetnagel of Chillicothe, Ohio.

Plutarch's Philosophy.

He regarded nothing to be cheap that was superfluous, for what one does not need is dear at a penny; and it was better to possess field, where the plow goes and the cattle feed, than fine gardens that require much watering and sweeping.—Plutarch.

THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving, distinctively an American holiday, originated in New England with a day set apart in December, 1621, for a service of prayer and thanksgiving for a plentiful harvest, followed by a bountiful dinner from the fruits of the field and game from the woods. 1623, a day of fasting and prayer during the hot mid-summer months on account of a terrible drought that threatened destruction to all the crops was changed to one of thanksgiving by the coming of rain during the prayers, and the sighting of a ship bound from England with provisions for the colonists. This, as well as the first Thanksgiving, is vividly described in Jane Austin's story founded on historical facts, "Standish of Standish." Gradually the custom prevailed of appointing Thanksgiving annually after harvest by proclamation of the governors of the several New England colonies. During the Revolution a day of national thanksgiving was annually recommended by Congress. In 1864 President Lincoln appointed a day of thanksgiving, and since then the presidents have issued annually a proclamation, usually designating the last Thursday of November as Thanksgiving Day. The memory of its origin as a state appointment survives in the proclamations of the governors of the states which follow that of the President. Aside from its religious aspect, Thanksgiving is essentially a 'home' holiday, a day of family reunions and domestic feasting, of binding home ties closer.

Mary C. Crawford's "Social Life in Old New England (FF84-C858) p. 472, gives an attractive picture of "St. Pumpkin's Day." "Carle's Customs and Fashions in Old New England," chap. IX, Holidays and Festivals, and Love: "Fast and Thanksgiving Days" (FF84-L94), as well as Smith: "Colonial Days and Ways" (FF83-S64) also give interesting side lights on the customs and fashions surrounding the observance of this, the oldest American holiday.

Besides "Standish of Standish" referred to above, and Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Deacon Pitkin's Farm" in her "Stories, Sketches and Studies," Thanksgiving has been widely featured in both long and short stories. Two good stories in recent periodicals are "Thanksgiving," Good Housekeeping, November, 1920, p. 67, v. 71, and "Thanksgiving a la Hoover," St. Nicholas, November, 1917.

The Children's Room has such numerous requests for Thanksgiving stories, plays and poetry that all such juvenile material is assembled on a table in that room several weeks in advance of the holiday. Of these books the most inclusive is Schaeffer's "Thanksgiving" (JY-9531), for it contains poems, essays, and stories that have to do with the history and celebration of Thanksgiving Day. Another book devoted entirely to this festival is "Children's Book of Thanksgiving Stories" by Dickinson. For the most part, however, Thanksgiving material is found scattered through various collections of prose and poetry.

As plays are especially in demand it may be well to show just where a few of them can be found in these collections. There are three dramatizations of the "First Thanksgiving Day." One is in "Little American History" by Eleanor Hubbard (JYD-H86); another, in "Book of plays for little actors" by Johnston (JYD-9164); and the third is in the second volume of the "St. Nicholas book of plays and operettas" (JYD-S14). "Day before Thanksgiving" is a play telling of the great fear the little banyard folk are in on that day, for they know that one of them will be roasted for the feast. They are much relieved when Pumpkin Pie tells them that the proud old Gobler-Turkey is to be the one. This play is in the Alcott collection, "Plays for home, school and settlement" (JYD-1043).

Anything relating to the Pilgrims is appropriate for this particular holiday. Some plays of this character are "Trouble on land and sea" in Augusta Stevenson's "Dramatized scenes from American History" (JYD-S83d), the "Spinning Lesson" by Constance Mackey (JYD-M18p), and "Courtship of Miles Standish" in Laselle's "Dramatization of school classics" (YD-9 L23). These and other Thanksgiving plays may be found in the Children's Room with the stories and poems about the coming holiday.

THE WASHINGTON HOMESTEAD

Do you want to keep the American flag waving over the ancestral home of the Washingtons? There is no thrill that the traveller in foreign countries experiences which is quite as great as when one unexpectedly comes in sight of the stars and stripes.

In 1914 a group of Englishmen bought Sulgrave Manor, the home of Lawrence Washington and presented it to the American people in celebration of a hundred years of peace between the two nations. The Manor was the birthplace of John Washington, George Washington's great-grandfather and remained in the family for over a hundred years. This group of Englishmen raised $120,000 during and since the war, to restore the house and gardens to their former condition when the Washingtons lived there. Thus far America has contributed but $27,000 toward the financing of the Manor, and there has been no fund provided for its perpetual upkeep. The National Society of the Colonial Dames of America has undertaken to provide an endowment fund of $100,000, that forever more the American flag may fly over a well cared for memorial to the Father of our Country. So the Society is asking the co-operation of all patriotic Americans, for it feels that each and all of us can contribute a dollar or more toward such a cause. Every penny that is subscribed will go toward the fund and the name of each person contributing a dollar will be written in a book to be forever preserved at Sulgrave Manor.

Send your name and your money to Mrs. John Lowell, Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, and an acknowledgment will be sent you.

BETTER MUSIC QUICKLY MASTERED ON THE GULBRANSEN

Listen to the playing of a Gulbransen. Compare it with the average hand playing a hard Gulbransen playing is infinitely more expressive, more artistic.

This is a broad statement, but it points the way for you to play with your own individuality and expression, but with long and tedious study. Remember these facts: First, the Gulbransen is easy to play; second, you do the playing just as you would play any instrument; third, it is the only player-piano with instruction rolls.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor

The General Federation News for November brings word of the opening of headquarters in Los Angeles for the committees of the Local Biennial Board. The convention hall will be the headquarters. Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the General Federation, is now in Los Angeles conferring with the local Board. Mrs. Winter in her monthly message refers to her position as chairman of International Relations, and says: "We are seeing more and more clearly that the whole structure of our civilization is dependent on better international understanding—the doing away of the will to war by creating the spirit of decency, justice, law, brotherhood. If we do not take the long and laborious but imperative steps that lead the way to peace, all other things are likely to be imperilled by a world cataclysm."

Mrs. Philip N. Moore, a former president of the General Federation and president of the National Council of Women, announces the forming of plans for holding the quinquennial convention of the International Council at Washington, D. C., in May, 1923. After attending the Fifty-Year Reunion of her class at Vassar College last June, she went to England, Scotland and Ireland to plan with the officials of the International Council for the coming convention.

"Passing through London," she writes, "three of the International officers were asked by the Council of Great Britain to address audiences, partly through membership, partly upon invitations in drawing rooms, that every one might hear of the plans for the great meeting. Since our organizations in the United States are larger and more national in scope, than any other country, I was asked to present not only the international viewpoint, but the way our Council has endeavored to read this viewpoint into its own national life."

"They know nothing," she continues of such an organization as the General Federation of Women's Clubs and their Association of University Women is purely a social affair."

State Federation

The Fall Meeting at Wellesley Hills on Monday overshadows all other Federation events next week, in fact, the only other one scheduled for the week is a conference for the "Eleventh district at Hudson on Wednesday, November 21st. Here again Mrs. Walter McNab Miller will be a speaker."

Newton delegates to the meeting at Wellesley Hills will do well to arrive there ahead of the official train. The accessibility to Boston will render it a popular meeting place with a consequent large attendance. Those who thought when the Federation met at Allston, that it was so near, one could slip in any time, were disappointed. A word to the wise!

Thirty members of Newton Clubs will take part in the pageant, "Bearers of the Light," to be given by the State Federation at Jordan Hall, Boston, on December 12, at 2 and 8 o'clock. They will appear in the first episode, a scene in King Solomon's court.

The pageant portrays the unfolding of civilization from the creation to the birth of Christ, the great light-bearer, and its development through the centuries to the time when women come into their true position in culture, service, and citizenship, and band together as light bearers of today.

Mrs. George M. Webber, of Bridge-water, state chairman of Literature, the author, and Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, president of the Belmont Woman's Club, is general chairman and stage director, with Miss Marie Ware Loughton, of Boston, as pageant producer.

Tickets for both performances should be obtained from Mrs. F. F. Spaulding, 15 Pleasant street, Everett. Check, and a stamped, addressed envelope must accompany each order.

CHARLEMONT DISTRICT PROTESTS

Objects to Park Taking on Shores of Charles River
Alderman White Insists That Budget be Respected

The Charlemont district near the pumping station at Upper Falls was considerably in evidence at the meeting of the aldermen on Monday, Nov. 5, at which, by the way, every member was present.

The matter came up on the proposal to take part of this district adjoining the Charles river for park purposes in an effort to prevent the pollution of the river from a group of small houses and camps which have recently grown up in that part of the city. The strip to be taken is about 200 feet in width and four houses have already been constructed on the land. The matter comes up on suggestion of the Board of Health which has refused permits to construct cesspools in this area, and in consequence the waste from these houses may constitute a nuisance in the future. At the hearing Alderman Young explained that on account of the location of this district it will take years to reach it by a main sewer and the local board of Health had asked that some action be taken. Conditions, he said had changed since the State Department of Health had given a decision that this district did not affect the water supply of the city. The drought of the summer had been a warning to the city to develop its water supply and already work had begun looking toward an extension down the river from the present wells.

Mr. G. R. Nugent questioned the truth of the need of protecting the water supply, asked the pertinent question, why building permits were refused and suggested that there were other solutions of the problem than taking this land for a park.

Mr. Neil McIntosh said that when the matter came up some time ago he had offered to sell this land for $5500. Since that time, the property had been further developed. He wanted to know the reason for the present action.

Mrs. H. R. Turner called attention to the fact that there were two other parks or playgrounds within a short distance of this property and she could see no need of taking it for park purposes.

Mr. Hartwell saw no need of a park and suggested that the property owners there had bought their land with right of access to the river.

Mr. Blinn said that if there was any protection needed there it was more necessary on the other side of the river.

At another hearing on the Monahan gas filling station on Auburn and Washington streets, James Develly spoke in remonstrance and several letters of protest were read.

Rev. Frederick Palladino favored a sewer in Anita Circle and the matter was favorably acted upon latter in the session.

Hearings were held on underground telephone conduits in Lexington and River streets, Edison conduits in Brook street, Edison poles on Willow street, and on permit to keep gasoline in P. Shrilberg on West street, all of which received favorable action.

Other hearings were held on petitions of Gannon Brothers for a gas filling station on River street, at which no one appeared.

Alderman G. W. Pratt drew the names of Olin F. Chellis, Harvard street, and Frank A. Rivinus, Waltham street, as jurors for the civil session of court at Cambridge. Alderman Hickey drew the names of James W. Gibson, Highland street; Everett T. Ryder, Centre street; Curtis Delano, Harvard street; Martin Gannon, Adella avenue; Henry P. Curtiss, Centre street; and Samuel Longbottom, California street; for jurors for the criminal session of court.

Mayor Childs sent in recommendations for $700 for Drains $6500 for collection of ashes $1540 for continuing use of traffic policemen, $111 for additional stenographer for Police Department, $2000 for widening of Beacon street at Windsor road, $1200 for workmen's compensation, $360 for snow guard on Burr school house, $2433 for various water mains, all of which were granted.

The mayor also recommended $700 for Care of Grounds, $2000 for Department, $2900 for tools, $2800 for stables, $4500 for maintenance of autos, $500 for printing annual reports, and $2161 for grading around the Davis school.

He also sent in a communication from Mrs. Eugene S. Brown relative to a proposed world war memorial at Newton Centre.

The bond of Ralph T. Laffie as a constable was approved.

Petitions of Gaetano Germani for a victualer license, 200 Adams street; Edison attachments on Walker street and Telephone removals on Waverley avenue, were granted. These petitions for private grates were also granted. D. E. Perkins, Waltham street; Darby Glynn, Taft avenue; Nancy H. Hubbard, Lakewood road; R. A. Carleton, Westbourne; Frederick Dewey, Forest street; J. E. Hollis street; T. W. Silliker, Riverdale avenue; S. J. Rogers, Carver road; T. J. Murphy, Oak street; J. L. Connell, Arlington street and Nehemiah Boynton, Jr., Knowles street.

Petitions for private garages from G. & P. Tresca, Jackson street; Mrs. A. E. Lyons, Ransom road; Agnes Graham, Gilbert street and Rose M. Sullivan, Walnut street, were refused. Our petitioners were received from A. L. Whitton, Jr., for taxi cab; Vincent All to transfer second hand dealer license to 249 Centre street, for laying out of Evergreen Circle, laying out of Niles road, for sewer in Commonwealth avenue, sewer in Waban avenue, for abatement of betterment assessment Byfield road, claims of Mrs. Ellen Burke, Margaret A. Foley and J. E. Whitteley, of W. D. Smith for a taxi cab; and for sewer in Centre street.

The board refused to grant sewers in Decatur street, Clarendon street, and Crafts street and Bartlett terrace, and referred to next year the proposed improvements to Hammond brook.

Orders were passed discontinuing the building line on Manet road, authorizing a sewer in Rockland place, widening Grove and Auburn streets, taking land at Chestnut street and Beacon street, authorizing sidewalk on Sumner street, levying assessments on Owatonna street, authorizing sewer in Waban avenue and levying sewer house connection assessments.

Hearings were ordered on various petitions for change of zoning districts and public garages.

It was brought out that it was inexpedient to vote $2161 for grading around the Davis school this year and that report was accepted.

Orders accepting a pension act of 1919, for school janitors and the act of 1923, for pensions for foremen were accepted.

There was considerable discussion over the failure of the Finance committee to take action on a request of the Buildings department for $2000 for maintenance of school buildings.

Alderman White, when questioned said that the budget figure was known last April and it was time that heads of departments and the executive would realize that budgets were budgets and were intended to be lived up to. The Excess and Deficiency account must be saved for emergencies for the rest and the year and departments must curtail.

Acting Commissioner Chadwick when called on said that he had had but three days to prepare his budget last spring and had been assured by members of the board additional money would be available. He had bills for furnace repairs of $600 now in office.

Alderman White said it was not the function of the aldermen to let contracts or exert executive powers but the board desired and expected that the business of the city would be conducted under the budget and that no work should be done unless funds were available. Alderman Pratt said that the Building Department knew last April what money he had available for the entire year and that no emergency had been shown for this additional amount.

The board took its usual committee recess and adjourned at 10.45 P. M.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by
Leverett D. G. Bentley

"Rise, please!" How sweetly and softly does she speak—sometimes. Her faintly apron and cap, her uniform dress, her soft smile and her pocket flashlight. Suddenly they thrust themselves between you and President Coolidge as he greets David Lloyd George or as Thomas Meighan has his big scene with the villain. "Rise, please!" and up you get, push the seat back with your leg muscles, clutch your hat and coat to save them from being swept from your hands and—wait. You miss the smiles which the distinguished statesmen bestow upon each other or the unexpected trick whereby the hero outwits the villain and saves the gal. "Rise, please!" You hasten to accommodate. A big woman, followed by a diminutive escort, who carries the confectionery, milady's wraps and other "props," stumbles by. You look to see if more are coming, but it's over for a moment. Down you sit again. The paper slip containing the announcement of this week's, next week's, and the week-after-next's pictures (they call it a program) is missing. The momentum caused by the last couple has drawn it along in the rush. Your hat is on the floor and one glove has disappeared. But you have had exercise and have been obliging. You have let people scramble over you when they could have been more readily admitted from the opposite aisle without disturbing anybody. "Rise, please," to the cliche who refuses to allow us to be carried away by the illusion of the silver screen.

Another experience, not uncommon. We regret to say, it that which has come to some of us after enjoyment of a good motion picture. Aroused by some extraordinary photography, brilliant pantomiming, (for that in our opinion is the secret of motion picture acting) or the personal magnetism of some of the actors—human or animal—we have sought to tell others of it. As a member of a group discussing the newest photoplays we have attempted to describe something we believed worth while. Happily successful in making ourselves clear we pause, sit back and wait for comments. Usually somebody says, "That must be great; I'd like to see it." Another remarks, "Isn't it wonderful what they can do?" And still another, "I'm sorry I missed that." Confident our little talk has at least entered into the mind of at least one person, we think of it at such a time. But we do not always get away with it. The gathering quite frequently includes a "gloom" and that person allows the others in the room to conclude their observations and then says, with a bored air, "I never go to the movies." In polite circles there is no reply but of complete silence. We are crushed by the superior intelligence of that who has last spoken. Now what should be said at such a time? What we would like to say is this: a good movie is as fruitful a source of pleasure as a good meal, a good story, or a good friend. It can send you out with a glow of satisfaction and a general feeling that what you have seen has made you kinder and happier. We believe in good movies; we believe they should be encouraged. We do not, however, pretend to pick and choose. Of course we are to be lectured a theatre where it is to be assumed the management possesses discrimination and regard for the good taste of its patrons. From that point on we take our chances. If not diverted we do not demand a censor be appointed for somehow we have to believe that there must be good, bad and indifferent movies as there must be good, bad and indifferent people. And furthermore, we realize that not all of us are of the same way of thinking. Although more fond ourselves of the legitimate stage, or spoken word, as it is often called, we strive at the same time to be liberal and to remember for our own good that all is not hollow that comes from Hollywood.

On our last visit to City Hall we wondered why Newton had not more pretentious municipal building for that purpose. The thought has occurred to us that more men might be attracted to public service if there was a structure of imposing character administration was now possible. If it represented Colonial days or some more recent chapter in our history we could see some reason for preserving it and would join in a proper mood of respect for its ancient timbers. But as far as we can see no one has any particular affection for the building as a mere collection of city offices. Never before struck our minds so vividly that it represents a most painful case of upstairs and down. The people employed there must wear out a lot of shoe leather in the course of a year. And think of the drain on their store of physical energy! It reminds me of that old darkey ditty, "Climb up, chillun, climb." It may not be a serious matter when one arrives fresh for work in the morning. At such a moment one can, with ease, scamper up the stairs leading to the front door, but imagine a day of scampering inside; racing from attic to basement and basement to attic on this errand or that. We are certain the stairs must be substantially constructed. We have no idea how much money the city spends on them for rubber matter and brass cleats but we think the sum must be considerable. It may be beneficial, this wealth of muscular exertion, but we doubt it. Citizens with occasional missions can stand it, although we have heard people groan when forced to climb to the aldermanic chamber to attend a public hearing. Speaking in a purely literal sense we believe our city's business should be done more on the level.

In this connection it occurs to us that public hearings before the Board of Aldermen are not such a bad thing after all. Some people may not enjoy the experience, feeling it something of a hardship to be required to go before the city fathers in open meeting. We think this belief may be due to embarrassment. Of course there are always some individuals among the spectators in the aldermanic chamber who are ready to laugh at the first opportunity. The aldermen themselves are always courteous, we are pleased to write, and always, as far as we have been able to observe, attentive, not to say patient. The man or woman who has the courage to speak right out in meetin' may cause a few chuckles, but almost invariably a frank, outspoken expression of one's views will meet approval. There is often applause, which means that the spectators admire the nerve of the speaker. We insist, inviting contradiction, that if more people went to City Hall and freed their minds at public hearings it would be helpful not only to themselves but to the aldermen as well. Every council or city government is expected to be guided by the wishes of a majority. If there is good reason for not doing so it has to be made plain. We recall many hearings—lively, we believe is the correct reportorial adjective—and we always found them a source of interest and enlightenment. It is a form of town meeting, which the best authorities have agreed is as near ideal as can be had, and should not be neglected. Our advice to citizens is: never mind what we have written about the many stairs at City Hall but go there when a matter in which you are vitally interested is under discussion and speak your piece. And, remember, if there should be a sufficient number of "Standing Room Only" hearings it might be found necessary to build a more commodious city hall to accommodate taxpayers and other strangers.

About the time you finish the boast that the screen are all down and stored away comes an imperative demand that the storm windows be cleaned and put in position. One might exclaim, "Hail and farewell," but happily there are even stronger words provided by the English language which more adequately express one's feelings.

Whenever on city election days there is not sufficient public interest to promote a contest let the voters march to the polls while the band plays "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers."

One has only to stand anywhere between here and Oak Square and wait for a Watertown car to learn why the Newton branch of the Elevated is oftentimes called the "Banana Line"—the cars come in bunches.

THRU THE EMPIRE STATE

From Niagara to Manhattan with the National Editorial Association

Sunday was to be a day of rest according to our printed program, but I fear it meant only an opportunity for individual rather than official entertainment, for a large number of our party took advantage of a special trip to Atlantic City while others passed the day at the churches, art museum and other points of interest.

The official program began on Monday morning when the entire party were welcomed to the city by Mayor Hylan. Our progress through the congested traffic of New York streets from the hotel to the City Hall was a unique experience for most of us, as our busses were given the right of way, and we sped through the down town streets without stop or hindrance.

On reaching the council chamber in the old City Hall, the Police department band gave us a concert while awaiting the arrival of Mayor Hylan. He greeted us most cordially and then used our presence to give the New York dailies a severe castigation over our backs.

We quote the following paragraph from his address, which is absolutely true, and applies to all newspapers, large and small:

"It is my conviction that a newspaper is as much a public servant as is he who is elected by the people to protect the public interest. A newspaper, as well as an official, that does not consistently champion the people's cause but prefers or is compelled to espouse the cause of the privileged few has no reason for existence. It is a public menace, containing within itself the seeds of its own decay."

Following his address, the mayor held an informal reception and accompanied the party to the front steps of the city hall, where a group picture was taken, with Hih Honor in the foreground.

We then paid a brief visit to Trinity Church burial ground where the grave of William Bradford, the first printer in New York was decorated with a wreath. This was followed by an interesting address in the church by Rev. W. B. Kinkaid, the senior curate.

A most enjoyable luncheon followed at the top of the Equitable building, some forty stories from the ground. Here, in the luxurious quarters of the Bankers' Club we had a glorious view of the city and incidentally caught a sight of the Leviathan coming up the harbor. At this club we were the guests of Mr. Henry L. Doherty at luncheon and were told something of the myriad financial interests of the firm of which he is the active head.

A visit to the New York Stock Exchange followed, a most interesting sight to many of the editors from west and south, and the talk a little later by President Seymour Cromwell of the Exchange and Mr. Jason West, erfeld, the publicity director, gave a most comprehensive idea of the workings of that famous and often misunderstood institution.

Mr. Cromwell in a short address spoke highly of his associates and of the character of the members of the New York stock exchange and then spoke words of warning against buck shops as places where gains were seldom made and loss was certain and asked the editors to assist in carrying the warning to their readers. He also questioned the advocacy of Blue Sky laws saying they were a serious hindrance and delay to legitimate concerns, while the swindler would work quickly, fleece his victims and get out of the country, leaving four bare bones responsible for the enforcement of the law knew that it had been violated.

Mr. Westfield spoke on the subject of "Wall Street and its Relation to the Public," in which he made a number of apparently sincere statements that may have led people to believe that the men of "Wall Street" as a group are a public menace. He said that the fact is that they have the best interests of the nation at heart, and because there are crooked transactions that cause disaster and are promptly exposed, the great majority of transactions are honest and legitimate and he asserted that logic would prove that whatever affected the nation adversely would reflect itself to the serious detriment of the Stock Exchange. He gave food for thought and a new slant on the matter that would enable his hearers to have a clearer understanding of the attitude of the financial group and permit them to reason out their own conclusions after having a first-hand explanation of the "other side" of the question.

Later in the afternoon we were entertained at the new home of the New York Tribune, where all the latest ideas in the making of a great newspaper were exhibited to our Association.

That evening we attended a concert given by the Philharmonic Orchestra in the open stadium at the College of the City of New York. And thus ended our first day.

ARMISTICE SERVICE

One of the notable observances in this city of Armistice Day was that held Sunday evening at the Centenary M. E. Church at Auburndale. It was a musical service with the in-aid hymn, "America the Beautiful" as the key note.

Appropriate music was rendered by the Asbury Grove Choral Society, organized and led by Rev. Earl E. Harper, pastor of the church, and assisted by Mrs. Clara Lieber Harper, soprano, Mrs. W. M. Hall, organist, Miss Margaret Stiles, pianist, and Mr. Cleon Hopkins, trumpeter.

The most important number on the program was a commemorative poem by Brian Hooker set to music by Horatio Parker.

There was speaking by Lieutenant Mullen, representing General Clarence R. Edwards, William Noone for Newton, A. L., and by Mayor Edwin O. Childs.

Members of Newton Post, American Legion, under Commander Levi Libby and escorting to Auburndale G. A. R. veterans, George M. Fiske and Colonel S. Ober, were guests of the parish.

The services closed with a salute to the flag and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

MORRISON-COX

On Saturday, November 10, Miss Harriet Louise Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac M. Cox of Dalby street, Newton, became the bride of Mr. Neil John Morrison of Manchester, Mass. The ceremony took place at the Emmanuel Baptist Church and was performed by the Rev. Newton A. Merritt, Jr., pastor of the church.

The bride was attended by Mrs. William H. Cady of Newton, matron of honor, and the following, Mrs. Chester Cotton of Newtonville, Mrs. William H. Wood of Wollaston, Mrs. Webster Andrus of Newton, Mrs. Arthur F. Tobey of Newton, and Mrs. J. C. Cox of Cambridge.

The best man was Mr. Abbott Foster and the ushers were Mr. Warren Haskell and Mr. Paul Schlicking of Manchester, Mass.

The bride's gown was of white georgette crepe with white satin girdle, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. The matron of honor wore brown chiffon velvet and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

A reception in the parlors of the church followed the ceremony, the parlors being tastefully decorated for the occasion and lighted with yellow candles.

About one hundred and twenty-five people were present including many from the surrounding suburbs. After a wedding trip to New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Morrison are to make their home in Manchester, Mass.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

Next Sunday at 3.30 there will be a musicale and tea at the Club. The Apollo Male Quartet will sing assisted by Mr. George Brown, cellist, and Miss Marie Chelius Phillips, accompanist.

On Tuesday, November 27, there will be a Thanksgiving Dance.

Keep Open House all day with special bowling tournament and prizes.

Friday, November 30th, the Hunnewell Club will bowl against the Middlesex Sportsman's Association at the Hunnewell Club.

MEN'S CLUB OF WEST NEWTON

The Men's Club of West Newton held its first meeting of the season in the social rooms of the Second Church, West Newton, on Monday evening, under the direction of President William B. Baker.

After an enjoyable supper the annual meeting was held at which President Thomas Weston, Jr., was elected president, Norman W. Bingham, Jr., vice-president, Roland E. Gammons, 2nd, treasurer and Carl E. Peckhardt, secretary, following a humorous report from Mr. Benjamin J. Bowen of the Nominating Committee. The Library committee through Mr. John A. Potter reported that in co-operation with the ladies, the land on Chestnut street, between Washington and Davis streets, some 35,000 square feet had been purchased with the First National Bank and that it would be used for the site of the new Library building and new banking house.

Mr. Maynard Hutchinson and Mr. R. F. Gammons gave annual reports as secretary and treasurer. The community singing was in charge of Mr. Harlan D. Crowell.

Judge Weston on taking the chair appointed the usual committees with these chairman: Membership, Mr. William F. Chase; Library, Mr. Herbert A. Cole; Zoning, Mr. Henry Whitmore; Village, Mr. C. F. Leatherbee.

seemed to be unpopular in many quarters. They had been overthrown in several European countries, and many people in America are calling for a "strong arm" president. Many people seem to think it a very dangerous thing when a thinker is born. It did not seem right to him that the college students should be denied a chance to hear all points of view on the great questions.

Dr. Hopkins spoke of the dangers of propaganda, and spoke of various efforts to rewrite history so as to give impressions favorable to some special element of people or idea. He felt that the troubles of the world must be solved by education and religion working together to produce higher standards of right and wrong. A social hour with serving of refreshments concluded the program.

CENTRAL CHURCH BAZAAR

The parlors of Central Church presented a most attractive appearance on Wednesday and Thursday, when the ladies of the Woman's Association, held their annual bazaar. Mrs. Alfred Vorse was chairman in charge; and Mrs. Austin Decatur had charge of the decorations. The booths were decorated with evergreens and trimmed with yellow chrysanthemums, while yellow streamers completely covered the lights. All of the waitresses and other attendants wore aprons of yellow and fetching headresses of blue and yellow. Gorgeously parrots swung from the booths adding a note of color.

The candy table in charge of Mrs. Donald Hill occupied the centre of the floor and did a rushing business on both days.

Around the sides of the room, were the Fancy Tables, where all kinds of useful and ornamental articles were on sale. This table was in charge of Mrs. Horton Allen and Mrs. Charles Lynde.

Mrs. Gorham Harris had charge of the linen table where household articles found a ready sale. Mrs. J. D. Bennett presided over the Apron Table; Mrs. Spencer Arend over the Children's Table; Mrs. Fred L. Edmonds over the Fruit Table; Mrs. W. G. Wilkins over the Food Table; and Miss Mary Rolfe over the Mystery Table.

Mrs. Gibson and a group of young ladies offered beverages to the thirsty and also on plants and cut flowers, while Miss Eleanor Leighton was most popular with the children to whom she gave surprise packages.

The tea room in charge of the Central Guild with Miss McCortney as chairman, was an alluring spot for both young and old.

To the literary the greatest attraction was the Library in charge of Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden. Here not only the well known classics, but the latest works both fiction and poetry were to be found, as well as charming books for the little ones.

The dinner on Wednesday night, in charge of Mrs. Bachman and her able committee was a great success, as was the cafeteria supper on Thursday evening, in charge of the Central Club.

POLICE PROTECTION

The Executive Committee of the Newton Improvement Association met at the residence of President Arthur W. Blakemore on Tuesday of this week, having as guests, Chief Burke of the Police Department and the Aldermen from Wards 1 and 7.

The situation was thoroughly discussed in view of the recent burglaries in this village and Chief Burke stated that the village was well patrolled as compared with the rest of the City although he needed at least a dozen more men and better motor vehicle transportation. The Chief stated that the village has been remarkably free from crime as compared with neighboring cities. Chief Burke also suggested that householders should notify the police when their houses were to be vacant as all vacant houses had special police examination daily and he thought that, for example, the attack on Judge Weed might not have taken place had the police been aware that the house was vacant. Chief Burke showed how successful the department had been in discovering and apprehending all criminals in this section and that this activity of the police was known to the law-breakers so that they were much less active in Newton than in other cities and he thought that such successful apprehension of criminals was a great protection to the citizens.

The Chief also brought out the fact that the salary paid at present is not sufficient to attract applicants to the police force and it was the judgment of the officers should be raised enough to insure a good grade of officers and that additional officers should be provided to give the City better protection.

It was also the opinion of those present that better street lighting would be a help in preventing crimes of violence.

EVERY-SANDERSON

Much local interest has been shown in the wedding last week Thursday of Miss Virginia Sanderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Sanderson of Parker street, Newton Highlands, and Mr. G. Larcom Avery of Chester street, Newton Highlands. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. H. Mick, grandfather of the bride.

The bridesmaids were Miss Esther Winslow, cousin of the bride, Miss Ruth Furlong, Miss Muriel G. Esty, and Miss Elizabeth Esty.

In the receiving line were the parents of the bride, the mother of the groom, and Mrs. W. L. Mick.

The bride's gown was of white satin crepe trimmed with maltese lace and pearls, that of the maid of honor of light blue satin, and two of the bridesmaids, orchid satin trimmed with tulle, and embroidered with silver, while the other two wore maltese-colored satin, trimmed with tulle and silver.

The bride carried a bouquet of white bridal roses, and the maid of honor and bridesmaids, yellow chrysanthemums. The decorations were of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

A brother and sister of the bride and her cousins were ribbon bearers.

About 250 people were present from Newton and the neighboring towns. After a two weeks' motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. Avery will be "at home" to their friends at 360 Dedham street, Newton Centre.

SEVENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

West Newton Unitarian Church Observes the Day with Reunion, Banquet and Dedication of Its Chancel

The First Unitarian Society of West Newton, observed its seventy fifth anniversary on Saturday and Sunday, with a reunion and banquet on Saturday evening and special services in the morning and evening of Sunday.

A large number of former parishioners were present Saturday evening and after renewing old acquaintances, there was an enjoyable banquet at which Hon. George H. Ellis, was toastmaster.

Addresses were made by Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Eliot, president of the American Unitarian Association and Charles H. Strong, of New York, president of the Unitarian Laymen's League. The following letter was received from Hon. John W. Weeks, secretary of war, and a trustee of the church.

Dear Mr. Whitmore: I find that it will be impossible for me to go to West Newton for the celebration which is to mark the Seventy-fifth Anniversary of our Church. I regret this situation sincerely for I had anticipated having an opportunity to express my views, not only of the church itself and the record it has made under its various pastors, particularly under Mr. Jaynes who served the church during most of my life in West Newton, but also to make some general comments about church connections and church attendance.

I am especially solicitous that that phase, not only of this celebration but in all activities of the church, may be constantly and repeatedly impressed on the people. Whatever may be one's religious views, and however devoted they may be to the affairs of their church and the desire to create a sound religious and moral atmosphere, I am confident they cannot do their best work unless they are at least comparatively regular church attendants. I feel I can say without reservation that I did not get something beneficial out of the service. In all cases, I think there must be some loss in one's usefulness to the community unless one preserves the proper relationship to the church and its activities.

Under Mr. Phalen's leadership and with the splendid facilities offered to the public in West Newton, it seems to me great opportunities are being thrown away if those who have the liberal tendencies which connection with our church implies do not take advantage of their opportunity and become identified with the work of the church.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) JOHN W. WEEKS.

The program Sunday morning included a special musical service under the direction of the church organist, E. Rupert Sircom, the dedication of the chancel which has just been remodeled and an anniversary sermon by the pastor, Rev. Paul S. Phelan.

The chancel now contains the memorial window for the late George L. Lovett, the organ, the gift of the late Arthur E. Luke, the memorial lamps for Mr. and Mrs. George A. Walton, and the lectern for Mrs. Nancy D. Pearson.

In dedicating the chancel, Rev. Mr. Phelan spoke as follows:

It is no more than fair to state for the benefit of any who may not know the facts, how these changes in the Chancel came to be, which are apparent to all familiar with its former arrangement. The plan originated with the Anniversary Committee, at the suggestion of a member of that committee, Mr. Arthur E. Pearson, which, under the indefatigable, resourceful and judicious leadership of its chairman, Mr. Henry Whitmore, has prepared and made complete the joyous celebration of this day.

The committee, in presenting the plan for consideration, had two objects in view. First, the creation of an appropriate and permanent memorial of this great event in the life of our Society. Second, and happily, the fulfillment of the long cherished and known desire of many members of the Society that the Chancel be rearranged in some way to more perfectly harmonize with the architectural design and beauty of the nave itself, and, at the same time, make the Chancel more adaptable and convenient for any and all services of the Church. The plan was confirmed, after due and careful consideration, by the formal action of the Trustees, and the work entrusted to a special and competent committee headed by Mr. William B. Baker with Mr. Arthur E. Pearson and Mr. Alfred T. Haskell, as associates.

It is a privilege, now publicly, to acknowledge and gratefully thank these gentlemen for the painstaking and careful fidelity with which they have accomplished their difficult task and brought this shrine of beauty to its present perfection. It is no less a privilege and a pleasure to recognize with appreciation and the giving of thanks, the many gifts, both great and small, which have made all these changes possible. Then too, there is much more that might be said, and I should rejoice to acknowledge here were it permissible, of certain quiet

EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS

The Citizens of Newton will be afforded an opportunity of becoming acquainted with the status, problems and needs of the Newton Schools at community get-together meeting, to be held in the Bigelow School Hall, Friday evening, November 23rd, at eight o'clock.

Proposed changes in the Bigelow School will be especially considered. Speakers: Francis L. Bacon, Principal of Newton Classical High; Mrs. Kuntz, Physical Director of Newton Schools; Alderman George W. Pratt, Chairman of Finance Committee; U. G. Wheeler, Supt. of Schools.

George M. Angier and Mr. Kent of the School Board will be present. Dr. William Trufant Foster will preside.

You are cordially invited to be present.

NEWTON BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION

A Get-together meeting of the business men of Newton Corner was held at Vernon Court Hotel, Tuesday evening, about fifty being present.

After some discussion a permanent organization was formed and the following officers elected: President, Harold Moore; Vice-President, Robert H. Evans; Treasurer, Henry K. Rollins; Secretary, W. L. Sampson.

The annual dues were fixed at two dollars.

The sentiment of the meeting seemed to be that a local organization could handle the minor problems that arise in this village and by working in strict harmony with the Chamber of Commerce leave them free to take care of the larger ones.

Y. W. C. A.

At the membership meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association to be held on Tuesday evening at 7.30 in the association rooms, a two-year budget amounting to $8,000 for the first year and $10,000 for the second year will be presented to the membership for acceptance. The question of a transfer from the Town to the City Departments of the National organization will also be considered.

The meeting will be followed by an entertainment consisting of monologues by Mrs. Chauncey Parrett, solos by Mrs. John Lankenau and various club and Y. W. songs by the girls themselves. Refreshments will be served by the Girl Reserves in uniform.

A special Thanksgiving Dance will be held on Saturday evening, November 24th. These bi-monthly dances are open to all members over sixteen years old and their friends.

Regular swimming parties will leave the Y on Friday evenings at 7.30 for the Brookline Municipal tanks. The leader is Miss Hazel Beckwith.

CITIZENS' MEETING

A citizens' meeting attended by a representative group of parents and pupils was held in the Technical High School on Thursday evening as a part of American Education Week.

Mr. Irving O. Palmer told of the origin of American Education Week and of its observance throughout the country. Mr. Ulysses G. Wheeler then took charge of the meeting, introducing the various speakers.

The first of these was Mayor Childs who spoke of the three principles involved in education as the social, vocational, and cultural, and paid a tribute to the teachers of the schools.

Following him came Mr. Rupert C. Thompson, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce. After describing the different divisions of the Chamber of Commerce and their purposes he said that the Newton Chamber of Commerce stood ready to give the people of Newton the kind of schools they wanted, and that in so doing their primary object would be to consider the community as a whole.

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs was to have been represented by Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, president of the Federation, but, owing to the loss of her voice her paper was read by Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. Henry said that the women of Newton were particularly interested in two things, the condition of the Classical High School, and the principles of the Junior High School. She criticized the overcrowding of the Classical High School, its lack of facilities for proper physical exercise, and the conditions in the lunch room. She also emphasized the parents' part in seeing that home work is properly done, and in providing proper food for their children at home.

The Junior High School, she said, was one of the most forward steps ever taken in Newton. The underlying principle is to provide different types of education suited to the individual child, beginning with the 7th grade rather than the 9th. This type of school demands special equipment, and specially trained teachers. She sounded a note of warning in regard to the Bigelow School which is now being built, begging that great care be taken that it have adequate facilities for its work.

In conclusion, she said that the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs has been giving scholarships for deserving students to enable them to continue their education, and that it stands ready at all times to cooperate with other organizations.

The fourth speaker, Col. C. Sinclair Weeks, Past Commander of the American Legion, Newton Post 48, told of the part played by the American Legion in the establishing of Education Week, and emphasized the value of Americanization work.

CHARTER NIGHT

The Rotary Club of Newton, organized last spring, received its charter as a member of Rotary International at the Woodland Golf Club on Tuesday night. The presentation of a charter to a Rotary Club is always an interesting function and the Newton Club was honored by a large delegation of visiting Rotarians from surrounding clubs and over 350 sat down to the dinner which was served at 7 P. M.

It was a gala affair, with beautifully decorated hall and tables, the excellent menu, being enlivened throughout the service with Rotary songs under the direction of Arthur LeBaron and by the frequent use of noisy favors by every guest.

The exercises began, as all Rotary programs begin, with the singing of America, after which the invocation was asked by Rev. Charles H. Moss of Malden.

President William T. Halliday was the toastmaster and opened the formal speaking with an account of the organization of the Club.

This was followed by a roll call of the clubs present, Newton leading off with 80 members and guests and Boston second with 62.

An innovation in the method of presenting the speakers was inaugurated by President Bill, each speaker being introduced by the Newton members singing a parody on popular songs. Mayor Childs who gave the address of welcome, was presented with the familiar and (in his case) most appropriate "Hail, hail the Gangs all here."

District Governor Daniel F. Sullivan heard an adaptation of "Harrigan" and the others were of a similar nature. Mayor Childs said that the original name for Newton was Nonantum and meant a place of rejoicing and signifies brotherly love. The banding together of the business men of the city in a spirit of good will means much to the future of the city and indicates

CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

Representative J. C. Brimblecom Will Oppose Re-election of Present Mayor Who Has Held the Office for Ten Years

On account of the reluctance of able and popular men who fear possible defeat to oppose the continuance in office of the present mayor, now completing ten years in office, and in order to give an opportunity for a large number of Newton voters to express themselves on the issue that "ten years is long enough—It is time to change," Representative J. C. Brimblecom for 23 years the editor of the Newton Graphic, has taken out nomination papers and will be a candidate for mayor at the coming election on Tuesday, December 11.

Mr. Brimblecom will ask support solely on the ground that the best interests of the city demand a change in the office of mayor. If elected, he will not be a candidate for re-election in 1925, and, of course, if elected, will resign his present office as one of the Representatives to the Legislature from Newton.

Mr. Brimblecom, has been connected with City Hall for over 25 years and served under 14 different mayors. He is the author of the articles now running in the Newton Graphic on "How Newton is Governed."

Nomination papers can be signed at the Office of the Newton Graphic, 8 Centre place, Newton, until Wednesday morning, November 28th, or if name and address are telephoned the Graphic office, Newton North 0018 and 4354, papers will be sent for signature.

FEDERATION OF CHURCHES

A very interesting meeting composed of the members of the Federation of churches was held in the First Church, Newton Centre, on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. George L. Parker, president of the Federation, presiding.

The speaker of the occasion was Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, and her subject was Prohibition.

Mrs. Peabody spoke with regret of the openly defiant attitude of so many in regard to the prohibition amendment, and gave Beverly as example of the fact that the law could be enforced.

Speaking of her recent trip to England, she said she was impressed while there with the fact that we in America are so much better off than in England where the open saloon is a menace to the youth of the country.

New York, New Jersey, and Massachusetts of the northern states are the worst offenders in the matter of prohibition. There are now forty-four wet organizations in the country whose aim is to bring back wine and beer. Almost every paper contains propaganda designed to prevent law enforcement of the prohibition law.

Mrs. Peabody appealed to ten affiliated women's club of the country, and to each individual woman to help in every way possible to destroy these two greatest menaces to human life, war and liquor. The present situation is a critical one and is a challenge to the thinking men and women of the country.

The automobile situation alone demands prohibition, hundreds of lives being daily endangered by the use of liquor.

In conclusion, she made a plea for the little pamphlet called "Save America" which gives in clear, concise form information in regard to the present situation.

Following the address, tea was served in the parlors of the First Church, Mrs. Abraham Polhemus and Mrs. Cyrus Chapin pouring.

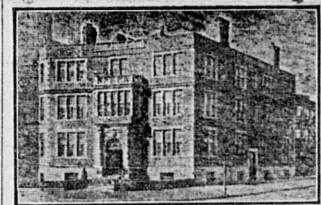

IS NEWTON A CITY

That is what the membership of the local Young Women's Christian Association must decide at its big all-membership meeting to be held next Tuesday evening.

It seems that when the Newton association was started a little more than a year ago, the national organizers looked about that section sometimes called "Newton Corner," dubbed it a very beautiful little town and filed it away in its Town Department.

Now the Y girls are saying, "Us—a town—I should say not. Why look at all the territory that is served by our Y. W. C. A. not only the Newtons, but Watertown, Wellesley, Waltham and Brighton girls are coming in great and greater numbers. So please, dear National Board, just pass our records over to the City Department, and we will see that our influence extends to the furthest bound of all the Newtons, and farther too."

but very firm encouragement of the whole affair.

Now let me add that the changes in the church and in the service as it is now, indicate no fundamental or contemplated change in the character of this Church or its worship. All has been designed to conform with that law of order and of beauty which is basic in the universe and with the thought that the worship of God is entirely and properly to partake of all elements which appeal to the human heart and mind and soul, and which help the worshiper to recognize and to love all that is good and true and beautiful. "These values are essential to religion." Therefore, the worshiper ought rather to be helped than to be hindered by surroundings and by service, calculated so far as possible, to appeal to the whole man and to promote the spirit of reverence and entire devotion to the worship and the service of God.

With this in mind, it is now my happy function to act with and for you by setting apart this place in commemoration of the Seventy-fifth anniversary of our Society and by dedicating this Chancel to the worship of God and the service of men as we shall be led by the spirit of the teachings of our Master and such new light as may from time to time break forth out of our experience with the tests of life and the discoveries of the human soul in its search for God. As we perform this act of commemoration and dedication, let us be mindful of that cloud of witnesses, our spiritual fathers, who laid the foundations of this Society and have given into our hands the torch of their faith and consecration with which to kindle anew the living and the sacred flame of a like loyalty and devotion.

Wherefore, that all may know, and they who come after us may know the reason for these changes, there has been thoughtfully and graciously given by Mr. Arthur Emmons Pearson, a carved and illuminated tablet, which has been placed here at my right hand, which reads: "This Chancel Rebuilt and Enlarged in Commemoration of the Seventy-Fifth Anniversary of the Organization of the First Unitarian Society in Newton and Dedicated on the Eighteenth Day of November, in the Year of Our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-Three."

Then followed the Prayer of Dedication: O Lord, our God and God of our fathers, we give Thee hearty thanks for the re-creation and beautifying of this place, made possible by many gifts and loving service, and dedicated unto Thee.

Grant that this Chancel may ever be the effective meeting-place between Thy Spirit and ourselves and all who worship here, and that whenever we come before it, we may with one accord be reminded, and so be strengthened, of the record of the past, and of our ever present obligation to be worthy of the trust laid in our hands.

In his sermon Mr. Phalen paid the following tributes to his predecessors, the Rev. Francis Tiffany and the Rev. Julian C. Jaynes.

The few, who on the 22nd, of November, 1848, ordained the first minister, the Reverend William Orne White, whose daughter, Eliza Orne White, is here with us today, would be amazed, could they all be here, at the growth of their small beginning. The little church, our first house of worship, dedicated in November, 1860, almost disappeared from view as successive additions made during the ministry of the beloved Francis Tiffany, the ninth minister of the church, gave space to accommodate the growing congregation.

Of Mr. Tiffany, who served the Society for almost sixteen, faithful, gracious years in all and retired when failing health forbade continued service, it may be said in truth, as he himself wrote but of course, in another connection; "he left a fine aroma of grace and courtesy, of sweetness and light, of high strung, sensitive honor, of devout submission and up soaring faith."

And now we enter upon that period in our history with which many of you are far more familiar than I. You have lived through it. You do not need to be told or turn to books of reference. It is described with a careful and a graceful hand in the Sketch (of the Society by Mr. Lawrence Shaw Mayo) as the golden Age of our Society, when, with the impetus of the past and the advent of the marvellous preacher, Julian Clifford Jaynes with Helen Haynes, his wife, that extraordinary and gracious complement of the brilliant husband, the Society over-ran its bounds in spite of further additions built upon the foundations of the little old meeting-house of 1860.

So you came here, into this beautiful new house of worship with which the name of that great soul of all the enterprise, Edwin B. Haskell, is to be perpetually linked with that of his vigilant and sagacious co-laborer, Josiah E. Bacon and those of his associates, in 1906, and with you Mr. and Mrs. Jaynes. He, to round out in this place his remarkable ministry of almost thirty-seven years with this, his only church, declining many invitations elsewhere. And she, to carry on her loving work, until tired hands gave up their radiant touch, to sweet bells, which chimed aloft, and over all his hills sent messages to all, as living she gave up here below.

In the evening a Community service was held the spirit of which was beautifully illustrated by the last stanza of a hymn written for the occasion by the Rev. Seth Curtis Beach of Watertown:

"Tis not of stone the church is built, However finely cut or laid: Where heart meets heart in service high,

"Tis there the church of God is made." The speaker of the occasion was the Rev. Professor William W. Fenn, D. D., of Harvard University. Dr. Fenn's theme was the "Evolution of Religious Thought in the last Seventy-Five Years."

He began by telling of the uneasiness which those interested in Harvard University felt seventy years ago

lest Baptists Quakers or denominationalists should gain an influence in the church and in the service as it is now, indicate no fundamental or contemplated change in the character of this Church or its worship. All has been designed to conform with that law of order and of beauty which is basic in the universe and with the thought that the worship of God is entirely and properly to partake of all elements which appeal to the human heart and mind and soul, and which help the worshiper to recognize and to love all that is good and true and beautiful. "These values are essential to religion." Therefore, the worshiper ought rather to be helped than to be hindered by surroundings and by service, calculated so far as possible, to appeal to the whole man and to promote the spirit of reverence and entire devotion to the worship and the service of God.

The second change is the change in attitude towards religion in general. A generation ago religion was taken for granted, and there was a hopeful optimism. At present there is an attitude of fearful apprehension both in this country and in Europe, a questioning of all kinds of religious belief. Our moral development has not kept pace with our material development. Thoughtful men and women are troubled for the future. Human brotherhood is an economic fact, but human brotherliness is still to be accomplished.

Lastly there is at present a wistful longing for religion on the part of a large number of people which is almost a thirst for God. Slowly the world is beginning to realize the fulfillment of hatred, anger, and revenge, and to turn towards Christianity as essential to the welfare of humanity. Perhaps, they are thinking, Christ is right after all, and his way of life the only true way.

The following ministers from other churches took part in the service: Rev. Addison Moore, D. D. of Chestnut Hill; Rev. Fred W. Peakes and the Rev. J. Edgar Park of West Newton, and the Rev. George L. Parker of Newton Center, and the Rev. Chester A. Drummond of Newton.

Paul S. Phalen the pastor was in charge of the service.

The committee in charge of the anniversary was composed of Henry Whitmore, chairman; Miss Emma M. Newhall, secretary; Mrs. Elmy Peabody and Messrs. Josiah E. Bacon, Arthur E. Pearson, Sumner Robinson, Lawrence Mayo, Lawrence Shaw Mayo, David W. Charles E. Hatfield and Henry P. Talbot.

The alterations in the chancel were supervised by a special committee consisting of Messrs. William B. Baker, chairman; Arthur E. Pearson and Alfred T. Haskell, appointed by the Trustees of the Society.

The first meetings for worship by the Unitarians of Newton were held in the old brick hotel on Washington street, West Newton, in 1844. In 1847, the meetings which had been discontinued for some time were resumed in Village Hall on the corner of Washington and Waltham streets, and in 1848, the society was organized.

The first church was built in 1860, on Washington street, West Newton. It was enlarged in 1868, the tower and Sunday School room were built in 1879, and a still further enlargement was made in 1887. In 1905-06, the society built its present handsome edifice at the corner of Washington and Highland streets, the corner stone being laid September 17, 1905, and the dedication service held on October 14, 1906.

NORUMBEGA SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Another year has had its course and the Sunday School "friends" again gather their battalions together to sit in council concerning their work. On November 30 and December 1 and 2, the Young People's Council of the Norumbega Sunday School Association will hold its third annual Young People's Conference in Eliot Church, Newton, under the supervision of Mr. Herbert C. Mayer of the Boston University School of Religion Education where he is a professor. In previous years these gatherings have been very successful and this third one promises to be the most useful of them all. It is a gathering of persons between the ages of sixteen and twenty-two, and is promoted by the young people themselves. It is an opportunity for them to get ideas, and not merely ideas but a knowledge of how to put them into action.

This conference, we learn, is not just a great cramming spot for information, but a place where those who are lucky enough to go can have their laugh and fun too. The banquet on Saturday night is the outstanding social and "hash-eating" event of the convention. The teachers and instructors are men and women of wide experience and recognized leadership. Among them may be named: Mr. Sterling Williams of Missouri, Mrs. Mary Russell and Prof. J. P. Berkeley of Newton Centre. Each school is allowed ten delegates, a thing which has caused unremitting furor in many places since more than ten insist upon going. Present returns indicate more schools participating and a much larger attendance than last year.

Y. M. C. A.

The fourth annual free Learn-to-swim campaign conducted by the Y. M. C. A. last week proved very successful.

Out of 145 boys enrolled nearly one hundred passed the swimmer's test during the week. Five classes were conducted daily with an average daily attendance of 102, and a total of 519 boys in the pool during the week.

Jack Manning of the Humane Society of Massachusetts gave the instruction and his efforts and results were very satisfactory.

The co-operation given by the schools and doctors was greatly appreciated by the Y. M. C. A. At the close of the campaign the water was drained out and the pool scrubbed and cleaned with acid, after which it was refilled with clear, sparkling water, and heated to a comfortable temperature and is now open for general use by the members of the "Y."

RACHEL SEWALL MARIONETTES

Miss Rachel Sewall of Washington, D. C., who for a number of years was with Tony Sarg and Lillian Owen, is now presenting with her own company an individualistic and ingenious series of artistic Marionette performances that meet with keen appreciation and high approbation. After attending a performance, President Morgan of Antioch College wrote to Miss Sewall: "Your Marionette show was a surprise to me. The humorous parts were finely given, but I was most impressed with the representation of the Greek theatre. There was a dignity, simplicity and fitness which was almost new to me, a theatre experience about your effort." The scenes from Sophocles' Antigone, referred to by President Morgan, will be given among other numbers at the evening performance in Waltham.

The morning performance in Steinert Hall, December 1st, and the afternoon performance in the Waltham High School Auditorium, December 3rd, are mainly adapted for children.

MUNICIPAL POLITICS

As the time limit draws nearer for filing nominations for offices to be filled at the coming city election, there is a little more interest manifested. Ward 1 has done nothing as yet towards selecting a new member of the school committee but has named Aldermen Earle and Madden for reelection. Ward 2 has a contest over alderman at large as Alderman Grebenstein has decided to seek a reelection and Mr. Horace M. Walton has friends urging him for that office. For ward alderman, Daniel O'Connell will try for a reelection and there is some talk of Mr. Fred Woodcock opposing him. Ward 3 will have a contest for both alderman at large and ward alderman with Alderman Smith being opposed by Mr. William B. Baker for the two year term and Alderman McCarthy and Richard Leahy opposing each other for the ward vacancy, with a hill candidate being possible at the last minute. Ward 4 is the scene of the hottest fight with Alderman Ross running for reelection at large with John H. Gordon opposing him, and with hints that other candidates may get into the field, and Albert L. Cole, William Noone and Perle E. Crosby mentioned for ward alderman and some possibility of others for this office also. Alderman White will stand for reelection in ward 5 and Alderman Hollis for another term from ward 7, both of these gentlemen evidently seeking the limelight as possible successors to the political mantle of His Honor the Mayor.

Horace Mann School

The children of our school are showing added interest and enthusiasm in their work. They have drawings, penmanship and composition papers and health posters displayed on the walls of the rooms and corridors. Visitors are being welcomed. Much emphasis is being placed upon healthy living. The fifth and sixth grades entertained each other in the hall with health plays and songs on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Larrabee's class presented "The Queen of Foods," and Miss Chase's "Bobby Bright's Dream." Several health songs were on the program. Two of them were written by sixth grade pupils, Mary Foss and Alfred Lapham. They selected the suitable music of a familiar song and the whole class sang the songs. These activities should impress them more forcibly with the value of proper food, fresh air, exercise, cleanliness and sleep.

Milk lunches are being served to 69 per cent of the children in the school. Both fourth grades have 74 per cent of the class taking them. For the two previous weeks the first grade was leading with 85 and 87 per cent and it would be gratifying to have the other grades make as good a record or a better one.

There has been $378.34 sent from the school to the bank this year. The largest amounts have been saved by the pupils of Mrs. Adams, Miss Teale, Miss Baker and Miss Chase. Our newest depositors are Fred and Alfred Mouser, Helen Bray, Helen Baker, Margaret Jordan, Doris Darby, Donald Ross, William Morrill, Barbara Wilson, Carolyn Bassett, Louise Rood, Barbara Alexander, Barbara Webster, Miriam Hanscom, Frank Robinson and Willis Foss.

The per cent of attendance for the month of October was 96.6 and Miss Teale's class had the highest which was 98.3 per cent.

At the Adams School it was 91.3 per cent and Miss Melzard's class had the highest which was 97 per cent.

NONANTUM POSTAL SERVICE

The demand of Nonantum residents for improved postal facilities has apparently been met to the satisfaction of all through the opening of a new sub-station which will offer increased facilities to those who necessarily rely upon a local station for postal service. Alexander Fox, proprietor of the Fox Pharmacy at 334 Watertown street, has accepted requests of his fellow merchants, and residents generally of that section, and has assumed the management of the Nonantum station, thus restoring the service which the people of the district have been deprived of since the former station was discontinued with the sale of the news and variety store of James H. Kenslea, directly across the street.

While it is not in accord with the general policy of the Post Office Department to consider an increase in the number of postal stations in any of the large postal districts, the need for improved service in this part of Newton was such that the request of local business men and the Chamber was given very careful consideration when the entire situation was adjusted to the apparent satisfaction of everyone through the decision of Mr. Fox to permit the location of the sub-station in his store and to take over its management.

The Chamber of Commerce has taken up with the postal authorities the matter of an increased allowance for the Nonantum sub-station, thus enabling the station to have on hand a larger supply of stamps and other supplies at all times. An effort is also being made to facilitate the handling of parcel post matter, the service previously rendered being of a type which exerted no little influence upon the desires of the station patrons for a full-fledged station, and the service that goes with it.

The delivery of mail in the Nonantum district is handled from the postal station at Newton and is believed to be generally satisfactory. Those who joined in the demand for better facilities and improvement in service had but little to offer in the way of criticism of the delivery service, but were chiefly interested in being placed in a position where they could purchase more than a few dollars worth of postage stamps at a time, without waiting for the filling of an order; in being able to purchase other postal supplies at any time, and in desired quantities; and in being assured that their parcel post shipments, either large or small, would be handled as satisfactorily and its delivery facilitated in the same manner as in the other villages of the city. Under the attention and direction of Mr. Fox, with an increased allowance made available, the Nonantum postal problem promises to be solved in a manner which will be eminently satisfactory to everyone concerned.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

All the members of the board of aldermen were present at the regular meeting on Monday night.

Hearings were held on an Edison pole on Hammond street, telephone conduits in Commonwealth avenue, Ward 6, on petition of A. T. Busby Company to keep gasoline at 67 Court street, the Newton Centre garage to sell gasoline at 792 Beacon street, and of S. M. Morrell for a 3 car garage on Lotthrop street, all of which were granted, the last one after Mr. Morrell had explained the situation.

No one appeared on petition of Francis Babin for a 3 car garage on Watertown street, M. S. Buckley to enlarge building on Jackson street, Thomas F. Hughes to enlarge building at 199 Commonwealth avenue for a garage, and on the proposed widening of Beacon and Chestnut streets, the widening of Sumner and Gibbs streets, and of proposed sewer in Rockland place.

There was some discussion on the discontinuance of the building line on Manet road, Messrs. Davidson, Daley, Stuart and Emmons favoring the discontinuance with some doubt as to what might happen after the building line had been removed. It was finally passed by discontinuing the line only on the east side of the street.

Mr. H. W. Knowlton favored and C. E. Houghton opposed the proposed widening of the corner of Grove and Auburn streets, and the order was subsequently passed.

The hearing on petition of Margaret V. Fogwill to enlarge building on Crescent street, was postponed until December 3rd.

Mayor Childs sent in requests for $6500 for Water Department, Laborers Pensions $311, settlement of expense of Police Officer T. H. McCormick or $11, all of which were approved.

He also sent in recommendations of $8500 for a new police ambulance, $3000 for Maintenance of School Buildings (over which there was so much discussion at the previous meeting) and a few other small appropriations. He also sent in the recommendation of the School Committee that there was need of additional school accommodations in the Bigelow school district and favoring a Junior High School.

Street Commissioner Stuart reported work completed on Cummings road, for $523.70, Kenmore street, $1008.64, Garden road, $2807.35, and sidewalk on Linwood avenue costing $3514.79.

Alderman Ross argued for an informal hearing on a proposed ordinance making part of Grove street a one way street and limiting loads over it to not over 2 tons. This was opposed by Alderman Heathcote and after a sharp debate, the board refused to grant the hearing at that time.

Petitions of John A. McCarthy for a 4th class liquor license at 1093 Watertown street, Michael F. McHugh for an express license, M. D. Rodney for an intelligence office, Mrs. F. J. Kibbie for a victualler license, various attachments for the telephone company, Vincent Ali for a second hand license at 249 Centre street on condition he keep his goods inside the building, W. D. Smith for a taxi license, and numerous garage permits were granted.

Petitions were received for sewer in Montvale road, and Newton street, and for the laying out of Nathan and Ransom roads.

J. W. Gibson petitioned for reconsideration of his petition for enlargement of building on Walnut street.

Leave to withdraw was granted on petitions for abatement of assessments on Byfield road, for the laying out of Niles road and on claims of Mary R. McCarthy, Charles K. Badger, William Filene's Co., Leo Brasco, on petition to change zoning districts on Rowe street and petition of F. H. Meacham for garage permit on Hale street.

Orders were passed for sewers in Commonwealth avenue, Montvale road and Centre street, to settle claims of Mary J. Morrison, John E. Whittlesey and Henry J. Cooper for various sewer house connection assessments, for changing zoning district at Lewis terrace to residential district, instead of manufacturing, for hearing on proposed building line on Lewis terrace, and for hearing on sewer in Clarendon street.

Alderman Ross stated that the Boston Elevated desired to take down the present unsightly buildings at Lake street and to erect a brick and permanent station on the north side of the avenue, if an additional track into the so-called "loop" was granted to them. Mr. Ross urged immediate action but Alderman White thought no harm would be done to allow the matter to lay over and a hearing was then assigned on the matter for Dec. 17th.

A hearing was assigned on the proposed Grove street traffic ordinance for December 3rd.

On motion of Alderman Collins a committee of three was authorized to confer with the school Committee on the necessity for more school accommodations at the High School. Aldermen G. W. Pratt, Collins and Pitts being appointed.

The usual ten minute recess lasting for over an hour was taken and the board adjourned at 10.30.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

A very successful musicale and tea was held at the Hunnewell club on Sunday afternoon. Music was furnished by the well-known Apollo Male Quartet assisted by Mr. George Brown, violinist; and Miss Marie Chellius, pianist; and Miss Hazel Mack, G. Glines. Those who poured at the tea which followed the concert were Mrs. Philip S. Jamieson, Miss Edith Jamieson, Mrs. Joe N. Garrity, and Mrs. Carl J. Thornquist.

MEADOWVIEW CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The monthly meeting of the Meadowview Club was held at the home of Mr. Arthur O. Baker, 93 Harvard street, Monday evening. The following officers were elected:—Mr. Thomas F. Conside, President; Mr. Thomas L. Ryan, Treasurer and Mr. George A. Kinchla, Secretary.

PREDICTS A NEWTON VICTORY

Football Squad of Newton High School, (for it is to you, through the courtesy of the Graphic, that this communication is addressed you are asked a question: Would you feel more confident of usually thrashing Waltham if you knew that a man whose predictions virtually never fail has picked you to do so?

That is precisely what this man has done. He is Mr. J. Marshall of this city, well known to many local followers of sport and to your coach, Mr. Dickinson. (His name, by the way, is not Marshall, but he is very not to broadcast his identity.) He has keenly followed the sports of Newton, and of other high schools, for twelve years. He was formerly a reporter of high school athletics, and has also been successful as a dramatist. It is undoubtedly his ability to analyze the psychology of men and of groups of men under given conditions which has enabled him to make during the past four years a record of correct predictions unparalleled in scholastic circles.

These statements are not fiction, but cold facts, which Coach Dickinson could readily verify if he were willing. Many times Mr. J. Marshall and Mr. Dickinson have had friendly disagreements regarding the results of coming games; and invariably Mr. J. Marshall has been the winner. In 1919, after Everett had overwhelmed a weak Newton football team by 41 to 6, and after a powerful Cambridge aggregation had in turn defeated Everett, Mr. J. Marshall made the amazing forecast that Newton would overturn Cambridge on Thanksgiving Day. Newton won, as we all remember. He predicted every triumph of Bob Garrett's team the next year, and finally foretold their one unfortunate reverse at Haverhill. He said Cambridge would win twenty-one straight league baseball games in 1921, and they did. He picked Newton's baseball team to be champion the following season, and made that prophecy early in the winter.

On the tenth of November last year, he made the daring forecast that Newton would upset the strong Malden eleven, which was then leading the league, but that they would be defeated by Lowery of Waltham, and could not win from Brookline. These ventures he made in the presence of Mr. Dickinson; and all three duly became actualities. "Ham" Oakes, by racing seventy yards on an intercepted forward, snatched victory from Malden. Lowery overcame Newton, and Brookline played a scoreless tie. This year Mr. J. Marshall outguessed Mr. Dickinson in regard to the Malden-Haverhill battle, and also foretold that Newton would not be trampled under Malden. On no less than eight occasions during these four years he has guessed the exact scores of coming games: four times in football, twice in baseball, and twice in scholastic hockey. He predicts a victory over Waltham by the score of 13 to 0.

Mr. J. Marshall has made just three serious mistakes during our whole football seasons of predicting. It is a rather impressive record; and every word of it is true. It shows that he plays the winning hunch with astonishing accuracy. But the point for you to notice, Newton Squad, is that this same man has foretold a thrilling triumph over Waltham tomorrow afternoon. Get into the game, boys!—get in with the realization that there is no player in Waltham capable of stopping you or of scoring upon you—and you will find success at last within your grasp.

PIPER-MILLER

On Tuesday evening Miss Grace Emma Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Miller of Chestnut street, Waban, became the bride of Dr. James R. Piper of Boston. The wedding took place at Union Church, Dr. Charles H. Cutler, assisted by Rev. Eugene Rodman Shippen of Boston officiated.

Miss Marion F. Miller, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and the best man was Dr. Frank Piper, cousin of the groom. Miss Leah Althea Andrews of Springfield was the flower girl.

The ushers were Mr. Walter W. Simmons of Brookline, Mr. Lloyd W. Miller of Medford, Mr. Alden W. Miller of Medford and Dr. Charles M. Marden of Mansfield.

The bride's gown was of French bridal satin and Brussels lace, with a veil of Brussels net, and she carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

The gown of the maid of honor was of peach colored brocaded chiffon trimmed with ermine, and her bouquet was of butterfly roses, sweet fern, and orchids. The flower girl wore an accordion pleated turquoise blue georgette embroidered with forget-me-nots, and carried a basket of roses.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony at the church, the parents of the bride, sister of the groom, best man and maid of honor assisting the bride couple. The house was tastefully decorated for occasion with Southern smilax and chrysanthemums.

After a wedding trip until April 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Piper will make their home in Dover, Mass.

The bride is a graduate of Smith College, and the groom of Tufts College.

CITY RECEIVES $48,267.85

The annual balancing of accounts between the state and city treasury took place and City Treasurer Newhall has received the handsome sum of $48,267.85, from State Treasurer Jackson.

This is particularly creditable as the city last approximately $100,000 on account of the recent difficulty over the national bank tax.

The city owed the state for state taxes, metropolitan and other taxes the sum of $392,224.18. On the other side, the state pays the city over $52,000 for public service and business corporation taxes, over $249,000 for income tax and $66,000 plus for income tax for schools; the national bank tax is over $30,000 (as against $130,000 last year). These total $440,492.03, leaving a balance as above stated of $48,267.85.

RINDGE DEFEATS NEWTON

Ever since those championship Newton football teams in 1920 and 1921, the Suburban League has been out to defeat Newton. Thus far in the season almost every team has been able to do it. Last Saturday Rindge Technical High of Cambridge turned the trick on Russell Field when they pushed across two touchdowns and limited Newton to but one.

From the Newton standpoint the game was terrible; from the Rindge point of view it was everything that could be desired. In the first half both teams lacked the drive to score. It was a slow, listless exhibition of football, yet the second half uncovered a new and better brand.

It was a wide awake Rindge team that came on the field at the beginning of the second half. They had more snap, more pep, and more drive. McCoy received Dewing's kickoff on the eighteen yard line and ran it back to the thirty-seven yard stripe before he was downed. The team lined up quickly, the signals were called, and McCoy made ten yards and a first down through the Newton left tackle. Johnson, the Rindge quarterback, was quick to see a weakness in the Newton line and equally quick to take advantage of it. The Rindge backs hammered through the hole for three and five yards at a crack. Another first down was made—and in their anxiety to stop the line backs from gaining, the Newton secondary defense crept up toward the line of scrimmage. Here was another opportunity which Johnson was quick to see. A forward pass was completed immediately, and the ball rested on the Newton twenty-eight yard line. Rindge was now in a scoring position, and they had the drive to put the ball across. Towards the last the Newton line tightened, but Johnson finally went across for a touchdown, and McCoy kicked a placement goal.

The second Rindge touchdown came about four minutes later. Newton received the kickoff, could not gain consistently, and punted the ball to the middle of the field. Smith gained three yards off tackle, and then McCoy skirted the Newton left end for fifty yards and a touchdown.

Then, and not until then, did the Newton team really wake up. Esty carried the ball on the kickoff to the thirty yard line, O'Donnell made five yards, Esty made ten, MacQuiston made twelve more, and the ball was advancing steadily up the field. Newton made another first down, King bucked out six yards, only to have the Rindge defense tighten. They captured the ball on downs but were forced to punt immediately. On the second play King heaved a beautiful pass to Sullivan who picked it neatly from the tips of Johnson's outstretched fingers and ran for a touchdown. O'Donnell kicked the goal.

For the rest of the game Newton fought fiercely to score. But the fight, as usual, has arrived too late to win the game. Forward upon forward was completed. Sullivan seemed to be free on almost every pass and King was quick to take advantage of it. Yet it was all to no avail and the game ended with the ball resting on Rindge's thirty-yard line.

Members and guests partook of a well served supper after which Timothy O'Connell, President of the Club, stepped forward and introduced the following speakers, all of whom spoke in glowing terms of the late Mr. Murray. Messrs. M. J. Cunniff and W. H. Thomas of Watertown, J. J. Herlihy, Richard Lyons, and E. J. Burke of Newton, and "Squire" McGaffigan of Waltham.

Mr. Burke, who was an intimate friend of Mr. Murray, told of his good work as a member of the club, and of his high standing as a business man of the Garden City.

He pointed out in strong terms how a man could be true to the land of his birth, and at the same time fulfill every obligation imposed upon the best type of American citizen, as represented by Mr. Murray.

50TH ANNIVERSARY

Sunday, December 2nd, will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the use of the present Grace Church as a house of worship. The present stone church took the place of a wooden building which occupied the corner of Washington and Hovey streets. The first service in the new church was held on Sunday, November 30th, 1873.

It was the first stone church building erected in Newton, and with its graceful spire, all of stone, and chime of bells, set an example in church architecture for the whole city; an example which has been splendidly followed in our many beautiful churches.

On this anniversary Sunday Bishop Lawrence will be present and preside at the Holy Communion. The sermon will be preached by the Very Rev. Dean Washburn of the Episcopal Theological School. In the evening, the Rev. Robert Keating Smith, assistant minister with Dr. Shinn, will preach.

On Sunday next the rector will give an historical address.

SILVER WEDDING CELEBRATION

An enjoyable surprise party was given to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Baxter at their home on Boyd street, Tuesday evening, the 13th of November, when a party of their friends dropped in upon them entirely unexpectedly, to help them celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

The evening was spent in singing familiar songs, story-telling, etc., and Master Fred Baxter entertained with some finely played piano selections. Refreshments were served, and many gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Baxter, presentation speeches being made by Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Perkins.

A poem was read by Mrs. Perkins which was composed for the occasion.

It is logical that we should ask the prospective buyer to gauge the worth of the Studebaker Special-Six by the measure of its sales success.

Why mention the distinctive motor or any other feature of this unusual car when the American public itself has established the greatest of all selling arguments in its favor by buying it?

Automobile license figures for every state in the Union continue to tell their own uncolored stories of Studebaker popularity.

EDITORIAL

In making a contest for the office of mayor against the present incumbent, the editor has no illusions regarding the probable outcome, as he is well aware of his own limitations and has some idea of the number of his political opponents. He believes, however, that it would be a political mistake to allow the present mayor a re-election without giving those who believe that the best interests of the city demand a change in that office, an opportunity to express themselves at the ballot box. With some experience in city government under fourteen different mayors, the editor has noted the freshening up and speeding up of the work of the various departments at the advent of each new mayor, a condition which is not possible when one man holds the office continuously. A change is inevitable some time, why not do it now?

The Newton Corner business men have the right idea in forming a local organization. There are many matters of strictly local interest and in which the rest of the city have no concern. Every village in the city ought to have its local business men's organization with the Newton Chamber of Commerce to handle the larger community matters.

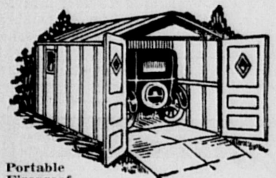

The Rotary Club of Newton starts off with a fine organization and interest. It will fill an important place in the development of a community spirit throughout the entire city.

BELGIUM NEEDED NEWTON

Herbert Hoover's Commission sent Miss Bragg to Belgium. Why? Because our health work in the schools was of such high quality. Because our co-operating Christmas Seal Classes were building health.

The Belgian Relief had saved her children from starvation during the war. Now they must build health for those children. Last summer Miss Bragg had intensive conferences with the leading Educators of Belgium. She had intensive conferences with the teachers of Belgium.

She told them of our health program in the schools. She showed them how to use nourishment classes to build good health for children. She told them how our children learned to play the health game. They learned to like vegetables, to drink milk, learned to love fresh air and sunshine, to grow. Our schools emphasize good health. Christmas Seal classes teach delicate children how to grow and develop. In the world of children it becomes popular to be well, to grow and develop in an all round way.

Miss Bragg will tell us what she did in Belgium last summer. We will learn why she went to Belgium. We will be intelligent about the health work done in our own city.

There will be a rally of Christmas Seal workers and other well informed Newton people in the Central Church parlors, Walnut Street, Newtonville, Monday evening, November 26, at 8.15. You are invited to be present.

Mrs. Philip Jamieson will preside. Mrs. Irving O. Palmer will speak.

There will be community singing. The first sheet of Christmas Seals will be auctioned off by Our Mayor. No other seals will be on sale till December.

Miss Bragg will tell of her work in Belgium.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SUNDAY

Next Sunday, November 25th, the Sunday next before Advent, the last Sunday of the Christian year, will be celebrated at St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls, as Young People's Sunday at the 10.45 service which will be Morning Prayer. The address will be delivered by Mr. Gilbert H. Roehrig, general secretary of the Boys' Department of the Boston Y. M. C. A. Mr. Roehrig is a churchman and has made an enviable record as one of the most successful Boy's Work specialists in the country. At the Wellesley Conference for Church Work—held at Wellesley College last June he made a notable and most inspiring address, one of the best delivered at the Conference. St. Mary's is most fortunate to be able to secure him. All the Boys and Girls of the parish and community and their friends and the Young people generally and especially the parents interested in Young People's Work will be delighted to attend this service—and all others are welcome.

In the afternoon at 4.00 o'clock there will be a Special Young People's Service under the auspices of St. Mary's Guild. The address will be delivered by the Reverend Henry McFarlen Brinkerhoff Ogilby, lately rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Watertown, and at present rector of the Church of Our Saviour, Longwood. Rev. Mr. Ogilby is a specialist in Young People's Work and comes to St. Mary's to help St. Mary's Guild in organizing its service of Sunday evening Young People's Services for the current season. All interested are invited to attend.

SCHOOL NOTES

Newton Centre School Association

In recognition of National Education Week, The Newton Centre School Association, held a special meeting in the Mason School Hall, on November 21, at 3.30. The meeting was planned by the Program Committee, Mrs. H. G. Giddings, chairman, who introduced the speakers, Miss Evelyn Chase, Supervisor of children's work at the Newton library, spoke of the library as an educational force and of the connection between the library and the school. Instructions given to school pupils in the proper use of the library for the purpose of familiarizing them with its scope. Collections of books, appropriate to the grades are sent direct to the schools and reach many children who do not go to the library or its branches. The great value of picture books for small children was emphasized and very interesting books of this type were shown. It may be of the General Federation of Women's Clubs have "mothers' shelves" of the more expensive books, that may be taken by mothers for use with their children. Miss Chase gave lists of books of fairy and folk tales for children of 6-11 years and of books for older boys and girls.

Mrs. Edwin F. Griffin, the new director of music in the Newton Schools introduced his remarks by a quotation from President Eliot on the value of the teaching of music in the schools and of the great pleasure to a child in taking part, himself, in musical performances. He told of the type of work in the grades and of the formation of choruses and orchestras in the High schools. It is of interest that much of the work of these selections from opera and oratorios and that many folk songs and so called "home songs" are used in all the schools. Mr. Griffin illustrated some of the school work at the piano and followed with two Italian songs, one of the 17th century and a modern Neapolitan street song.

Mrs. Howard Winslow president, presided at the meeting and at its close refreshments were served by the Social Committee and an opportunity to examine the collection of children's books was given.

Hyde School

Education Week was observed at the Hyde School Tuesday morning by a special program which included music, by the 7th and 8th grades, led by Mr. Griffin; recitations by Fred Hill, Helen Roy, and James Waters. There were also short talks on educational subjects by Lizzie Gifford, Evan Collins, Barbara Nichols, Margaret Haberstroh, Natalie Whitaker, Barbara Johnson and Eleanor Savage. Catherine Boyce, Frederick Godsoe and Emmons Brown took part in a short play.

Mr. Wheeler and Miss Bragg added to the occasion by giving short appropriate talks.

Wednesday morning Miss Green's and Miss Ryder's fifth grades had a stereopticon lecture on lumber and coal in connection with their geography work.

On the same morning, Miss Sampson's fourth grade dramatized John Eliot and the Gray Indians.

Last Friday afternoon the eighth grades had two stereopticon lectures given by the children. The first one was on Germany and the second on South America.

Two very interesting projects have been made by Miss Abbott's first sixth grade history class. One represents the discovery of gold in California. This shows the miners panning the gold beside the river which flows between the tents and houses of the miners.

The second one represents the settlement of the West. This shows the Indian village on one side of the mountains and a settlement of whites on the other side. Two covered wagons with their cattle and horses trailing behind are seen crossing the prairie towards the village.

The other class are preparing the dramatization of the pony express.

The health record shows an improvement each month. This month shows an increase of 7.5 per cent in the white section and a decrease of 4 per cent in the blue and of 3.5 per cent in the red sections. Only 4.5 per cent of all the children are underweight. In the new building there are six rooms without any underweight children.

Stearns School Centre

One of the fall features of the Mother's Club is the Dramatic Club that has recently been formed. Miss Joy Higgins from the Dramatic Department of the Community Service is helping the mothers in their production of "Wild Bell," to be given at the Centre Monday, November 29, at eight o'clock.

The Junior Girls' Club held initiation last Friday, when five new girls came into the club. Plans are now under way for a social charity party that will be given December 7.

The Senior Girls' Club is enjoying the various classes that have recently been formed. The lamp shade class meets November 26 for the last time, and the embroidery class of twenty-five girls met with Miss Louise Lovett. At the meeting this week Miss Lovett showed pictures that she brought with her from her trip abroad this summer.

Stearns School

The banking is increasing each week. Last week eighty-two dollars were received, one room getting over thirteen dollars. Three hundred dollars for the month is our aim. We wish all of the schools would have something in the school notes each week about the banking, so that we can make comparisons.

A new magazine appeared today called "The Geographical." The theme was "Wheat." The magazine included stories, articles, and poems dealing with wheat, and an attractive cover done entirely by the pupils of Mrs. Morris Kidder, grade 5.

Mrs. Charles Goddard served tea to the mothers in her third grade on Tuesday afternoon. The room was attractively decorated with cut flowers. There were several projects displayed on the tables, which were

Williams School

On Thursday of Education Week, the Williams kindergarten children, served to their guests, crackers spread with butter which they had made in kindergarten the previous day.

The children in the first grade have decorated their room with the health posters which they have made.

Again, grade two rejoices at its gain in weight for November. The special interest is that 10% under weights are reduced to 3% of the class. It was 5% last month.

Grade III is collecting all the poems and prayers they can for Thanksgiving.

One of the new activities of the sixth grade is a Book Club, intent on keeping up with the resolves made Book Week—Slogan, "A Book a Month for each and every one."

They are trying to interest those who do not enjoy book reading by recommending to them, books, they themselves enjoy.

An exchange of school activities between grades IV and VI, was much enjoyed by both teachers and pupils.

The other third grade have completed their trips in Canada, and are summing up the data collected.

Burr Kindergarten

On Thursday afternoon, Mr. Woodbury and Miss Hiltz with their assistants, Miss Ducayet and Miss Brown, were "at home" in The Burr Kindergarten to the mothers of the children, who are in Kindergarten and First grade this year.

It was a great pleasure to greet so many of the mothers, about fifty being present.

Mrs. William A. Leighton and Mrs. Maxwell Hutchinson served sherbert.

Miss Lucille Dewing a student at the Burr School sang a group of songs in a most pleasing manner.

There was an exhibition of some of the work which has been done by the children during the fall, and a social period was enjoyed until dark.

Burr School

Our class, Grade V gained 72% pounds this month over the October weight.

This being "Education Week," the parents were invited to visit our school on Thursday. There was an assembly of the seventh and eighth grades at nine o'clock, during which music was conducted by Mr. Griffin, supervisor of music, throughout the Newton schools.

After the music a general talk on the work of the school was given by Paker James of grade eight. Several other seventh and eighth grade pupils gave short addresses each pertaining to some special subject in the curriculum. Willard White, grade eight, outlined briefly the course in arithmetic. Florence Hildreth, and Eugene Brookings of grade eight; and Margaret Harrington of the seventh grade spoke on the work in civics and social studies. Joseph Hennessey of grade eight and John Jans, Jr., of grade seven briefly explained the science courses. Literature, was the subject discussed by Eleanor Webster and Barbara Wentzell, each of whom read an original poem.

At the close of the assembly period the parents were cordially invited to visit the various class-rooms, where the regular program of the school was shown them.

LASELL

On Tuesday afternoon, the Lasell Field Hockey Team defeated the Radcliffe Freshman Team in the game, at Cambridge. The score stood 1 to 0.

The lecture on Friday afternoon, is to be given by Edith McClure Patterson of Dayton, Ohio, a graduate of Lasell in 1902. Mrs. Patterson is a member of the Home Economics Committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and has charge of Home Budget Department of this committee.

Eliza Day Kendrick, Ph.D., of the Biblical Department of Wellesley College, will be the speaker at Vespers, Sunday afternoon.

—There will be a swimming meet on Monday evening of next week, under the direction of Miss Essie Harrison instructor in swimming.

Sir Robert Bordon, Ex-Premier of Canada, was a guest of Lasell Seminary on Wednesday of this week. Mrs. Statira McDonald of the Woodland Park School, who is a personal friend entertained him at luncheon, and later he addressed the entire school in the chapel, at Bragdon Hall.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor

Frequenters of Federation meetings were unanimous in their praise of the meeting at Wellesley Hills on Monday, as one full of interest and fun, start to finish, and of worthwhile subjects presented. Not a small amount of the success of the day's convention was due to the executive ability of the presiding officer, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, who outdid herself in keeping the program moving on schedule time and at the same time keeping everybody in good humor by the spontaneity of her remarks. Surely the New England tradition of "Washday Monday" was broken when 1400 women were able to take a day off, and in return they were amply repaid for so doing.

State Federation

The Literature Department, Mrs. George M. Webber, Chairman, announces that Dodd, Mead and Company are offering a "first novel" prize competition for American authors, in recognition of the club women's interest in creative work. In their announcement they quote Mrs. L. A. Miller of Colorado, chairman of the Division of Literature, as follows: "In accordance with our plan of encouraging creative work among the club women of America, I am glad to call your attention to the generous prize offered for a first book of fiction offered by the Dodd, Mead and Co. I hope you will call this to the attention of writers of your State, and that we shall be ably represented. The total prize in money amounts to $13,500. The State chairman will gladly answer further particulars."

The Mothercraft department is offering at this time, for the use of clubs in various parts of the State a carefully selected list of lectures on Child Welfare subjects, following out the standardized programme for the year's activities. These lectures cover Mothercraft, Safety of Children on the Street, Children of Pre-School Age, Nutrition, and the Psychology of Childhood. The department also has a Mothercraft Traveling Child Welfare Library, which can be secured by any community for home study and, which also gives the club woman a wealth of material for the preparation of papers on any of these subjects. This Library will be in charge of Mrs. David Dewar, 264 Beacon Street, Lowell, and there is no charge except for transportation. All applications for lecturers should be made directly to the chairman at Mothercraft Headquarters, Trinity Court, Boston.

Monday, November 26, 10.30 A. M. The second in the course "Our State Departments at Work," will be given by Wesley E. Monk, commissioner of Insurance, at 3 Joy Street, Boston.

Newton Federation

Monday, November 26, 10.15 A. M. Regular meeting of the Executive Board at the Newton Club, Newtonville. Mr. Arthur Dunham, secretary of the Central Council of Social Agencies, will speak.

Professional Women's Club

Mrs. George Laurence Parker, of Newton Centre, will speak of her life in Russia before the Literature and Library Extension department of the club at the residence of Mrs. Charles H. Bond, 128 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, on Tuesday, November 27, at 2.30 P. M. Miss Margaret Milfee Henry will sing Russian songs, Miss Helen Sewall Leavitt will speak on "Motives in Music" with musical illustrations. Mr. Harold Vinal will read from his own poems. The affair is for members only and a reply is requested.

Local Announcements

On account of the State Federation meeting on Monday of this week the Parliamentary Law Class gave up its usual meeting. The next meeting will be held on Monday, November 26th, at the usual time and place.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands will meet on November 26 with Mrs. C. D. Miller, 77 Lakewood Road, Mrs. Henry E. Williams and Mrs. Frank Frost will discuss "The Monroe Doctrine, 1823-1923."

On Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary E. Hyde the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will consider the first volume of "The Life and Letters of Walter Hines Page," under the leadership of Mrs. William E. Leonard.

At the meeting of the Auburndale Review Club next Tuesday, November 27, at the home of Mrs. Ernest Braithwaite, 366 Central Street, Mrs. N. L. Grant and Mrs. F. F. Davidson will continue the study of Egypt.

There will be no meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday, November 28. The regular business meeting will be held on December 5.

On the evenings of November 30 and December 1 a very unusual musical comedy, "The Cheese King," will be presented for the first time on any stage by the Newton Centre Woman's Club. The music was written by Mr. Keith Brown, and the lyrics by well-known business men of Newton Centre, Mr. Tracy A. Radd and Mr. H. Esmond Rowley. Dancing will follow on both evenings.

Local Happenings

Nineteen members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club attended the lecture on "Tapestries" at the Art Museum on Wednesday of last week, arranged by Mrs. Dickerman of the Art committee. Great interest was manifested in the story of the development of tapestry weaving in Egypt, in the East and in Europe. The beautiful Flemish and French tapestries of the 15th and 16th centuries, which were shown, are wonderful examples of this art.

Mr. George Gray Barnard of New York, the greatest sculptor in the country, lectured at the Waban Woman's Club on Monday, November 19, taking for his subject, "The Center of the Universe." At the conclusion of his lecture, upon the request of Mrs. Anna Coleman Ladd, the well-known Boston sculptor, Mr. Barnard explained his well known statue, "Two Natures," prominently placed in the Metropolitan Museum, New York. Since the conclusion of the war, Mr. Barnard has practically devoted his life to the carrying out of his great project the "Memorial to Democracy."

There is keen activity in every department of the club. The Civic committee is arranging for a class in Good Government to be held weekly. The Legislative committee is nearing its quota of names in favor of the bill for classification of prisoners. A drive to have every woman a registered voter, is also in action. The Art committee is arranging for a visit to the Art Museum and also to Mrs. Jack Gardner's palace. There are classes in Interior Decorating and Landscape Gardening planned. The Educational committee conducted a reception for the school teachers and parents of the children, prior to Educational Week.

Professor George H. Barker, of Harvard University, in his lecture upon "Evolution of Living Organisms," before the Newton Social Science Club on Wednesday morning, called forth much amusement when he stated that Mr. Bryan is a more radical evolutionist than any of the scientists, in that he claims that all the races of the earth have all been evolved from Adam and Eve in a period of about 6000 years; whereas no scientist is willing to claim that evolution has taken place in less than from one to two million years. Scientists have established that evolution is a fact in nature, but none as yet has been able to demonstrate how it has been brought about. Professor Barker reviewed the various theories, as one scientist after another has added to the sum total of knowledge of the subject, and told of various interesting experiments that have been performed to try to establish further facts. All present both members and guests were intensely interested in his lecture, the object of the series dealing with the topic for the year, "Our Background."

Christmas Seal Rally

Under the auspices of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs through the Christmas Seal committee, there will be a rally of all Christmas Seal workers and other interested persons held in the Central Congregational Church, Walnut Street, Newtonville, Monday evening, November 26, at 8.15. Miss Mabel Bragg will tell of the health work for Belgian children, inaugurated through her own conferences with leading educators of Belgium last summer. The health work in our own city has been of such a quality as to attract the attention of Mr. Hoover's Commission, the Educational Foundation, and was chosen to be reproduced in Belgium. Miss Bragg having been sent over for this purpose by the Commission. Her story will be full of interest, and certainly Newton people will be glad to know more of what is being done in our midst that has had so wide-reaching an influence. Mrs. Irving O. Palmer will also speak. There will be community singing. Mrs. Philip Jamieson, chairman of the Christmas Seal committee, will preside.

Club Women in Session at Wellesley Hills

Upwards of 1400 women assembled in the beautiful auditorium of the Babson Institute at Wellesley Hills, for the Fall meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, to consider problems of vital interest, and importance affecting the state and the nation. The convention opened with the singing of the state song, "America, the Beautiful," and the salute to the flag. Mrs. William P. Pratt, the president of the Wellesley Hills Woman's Club, the hostess of the day, greeted the visitors on behalf of the community and her club, and Mrs. Roger W. Babson, the donor of the Institute, saying that the hall itself is dedicated to civic use and that the Institute exists for the training of when for business leadership and recognition that if the leadership of the future is to be safe and sane, these young men must have a background of character.

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, the Federation president, in her response urged her audience to be charitable in their outlook upon life and to stand by the high ideals of those who have come before, and to stand for the best things in the state.

The New England Conference, held in September at Providence, R. I., was reviewed by Miss Agnes Dodge, a former corresponding secretary of the Federation.

"The Agricultural College and Your Dinner Table," was the topic of a valuable and suggestive address by Kenyon L. Butterfield, president of the Massachusetts Agricultural College. We owe to Mr. Hoover, he said, the idea of unifying the world's food supply. We must not forget that in this question of food supply, we are facing what promises to be the major question of the next generation. Never before have there been so many articles and books written upon the subject.

We are passing into the greatest agrarian movement the world has ever seen and something is wrong with the machinery. The question of cheap food and of the distribution of food profoundly affects the rural home. More is at stake than merely a few more dollars for the farmer. The next ten years will be most difficult years for the agricultural colleges. One of the main causes of war arises from the food supply, and an understanding between the consumers and the producers will go far toward establishing a spirit of peace in the world. The food bills are about $50,000,000 too big, and we of New England are paying about 15 per cent more for food than other parts of the country. One reason for this is due to the costly system of retail distribution.

While it is a question affecting everybody, no single group is more interested than women, and upon the questions of mal-nutrition, of a proper dietary, of health and human efficiency women must think and work and help.

Miss Mary P. Lowney, Assistant Supervisor of Rehabilitation in the State Department of Education, told of one of the latest developments of our concepts of education, that of re-educating those physically handicapped, either through congenial causes, disease or accident, as well as those injured in war, the ultimate aim being to fit such for remunerative employment. There are 23,000 such handicapped in the state, about 6 in every 1000, so that it is a field large enough to command respect. It is not a one-man job, but one needing the co-operation of individuals and groups, for "all are needed by each and nothing is fine and good alone."

Mrs. Walter MacNab Miller, chairman of the Public Health division of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, who has been speaking in many places in Massachusetts during the past few weeks, made a forcible address upon "Women in the Public Health Movement," in which she paid high tribute to the pioneer work of Ellen H. Richards, the founder of the Home Economics movement, which is basically a health problem. Mrs. Miller expressed herself as immensely impressed with the work accomplished by Massachusetts women and made suggestions for local clubs to consider, for as she said, there isn't anything too much for the club women.

The business session adopted the proposed change in the by-laws, increasing the dues of each club from 7 to 10 cents per capita. Mrs. Poole read a letter she had sent Mrs. Thomas G. Winter relative to the proposed poll for the next president of the United States being taken by the clubs, in which she said, it is a matter for the clubs individually to settle for themselves, but if asked, she should say that in her mind it was a question bordering very closely upon partisan politics, which has no place in the women's clubs.

A resolution relative to the increased violation of the law in games of chance and the giving of prizes was discussed, and the Federation went on record as favoring more rigorous observance of the general laws of the Commonwealth.

At the afternoon session following a group of delightful songs by Mrs. Stanley Ross Fisher, accompanied by Mr. Thompson Stone, two new clubs were presented for membership, the Haverhill Section, Council of Jewish Women, and the Onset Woman's Club, and Mrs. S. L. Eaton of Newton Highlands gave a short account of the Farm Home conducted by the Fathers' and Mothers' Club for sick children from the city.

Lieutenant-Colonel Walter C. Sweeney, the speaker of the afternoon, spoke upon "The Reds and the Pinks," saying in part:

"The keynote of American institutions is freedom. Individually, it signifies freedom of the citizen to carve out his own destiny with due consideration for the rights of his neighbor and on a footing of equality before the law with every other individual. Nationally it means freedom of the nation as represented by its government to conduct its relations with foreign nations in accordance with the principles of the Golden Rule and of right and justice untrammelled by any political alliances or agreements with other nations. The inherent American character, therefore, has its individual as well as its national attributes. "There are today many influences attacking the American character in either its individual or its national attributes. Every one of them is an appeal to the emotion and sentiment of Americans or of America. Among them are found the disturbing influences of large racial groups of foreign born peoples, the increasing disrespect for law, the constant hammering of foreign propaganda—those, out of step with the great majority of their fellows, whom Colonel Sweeney called the "Crabs"—the Communists, the Radicals, the Anarchists, the Bolsheviks, and the Socialists. Against the dangers of these he set up the dangers from the so-called Peace-at-any-Price pacifists, whom he called the "Pinks," who constitute an influence which is vicious, because it teaches that right needs no defense and encourages non-resistance and supine submission even to wrong. He characterized the slogan, "Law not War," as deceptive and dishonest, one that "cannot stand the light of our logic and reason, because it infers that law and war are opposed to each

Some Interesting Facts About the Various Departments of the City by J. C. Brimblecom

Fire Department

The fire department has a fascination for every citizen from the youth in school to the gray haired veteran.
We like to see the apparatus tearing through the streets, to watch it at work extinguishing the flames and many people pass the fire stations with halting step, hoping to obtain a glimpse of the hitch-up process.

In this city, the fire department is most efficiently managed and its modest demands in the annual budget are cheerfully granted by succeeding city governments. It is run without apparent friction, does its work well, and is in a state of high discipline at all times.

This result is primarily due to the personality of its chief, Walter B.
Randlett, who has been 29 years in the service, as assistant chief and chief,
and whose reputation as a fire fighter is not confined to the limits of the City of Newton.

The department consists of a chief and assistant chief, 5 captains, 10 lieutenants, 64 permanent and 7 call men.

The apparatus in service includes 3 motor pumping engines, 6 automobiles, 2 ladder trucks with tractors, 7 motor combination hose and chemicals.

The department has in reserve 1
steam fire engine, 1 chemical engine and 3 hose wagons. Ten stations are maintained.

The permanent men are on duty for twenty-four hours each day, with three hours allowed for meals and are provided with lodgings at the various stations. Fourteen days' vacation are granted annually and one day's leave of absence in every three days.

The officers have general charge of the station, and its heating apparatus and keep everything in condition for immediate use.

The call men answer every alarm in the district to which they are assigned under penalty of one dollar for each neglect.

All firemen are appointed by the chief, subject to approval of the mayor. The permanent men are selected from the civil service list. Appointments are always probationary and are not confirmed for at least six months.

The fire alarm telegraph system is indispensable to the efficiency of the department. 170 boxes, most of which are keyless, are scattered about the city at points approved by the chief,
and are divided into ten different electrical circuits. Each circuit has its own complement of boxes, bells and gongs, and is connected through an instrument at headquarters called the repeater, with every other circuit in the city.

A brief description of what happens when there is a fire may be of interest. In ringing an alarm the key to the nearest box is obtained from some nearby responsible citizen (or if the box is a keyless box, break the glass, open the door) the box opened and the hook found inside is pulled down. This starts a mechanical clock movement, operated by a spring, and revolves a circuit wheel, cut with teeth, corresponding to the number of the box. The movement of these teeth, makes and breaks the electrical circuit, and the necessary impulses given the mechanism operating the repeaters at the bells and gongs on the circuit. Through the repeater at headquarters the remaining circuits are then set in motion and the alarm sounded throughout the city. The bell strikers are operated mechanically and will strike from 50 to 350 blows without winding, depending on the length of the alarm.

In passing through fire alarm headquarters at Newton Centre, the alarm sets in motion the apparatus contriving the pen register and time stamp.

The time is stamped on an endless paper tape, and the pen registers the blows, the time being again stamped when the alarm ceases.

The alarm is sounded in each station, the lights are lighted and the doors opened automatically, and as soon as the box is located a start is made.

The house is left in the care of the police officer on that beat, the lights being automatically extinguished in three minutes. The first fireman arriving at a fire has command until a superior officer arrives. On reaching the conflagration the driver of the hose wagon runs a line of hose from the nearest hydrant to the fire and the engine immediately connects with the hydrant and hose. The chemical engines drive as near as possible and run a line of hose right into the building.

The chief and assistant chief go to all fires, except during the frequent brush fires in the spring and fall, and they are the only persons authorized to ring in more than one alarm. In a general way it may be said that one engine, one chemical, one truck and 2 to 4 hose wagons answer every alarm. Special danger points like hotels, schools, factories and mills are divided into districts, so much apparatus being assigned to each box,
more apparatus responding to a second alarm, and the whole department coming in a third. When an alarm is sounded in one district, the second alarm apparatus holds itself in readiness to answer any other first alarm which may come from that district as well as its own.

On returning to the station, all hands, call men and permanent men, turn to and clean the apparatus, wash
the hose and hang it in the tower for 2 or 3 days to dry, a spare set being placed on the wagon for duty in the meantime. A record is then made of the alarm and other necessary details and the atmosphere resumes its usual serenity.

The machinery at fire alarm headquarters was all made by the Game-well Fire Alarm Telegraph Company of this city and is well worth a visit.
It consists of a 10 circuit repeater, 10
pen registers, a distributor, time stamp, switches for the different circuits and a battery of 400 cells.

The care of the fire alarm telegraph requires the services of three permanent men, acting under direct supervision of the chief. They keep the various lines in working order, run
new wire where needed, and report assigned them.

The chief is a busy man. He not only must be in constant readiness to respond to all alarms, but must see that every piece of apparatus and equipment is in constant readiness for fire service, and that the fire alarm telegraph with its miles of wire is in good working order. Minor duties, such as the inspection of all electric wiring, the location of poles and wires
by private corporations and individuals, the oversight of storage of inflammable and combustible materials also come within his province. In the execution of these manifold duties the chief travels about twenty miles a day on an average, and thirty miles is not an unusual trip.

The assistant chief with an office
at West Newton has general charge of the clerical work of the department and is also in constant readiness to answer all alarms.

For all the above and for many other reasons, Newton should be proud of its fire department.

The confidence reposed in the department by the city government is well placed and is shared by every citizen who has given the subject any attention.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by
Leverett D. G. Bentley

Something has been troubling us.
Happily it is not a fear complex but a condition we believe capable of diagnosis by the non-professional as well as the professional. It relates to the activities round about us, particularly at this season, called variously "bazaar," "fair," "apron sale" and maybe
"community exchange." Our problem, for after all it is only one of those puzzles of everyday life, is this,
"How do they do it?" We refer to the unceasing industry, the tireless energy and the boundless patience displayed by the earnest women whose labors make such enterprises successful. Weeks ahead they go about urging their friends to "give something" or "make something." Then they get together and plan some strikingly original idea for the arrangement of tables. Materials have to be gathered from this one and that. Tickets must be sold. A canvass of interested people or people who should be interested and are not until prodded; getting up an entertainment program, seeing Mrs. A. and Mrs. B. borrowing, begging and pleading all for some noble and worthy purpose. Then comes the work of decorating. As if sawing constantly days and nights was not enough there must be festooning of varicolored paper or bunting to set off the tables. More work! Hours and hours are demanded and cheerfully given. The day of the opening finds everybody on hand early, although they may have been sitting up till after midnight putting on the finishing touches. A thousand and one details, waiting on table, keeping track of sales, replenishing the stock of refreshments, making change and answering questions. Tasks, we may say, for the superwoman, and yet capable of accomplishment by our neighbors and friends. These good women of our own city are thus laboring for the benefit of humanity and at the same time taking care of their homes and families. It's a splendid example of service and sometimes not half appreciated, we regret to say. But the spirit is there and the results amazing. Again we ask in all sincerity and admiration, "How do they do it?"

In these days when the telephone service is well, not exactly perfect—
it seems incredible that some people should deliberately make matters worse. We refer to the subscriber who connects with some friend in order that the latter may share with him
the attractive radio program offered for that evening. He is the same man who calls up a friend and says, "I've got a new record I want you to hear."
Thus several lines are tied up unnecessarily. Such instances are not rare, although not of as frequent occurrence as in the past few weeks, we are pleased to say. To add our opinion to these selfish and inconsiderate folk would be a bit of superfluous writing.
What many people do not know and will learn with enthusiasm, is that the State authorities are doing their part to stop this nuisance. The Telephone & Telegraph Bureau of the Department of Public Utilities has acted in several cases where informed. When the telephone company, driven to deperate measures, has discontinued the service of these radio and phonograph fiends the officials at the State House have indorsed the company's stand.
We cannot believe that any reader of this column needs the warning but we feel all will enjoy an opportunity to spread the glad news.

One of the most touching things of the Thanksgiving season is the generous, thoughtful and whole-souled attitude of the Boston & Albany railroad toward the Boston & Maine and the New Haven road. The B. & A. might well be called "Big-hearted Oswald," if that were sufficiently expressive.
Seldom does one learn of such magnanimity. Those misguided folks who had gone about asserting that corporations have no hearts must return in orstand with heads bowed in shame. The B. & A. is a living example of the assertion that a railroad can be tender and considerate. Such a noble spirit as it has shown in connection with the proposed increase of the cost of 12-ride and commutation tickets!

The B. & A.—it is with difficulty we keep back the tears of compassion—finds that if demand really needs raise its fares but believes it should do so in order to make its schedule uniform with those of the Boston & Maine and New Haven. How deeply solicitous of the other fellow—that is,
the other fellow who rides on a pass.
From the days when they sold 50 and 100 ride books at the rate of 84 cents a ride down to the present, when it is almost 50 cents for 28 miles, we have watched fares soar and soar.
But we never thought we'd live to see the day when the B. & A. would jack-up fares to give harmony to the chorus of railroads begging the Department of Public Utilities for "Just One More Boost Before We Go." We have heard of more than one individual who was charged with "being a good fellow with another man's money." If the B. & A. hasn't put itself into this class and can so convince us, we will gladly wash the windows at the Newton depot, which, we submit, is some offer judged by the condition of the windows when last we saw them.

Whether the public is too busy with other matters or feels that protests are weak things we do not know but the fact is the attendance at the hearings before the Department of Public Utilities on the fare increases have been slimly attended. The day the hearings were begun the Superintendent of Buildings called out all the day and night force of watchmen, as the Capitol guards are called. Some 30 uniformed men were lined-up prepared to keep an eager clamoring mob in check. This is no exaggeration. Well maybe, there were 250 in the crowd and at no time were there more. There was no sign or even thought of disorder. In fact, as the hearings progressed the attendance dwindled. The average man—that elusive and hard-to-convince person—seemed not the least excited. A number of earnest and sincere men did make a struggle, although handicapped by the usual cranks who infest State House hear-

INDEPENDENCE

The reasons for the failure of thousands to attain independence are:

Because they do not save.

Because they forget that earning capacity declines in later years.

Because they ignore the fact that sooner or later
they will meet with reverses.

Because they fail to realize that it isn't what they earn, but what they save, that counts.

A few dollars deposited in this bank will start anyone on the road to independence.

ings and insist upon expressing themselves on subjects of which they know little or nothing. It was plain to see a communter would have little chance against the railroads' attorneys and statisticians. We venture to say that a man whose business is earning a living for himself and family is pretty nearly swept off his feet when asked to give his opinion of the road's plan of allocating expenses. Now it must be fairly said for "allocating" that it is in the forefront of the dictionary and one need not turn many pages to find it. Outside of that it offers little assistance to the purchasers of 12-ride or commutation tickets. The statisticians always talk in figures and usually in decimals. Some bright grammar school boy or girl might trip them but not the passenger who opposes the fare boost and who hasn't time to school for years. In order to properly qualify for a hearing before the Department of Public Utilities
one should take a course at Technology. The worst of that is that if he turns out a success the railroads will hire him for their side.

T. O. C. of Waltham writes us: "I was much interested in what you had to say in last week's Graphic about the Newton City Hall. It made me think of the magnificent structure which we in Waltham call a city hall.
Have you ever gazed upon it? If not,
all I can say is, to quote the eminent Al. Jolson, 'You ain't seen nothing yet.'" In order to satisfy the curiosity of T. O. C. we will say we have more than once looked upon the exterior of the Main street hayshed to which he refers.

Now that the Draft Board has passed out of existence and there are stringent laws against shanghaiing, kidnapping and abduction some other method, it appears at this writing, will have to be employed to get candidates for the School Board.

Not so with some elective offices, however, which may yet earn for the incumbent the added title "Emeritus."

THRU THE EMPIRE STATE

From Niagara to Manhattan with the National Editorial Association

Tuesday began with a visit to the famous or possibly notorious East Side of New York including the Jewish and Italian quarters, with a mixture of Chinese and other nationalities thrown in on the side.

The party of 250 were the object of as much curiosity to the natives as the quarter was to the visitors and one of the little foreigners seeing the association badge, said: "They got to wear tags so they don't get lost."

The streets swarmed with children and they hung from the windows and balconies of the many storied tenements, along with the weekly wash. If there is misery among these people, it was not apparent. They were a happy, laughing, cheerful lot. Men, women and children waved and jabbed at us, wished us a happy time and bid us goodbye, and we had a good time all around. It was like the meeting of old friends. In sections there were blocks and blocks of push cart men and women, with their carts standing in the street against the curb to end, offering for sale everything that anybody else sells, and they were doing a thriving business. Their prices were reasonable, the average of other sections of the city.

The Mergenthaler Linotype Company entertained the party at luncheon and this was followed by a trip to Coney Island. As this was an old story to me, I cut it out and returned to the hotel for a rest. Subsequently I was told that the Association was royally entertained the afternoon and evening and it was in the wee small hours before most of them got back to the hotel.

Wednesday was a bit more enjoyable to me, for we had a fine trip on New York Harbor, as the guests of Mayor Hylan, using the city boat Macon, for our entertainment. It was interesting to note as we started out that we sighted the steamer "Editor" a boat that was christened at its launching by this Association when in Seattle, Washington, in the summer of 1919.

As we went down the harbor, one of the fire boats turned on all its streams of water, for our benefit, making a pretty, as well as an unusual sight.

Out first stop was at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, where Admiral C. P. Plunckett met the party at the docks. He took us up a series of stairs to the deck of the partly finished battleship which was to be called the South Dakota. Here he showed us how a battleship is constructed and gave us some most interesting information.

This battleship was ordered by Congress in 1917, shortly after the war was declared. The contract was not let to the Brooklyn Navy Yard until the middle of 1918, after the lapse of a year. It took until 1920, to get the overhead cranes and the shops erected in the yards for the making of the metal parts. After the keel of the boat was laid construction proceeded until June, 1921, when the funds were exhausted. It was necessary to stop work until September, when more money was available. Work continued until January, 1922, when the Disarmament Conference adopted the Five-Power Treaty in Washington.

WHERE IS AUBURNDALE

To the Editor of the Graphic:
At the meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Boston last week, a very interesting incident occurred. The roll call was given of all the different associations and was listened to with much attention. When it was over, after a pause, Miss Anna Gordon rose and inquired earnestly, "Where is Auburndale?"
Where is Auburndale? From her alphabetical position she is usually at the head of every list, and from her former prominence in temperance work she should be there now. To Miss Gordon it must have seemed impossible that Auburndale should not answer to the roll-call.

Miss Anna Gordon is well known as a former resident of this village. She has been noted for her work in the temperance cause for many years, and was the associate of Miss Frances Willard and Lady Henry Somerset. Her home in Auburndale is still standing on Grove Street.

Without the Woman's Christian Temperance Union this country would never have had the Constitutional Amendment for prohibition, and the amount of prohibition which we now enjoy is directly traceable to her educational work and persistent effort of this group of noble women.

In all the rush of clubs, parties, home work, automobiles and sociability, we should not cease to support the W. C. T. U.

When liquor can be sold from an automobile in Newton Centre Square, and the criminal escape with a light fine, when we are assured that there is more liquor sold in Auburndale than in any other of the Newtons today; when drunken men are staggering around the streets of Newton Upper Falls without attracting any special attention, there must still be work for temperance women.

In response to Miss Gordon's question, Mrs. Maurice Richards rose and said that there were a few members in Auburndale, but they had been included in the West Newton Association.

The membership is only one dollar a year and the next meeting is with Mrs. Harold Ashenden.

Mrs. H. R. Turner.

NEW PASTOR

Cardinal O'Connell has appointed the Rev. Fr. Dennis H. Donovan as pastor of the Church of Mary Immaculate at Newton Upper Falls, as successor to the late Rev. Fr. Danahy. Fr. Donovan has been the assistant of Fr. Danahy for the last 15 years and previous to that was for three years at St. Patrick's Church in Lawrence.

According to this treaty this ship together with seventeen others were assigned to the scrap heap. The treaty has now been finally ratified by all the powers and work has been ordered started to get the ship off the runways so other ships of a smaller tonnage can be built. Several million dollars, I think he said five, have been spent on the boat and it is about two-thirds completed. It will cost $17.50 a ton to tear it apart and the metal will bring only $12.50 a ton or a net loss of $5 a ton. He said it would cost $100,000 to launch the boat so it could be towed out into the ocean and sunk. If the scrapping of these ships will bring peace to the world all will be well and good, but if it does not and we have to build war ships again, it is an awful mistake and a big loss to tear them to pieces now.

Taking the boat again a short trip landed us at the pier further up the river where a landing was made and busses whirled us several blocks to the Hotel Bossert one of Brooklyn's finest hotels where a genuine novelty in the way of dining service awaited us. Elevators conveyed us to the roof a dozen or more stories above the pavements where we were introduced to the famous Marine Roof Garden probably the most unique dining place in the whole United States. It is of great size accommodating several hundred diners and the whole roof is laid out and fitted down to the minutest detail to represent the promenade deck of an ocean liner. There are boats swinging at the davits, the smoke stacks, the lattice railings at the sides, all complete excepting the motion and some declared they could feel it move at that, such is the power of imagination. The outlook over New York harbor with its ever moving panorama of shipping is grand and a picture one will long remember. We were guests at luncheon of the Inter-tire corporation and a fine spread it was. There was good speaking too, an address of welcome by H. R. Swartz president of the Inter-tire Corporation, and Arthur Sommers president of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce. After luncheon we crossed the harbor, getting a fine view of the statue of Liberty as well as of Ellis Island and made a landing on the Jersey shore. Here we were met by representatives of the American Type Foundry, with whom most of the printers of the country do more or less business, and take a mile or so by railroad to their new factory at Communipaw station.

The various processes of making type and of building printing presses were witnessed and at the supper which followed we were told something of the history of this business which is nation wide.

A rapid trip was made to the hotel for cleaning up for a theatre party held that evening at the Winter Garden.

Most of us after the theatre walked to the hotel in order to witness the wonderful lighting effects along Broadway in the theatre section, and which by itself is well worth a trip to New York. Some of the party accepted an invitation to attend one of New York's night courts held every night at midnight. All in all it was quite a day.

POLICE COURT

Joseph L. Sivigny of Dalby street, Newton, was in Court Saturday, charged with operating an automobile so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public and with going away from the scene of an accident without making himself known. It was charged that Sivigny ran into Alice Curley, a High School pupil, while on her way home from school about three weeks ago. She was not seriously injured. Sivigny was fined $100 for driving so as to endanger lives and sentenced to 30 days in the House of Correction for going away from the scene of the accident. He appealed.

Eldridge Bates of Providence was in Court the same morning, charged by patrolman Chadwick with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was sentenced to 30 days in the House of Correction and appealed.

TRUCKS COLLIDE

Two trucks came together Monday at the corner of Lexington and River streets, and two people were taken to the hospital as a result. A heavy truck owned by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company turned from Lexington street into River street to avoid striking a car coming out of James street. The driver, Jeremiah J. O'Connor of Cambridge, collided with a truck owned and operated by Sebastiano Gorgone of 26 Cottage place, West Newton. O'Connor's truck hit the fence at the corner of River and Lexington streets, but was only slightly damaged. The truck owned by Gorgone was wrecked. Mr. and Mrs. Gorgone, who was riding with her husband, were taken to the Newton Hospital in the Red Cross ambulance. Both will recover from their injuries.

that business can be conducted with high standards and under the Golden Rule. The mayor believed the Club appreciated its responsibility and faced the future with confidence.

Past district governor Robert W.
Hill, in presenting the charter to the club said that the keynote of Rotary was the Gospel of friendliness. It stood for friendliness to the business men,
to the community and to civic pride,
and meant mutual tolerance and good will.
He advised the members to give themselves in the spirit of Rotary friendship and predicted ample returns on the investment. The charter, he said had been organized over 100 other clubs had been formed. He also presented President Bill with a suitable response in accepting both the charter and the gavel.

District Governor Sullivan said that the members would appreciate more and more the honor of representing their craft on the great organization of Rotary International and to the community, to observe the fundamentals of Rotary, the classification and attendance. Attendance, he said, is vital to necessary to develop the spirit of friendship which was the foundation of Rotary.

Rev. J. John M. Hanley of Dodge City, Kansas, a guest, was then called on to speak, and told some excellent stories to illustrate his thought that underneath all of us is a yearning for friendship.

Mr. Austin H. Decatur, a past president of the Boston Rotary Club, on behalf of the Newton members of the Boston club, presented President Hill with a large and appropriately lettered banner.

Rev. Dr. Edward Cummings explained the Rotary catchword, based on the Rotary wheel. The hole in the center for the President around which the wheel revolves. The hubs, served as a connection with the "spokes," which he declared could be made as long as one wished. The cogs represented the individual members and became a power wheel when geared to the affairs of business and community life. The lubricator was the oil of joy, which he said was a miracle worker, healing the bruises, the hurts and the burns of everyday life. It made one "shine inside" and ultimately to shine outside, as well. Withal it was the spirit within the wheel which gave it power for service and for community good.

Dancing followed the speaking, with music furnished by Haffner's orchestra.

CHRISTMAS CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY

Believing the people of Newton will cordially welcome a sincere effort to relieve them of the inconveniences and many of the troubles of the strenuous Christmas shopping season—and that they will heartily co-operate as far as possible in making a Newton Christmas trading campaign a big success—the Mercantile Division of the Newton Chamber of Commerce has definitely committed itself to a carefully considered effort to boom holiday business for the local stores, and to provide Christmas shopping facilities and advantages of a type and scope never before offered by the business men of the city.

The campaign is to be one of education as well as business building—an effort on the part of the merchants to demonstrate conclusively, that the business men of the city are not only prepared to render service of a type that will compare favorably with that to be found elsewhere, but that they can offer quality merchandise and favorable prices that will provide ample justification for Newton people to plan to extend a substantial propo-tion, if not all, of their Christmas shopping within the confines of their own city.

After going over the entire situation,
at the meeting of the Mercantile Division as a whole and subsequently during committee sessions, it was the unanimous opinion that Newton business men were entitled to more generous support than they were receiving from the people of the city. It was decided that the coming Christmas campaign should be the first of a series of similar campaigns, to be conducted at intervals under the auspices of the Mercantile Division, to regain as much as possible the large volume of business that is unquestionably going elsewhere.

A frank discussion of the situation developed the apparent fact that the Newton merchants were perhaps themselves at fault, to some extent at least,
through not making a strong enough effort to let Newton people know more of the service and advantages that await them if they would but take the trouble to ascertain just what the business men of the city can really do for them.

It was unanimously agreed that there will be no inflation of prices, as is the custom in many cities where it is admittedly the policy to get the business—and the profits—while the "getting is good." In fact, it was recognized that nothing will exert so great an influence on the success of the coming campaign as low and reasonable prices, some of the leaders in the movement intimating that they would, in some instances, present the almost unheard of miracle of actually reducing some prices during the Christmas season.

The one big objective of the entire campaign will be to actually make it worth while to every Newton citizen to do their holiday shopping in Newton. It is believed that the entire effort will react in many ways to the advantage of the shopping public, and an extra inducement to each Newton citizen to at least look over the local stores before rushing out of town on the assumption—without ascertaining the facts—that they can do better elsewhere.

Whatever the attitude of the public toward the coming campaign, Newton business men are generally determined that no one can truthfully say that they have saved money this year by shopping in Newton. Many are infact determined that just the opposite result will be achieved by all who do a substantial part of their shopping at home. Subsequent announcements may be expected from time to time, and at frequent intervals, during the next few weeks. The committee is to strive earnestly to not only make these attractive and interesting, in every instance, but to make it worth while in many ways for Newton people to watch for them, and give them their attention and careful consideration.

PREDICTS NEWTON WIN

Despite the disastrous showing thus far in the season, if Newton defeats Waltham tomorrow the season will be a success as far as the majority of Newton fans are concerned. The Newton-Waltham game always is a battle royal and by all indications tomorrow's game will be no exception to the rule.

This year Waltham seems to be the favorite. She has won every game this fall except one and lost that to Haverhill by a scant 7 to 0 score.
Against Haverhill she showed that she had a strong running offense, a good forward passing attack, a good punter, and a team that had the scrap.
Yet during the first half Haverhill was able to gain through the Waltham line almost at will.

Newton, on the other hand has yet to prove its worth. Although handicapped by the loss of Holbrook and two tackles, "Beef" Kervorkian and "Frenchy" Gilligan, the team is by no means a weak one. With a veteran backfield composed of O'Donnell, Esty, MacQuiston, and King, the plays are going 100 per cent better. O'Donnell is snapping the signals out in great style. Esty is getting off like a shot from a gun. MacQuiston is as shifty as ever, and King is always dependable. Captain Dewing in the line has been playing like a Trojan all season.
Ryall and Adams are two veteran ends that should be able to stop anything, and Oakes, Lovejoy, Littlefield, and Carver are linemen of no mean ability.

The game will soon be here—the game of all games for Newton and Waltham. Judging teams by their scores, Waltham should win, but football games do not always come out according to the dope. Newton has the scrap. Coach Dickinson has been working hard on Clavin Field during the last week, and he has been getting results. It is anybody's game, but Newton is due to crash through for a win.

CATHOLIC CLUB MINSTRELS

The Newton Catholic Club held its eight annual show this week on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Club house, West Newton. The show was entitled "The Beano Revue."

According to the author and director, the plot deals with the efforts of the owner of the Beano Revue, Theodore St. Brie de la Fromage, and his director, "Kicker" Kelley, to produce something new in the minstrel line. The fact that the book calls for scenes from the sunny Southland, Russia, England, France and Spain, not to mention the sidewalks of New York and Beantown, seems to indicate that there will be considerable that is novel in "The Beano Revue."

George P. Brophy, President of the Newton Catholic Club was the interlocutor. The cast included Charles

How Mistakes Are Made in Building

If you are in need of advice on financial matters, you drop in to see your Banker or Broker.

If you are involved in legal difficulty, you hurry to the office of your attorney and lay the case before him.

If you are dangerously ill, you immediately put in a hurry call for the best Physician that you know of, and place yourself in his hands.

Having shown good judgment in the three cases mentioned above, why do you waste your time, when you are contemplating building or repairing your home, by taking the advice of every Tom, Dick and Harry who represent every other line except Home-Building?

The country-side is dotted with houses on which mistakes were made as a result of Tom, Dick and Harry's advice, plus the pitiful efforts of an incompetent wood-butcher. These houses cost more by the time they are made habitable than a real house would, built by a competent builder, although the estimated price on the former in the beginning was much lower.

RE-ROOF RE-PAIR RE-BUILD

Be sure to secure the services of reliable architects, contractors, and builders, men who have a thorough knowledge of their line, and who stand responsible for their work.

We will be glad to furnish, on application, the names of some of the individuals, or firms that we have come to consider, through years of association in business, as being responsible and competent.

SUFFOLK BRANCH MEETING

The beautiful Congregational Church of West Newton opened its hospitable doors Wednesday, to the meeting of District number four, of the Suffolk Branch and Suffolk Alliance. This organization includes ten of the women's societies of the Congregational Churches of Newton and vicinity. Over one hundred were present and the occasion was one of unusual interest.

Luncheon was served very attractively by the women of the church. A quartette of Tuskegee singers rendered some selections in the afternoon and Miss Dorothy Bates of West Newton sang a solo. Miss Abbie Miller of Newtonville, vice-president, presided in the morning, and in the afternoon, Mrs. Thomas Chalmers, president of the society of the West Newton Church.

Cordial words of greeting were extended by Mrs. Edgar Park, who spoke of the advantage of the interchange of ideas and of becoming familiar with changed conditions on the mission fields.

Mrs. Bacon of West Newton, described the work among children in the "Red Bank" society. The banking system with real bank work proves a popular way to arouse interest in the finance. Dramatics, story telling, lantern slides, hot cocoa and a lawn party are also helpful.

Miss Abbie Miller explained the "group" method whereby every woman finds a place in the program.

Mrs. Badger of the Home Missionary Association spoke on the topics for the year, "The Child and America's Future." She warned of the dangers of "Child Labor" and said that every child should have a helpful home, health, play, education and church opportunities. She advised: "Do not criticize the younger generation too severely. Get behind and push what is good in them."

Mrs. Wilcox, Field Secretary of the American Missionary Association, brought news from the schools. Pleasant Hill, Tennessee, not always pleasant, was rejoicing in a legacy which had made possible much needed improvement. "But how will I build a fire in it?" asked a girl when she saw the new radiator taking the place of her stove. "How these lives are transformed by education" said Mrs. Wilcox. "Be a co-worker and help to work miracles."

Mrs. M. H. Lichtner made a plea for the prayer life in the midst of the restless activity of the present age. Save a time and place for quiet meditation and prayer. "Solitude is the mother country of the strong."

Dr. Park opened the afternoon session with some earnest, searching words. "You that go to work to save others, are you saved? Former generations felt sure of their salvation and of the depravity of the heathen world. Now other nations consider America as pleasure loving, selfish, godless. Let us take a humble attitude. We who have had this treasure of the Christian religion have failed. Let us take it out to others hoping that together we may arrive at a better interpretation of the spirit of Christianity."

Mrs. Larum, delegate to the Woman's Board meeting at Wellesley, gave a report. "Education is the eternal debt, which maturity owes to the next generation," was one of the thoughts, brought from Northfield by Miss Dix, delegate to the Conference. Dr. Enock Bell of the American Board spoke of the need of an understanding approach to Japan, a people sensitive and burdened with the problems of changing from agricultural to industrial life.

Miss Griswold, 34 years a missionary in Japan, with the aid of lantern slides took her audience to that land where beauty is the background of the people's thought. The life of the missionary compound was shown in an intimate fashion and revealed the devotion of the speaker to her work and the people she served.

District number four, was invited to hold its next meeting at Newton Highlands.

"SUNSHINE" AT ST. MARY'S

St. Mary's Guild certainly gave a fine entertainment at St. Mary's Parish Hall last Tuesday evening when a special cast drawn entirely from the membership of the Guild, presented the play, "Sunshine" by Walter Ben Hare before an audience which taxed the capacity of the hall. All the parts were well taken and the Young People did themselves great credit.

The musical parts were especially well rendered. "Mother Machree," by Miss Hazel F. Seale and "The Harbor of Love," by Mr. Irving G. Clark were especially fine.

Those taking the parts were: Miss Viola M. Dennis, Mrs. Irving G. Clark, Miss Mary Louise Menzel, Miss Thelma Wright, Mrs. C. Fred Spring, Mr. W. A. Seale, Mr. Kenneth La M. Downes, Mr. Irving G. Clark, Miss Nancy Schofield, Miss Deborah Tappan.

After the play dancing was enjoyed the Brown "Bob-o-link" Orchestra furnished music.

The proceeds of the evening will be devoted to the Piano Fund for the choir.

THE NEWTON HOSPITAL

The Work It Is Doing and the Work It Would Like to Do

Many of the people of Newton have received through the mails recently the letter sent out by the Finance Committee of the Newton Hospital asking the recipients to contribute this year to the support of the hospital as they did last year.

This yearly appeal of the Finance Committee takes the place of the former Hospital Sunday appeal when contributions were taken up at the different churches of the city.

The new plan has been so successful that since its inauguration the hospital has been freed from debt and has been able to close another year free from debt although the demands made upon it have taxed its capacity and its facilities to the limit.

The hospital is now treating more than three thousand cases a year, the average daily number being 105. At the hospital there are born each year about 400 babies. In its infant department the number calling upon it for service is growing rapidly and constantly. Its private rooms are so in demand that it is no unusual thing for it to be obliged to care for cases in its wards while the patients wait their turn to be moved to a private room. Out of every 100 patients treated only nineteen are treated at a profit. It should be remembered that in the treatment of patients the members of the medical and surgical staffs receive no fees, the difference between what it costs to run the hospital and the amount it receives from patients who pay being the amount due to the cost of maintenance and operation.

One thing that the hospital does, a thing not half often enough thought of or realized, is that it is a builder of a civic, community spirit, that it is something in which all public spirited citizens should take an active, helpful interest. It is true to say of the hospital that it is a hospital of the people, by the people, for the people. Its expenses are met by contributions from the pockets of generous men and women and its services are at the disposal of all who ask them. It is true also to say that many generous ones as there are there ought to be more of them, that all ought to help according to their means because it is a hospital to serve all.

Because of the success of the campaigns of the Finance Committee the hospital is being operated with a clean balance sheet. It carries on without running into debt. It is getting the money it ought to have. The hospital ought not to just mark time. It ought to grow, it ought to go ahead, and it must grow, it must go ahead if it is to meet the needs of the growing city of Newton. Today in a Newton with 50,000 people the hospital has only seven more private rooms than it had when Newton was a city of but 35,000. It needs many more private rooms to meet the constant pressing demands of those who apply to it for care. Its nurses are not housed as they ought to be. It has many other needs and it can meet all of them if all will take hold and give it the money it ought to have and not just the money it must have. If all will take hold the burden on none will be great. It will be like carrying the traditional big log with all shoulders under it no burden at all. If all take hold Newton will have a hospital of which to be proud, a hospital that will be known everywhere as an example of what a city of public spirited people can do for it will.

The Treasurer of the Newton Hospital is Mr. Stanley M. Bolster of West Newton. To him at 10 State street, Boston, may be sent all checks or money contributions. The more contributions there are, big and little, the sooner the Newton Hospital will be all it should be and even today with all its needs it is a hospital to be proud of, doing a splendid work. But it can be better, it can do more if a generous people will give it the money it ought to have instead of the money it must have.

DEATH OF MR. FITZGERALD

Mr. John J. Fitzgerald of 16 Lincoln road, Newton, was taken suddenly ill in Nonantum Square last Saturday.

BIGELOW SCHOOL CHANGES

On Friday evening, November 23d, an important meeting was held in the Bigelow School hall to discuss the outstanding needs of our Newton schools. The meeting was arranged by the Education Committees of the Newton Community Club and the Social Science Club. About two hundred representative men and women were present and listened with keen attention to the speakers. This evidence of the vital interest of Newton citizens in their public schools was most gratifying.

Francis L. Bacon, principal of the Classical High School; Mrs. Kuntz, director of Physical Training; George W. Pratt, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen; U. G. Wheeler, Superintendent of Schools, were the speakers of the evening. Everett E. Kent, chairman of the School Committee, and Edmund I. Leeds, architect, were present to answer questions.

The speakers presented as the two immediate needs of our schools: 1st, more class rooms and better physical training facilities at the high school; 2nd, a careful remodeling of the Bigelow School building for the Junior High School now proposed for the Newton district.

It is with the second need that we will concern ourselves in this article, believing that the first is on the road to solution.

After a careful investigation the city of Newton decided to adopt the Junior High School system. This system cannot serve its purpose without adequate housing arrangements. Without such it would be a Junior High School in name but not in fact.

One of our villages already has a fine Junior High School. It is urged that citizens interested in this problem visit the Frank A. Day Junior High School on Walnut and Crafts streets, Newtonville. Plans are being made for a second new building of this type to serve West Newton and Auburndale.

It devolves upon Newton to meet these demands with a remodelled building. The questions now before the citizens is whether or not the Bigelow School shall be remodelled so as to afford a complete Junior High School course, with its characteristic facilities for teaching health, physical training, and civic character, through exercise and organized play.

The present plans for alterations were made under the direction of last year's Board of Aldermen and provide no place for the gymnasium, dressing rooms and shower baths which are necessary. In the opinion of educators of national prominence this instruction is of fundamental importance. It is being provided in the better class Junior High Schools all over the country; will be in the other Junior High Schools of Newton; and will undoubtedly have to be provided (Continued on Page 4)

50TH ANNIVERSARY

Sunday, December 2nd, will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the use of the present Grace Church as a house of worship. The present stone church took the place of a wooden building which occupied the corner of Washington and Hovey streets. The first service in the new church was held on Sunday, November 30th, 1873.

It was the first stone church building erected in Newton, and with its graceful spire, all of stone, and chime of bells, set an example in church architecture for the whole city; an example which has been splendidly followed in our many beautiful churches.

On this anniversary Sunday Bishop Lawrence will be present and preside at the Holy Communion. The sermon will be preached by the Very Rev. Dean Washburn of the Episcopal Theological School. In the evening, the Rev. Robert Keating Smith, assistant minister with Dr. Shinn, will preach.

On Sunday next the rector will give an historical address.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

"This constructive Health Work in our city may be little known all over the United States," said Mayor Edwin O. Childs on Monday evening, as he launched the Christmas Seal Sale.

The Mayor auctioned off the first sheet of Christmas Health Seals at the Christmas Seal Rally, in Newtonville. He spoke in glowing terms of our special health work in the New-England during the past four years. He told us he wished to "pay tribute to the Health Work in the schools done by Miss Bragg in a quiet way. He spoke highly of this voluntary work and of the co-operating Christmas Seal Health Classes for delicate children. "If there is anything that appeals to any of us," said the Mayor, "it's the children." After high praise of the Seal Fund special health work for children he said: "Buy seals and use them. Buying without using is like hiding your light under a bushel." More classes are needed.

The Christmas Seal Nurse, Miss Melick, told us of 150 children in the special health classes, she meets a week. While she weighs and measures each child, the Seal Fund teachers teach the other children to play health games. Underweight is only one indication, but children more than ten per cent underweight need help. Rich and poor alike join the Health Classes. We graduated between forty and fifty children from these classes last year.

Newton Centre is ready for a class and Newton Highlands. A second class is asked for in West Newton. The nurse does not do the work alone. The mothers co-operate as Miss Melick visits in the homes. Four-year-old Jimmie's mother wanted him to join the class. Jimmie was under school age, but he was so weak he could hardly stand. Jimmie got stars in the Health Class for playing the Health game. So Jimmie began to eat. Later we sent him to a farm. After coming home Jimmie lost twenty pounds. Dr. Philip Sylvester took him in the Children's Hospital. All Health agencies co-operate with the Christmas Seal Health work. Now Jimmie is over normal weight.

Mrs. Palmer gave the Seal Workers the inspiration of Governor Whitman's message at the Biennial. "Most of our outside work is only mothering on a large scale."

Then we heard from Miss Bragg how Belgium needed mothering. Herbert Hoover's Commission sent Miss Bragg to Belgium last summer to start Health work in the schools. In the Health Class for delicate children, Miss Harrison and Miss Gavin saw the health work in our schools, saw our children in the Special Health Classes. They say the children's joy in their health work and the co-operation of the parents. So they invited Miss Bragg to go to Belgium. The fine quality of our health work has been copied by Belgium.

When war relief was over twenty million dollars had remained in the Belgian Relief Fund. The problem (Continued on Page 3)

Ice Amazeen and Miss Priscilla McClellan.

After a very interesting, although somewhat one sided discussion, with especially stirring speeches from Miss Alta Blakely and Miss Elsa Haase, the change of basis from that of "Town" to that of "City" association was unanimously adopted. It was the sentiment of the meeting that more and more members should be drawn into the association from other centers in Newton and from Watertown, Brighton and Wellesley.

CITY HALL

In the registration of voters which closed last week the names of 283 men were added to the lists and the names of 276 women. There are now in the city eligible to vote on December 11, at the city election, 9062 women and 9659 men. The numbers of voters is much less than last year at this time as a great many names were dropped from the lists in April and the registration this fall was very light.

POLICE COURT

Louis Cusano of 62 Lexington street, Auburndale, and his wife, Mary Francisca Cusano, were in the Newton District Court Wednesday morning, before Judge Bacon, charged with illegal sales of intoxicating liquor. Both pleaded guilty. Mrs. Cusano was fined $50, which she paid. Louis Cusano was fined $50 and sentenced to one month in the House of Correction. He appealed.

SCHOOL PROBLEMS

A meeting was held in the Bigelow School last Friday night, under the auspices of the Education Committee of the Community Club, confronting the Newton Schools.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. William T. Foster.

The first speaker was Mr. Francis Bacon of the Classical High School. Mr. Bacon spoke of the unique position occupied by Newton in the large percentage of pupils in proportion to the population which attend the high school. Forty-five in every thousand are attending high school. He also said that the urge towards college is on the increase rather than decrease.

The overcrowding in the Classical High School is due to the increase in the population during the last thirty years, an increase for which no adequate provision has been made. As a consequence, 1,100 pupils are being accommodated in a building provided for about 700. About 80 of these are in the Vocational High School building at the present time.

Under these conditions the classes are very large and the teachers cannot give the teaching which they would like to give. Comparing the public school situation with the private school situation, Mr. Bacon said that the public schools could never compete with the private schools because of the superior endowment of the latter, the smaller classes, and the supervised time they are able to give to the pupils.

In spite of these handicaps he asserted that last year was the third best year in the work of the pupils as shown by their marks both in the High School and in College.

Mr. Bacon was followed by Mrs. Kuntz, the director of physical education in the high schools. Mrs. Kuntz compared the conditions in the Newton Schools in physical education with that of the Brookline Schools which have gymnasiums in connection with their grammar schools.

Our high schools are using the old drill hall, which is exceedingly crude and has no modern equipment, no dressing rooms, shower baths, lockers, etc. Because of the lack of space, only one half of the pupils can take gymnasium work. At present the boys have the hall three of the school days, and the girls two.

She suggested that the four acres of the athletic field which are at present ungraded should be graded and put to use, and called attention to the Frank A. Day School which has adequately provided for gymnasium work, expressing the hope that the other Junior High Schools would follow its example.

Mr. George W. Pratt, chairman of the finance committee of the board of alderman was the next speaker. Mr. Pratt said that there was no question of the need of more buildings, the real question was when and where to erect new buildings.

A committee composed of three members of the school board and three of the board of alderman are at present working upon this problem.

The three problems to which he called attention were the problem of building buildings adequate for at least ten years so as to take care of the annual increase in school population which for the last three years has been 200 and 250 yearly.

The second problem is the problem of the city's borrowing capacity which is at present, approximately $523,000.

The third problem is the relation of the expenditure of the school department to the other eighteen departments of the city. $1,000,000 has been put into school buildings in the last few years.

Newton has also to consider the tax rate. It has seemed desirable to those who have studied the question not to have the tax rate above $28 per thousand. At present the rate is $26.60 per thousand.

We face the year 1924, with the expectation of an increase of $135,000 to meet 1924 requirements but we have the water problem, adequate police protection and other problems to consider as well as the school problem.

The last speaker was Mr. Wheeler, Superintendent of schools. Mr. Wheeler said that the war had prevented the building of adequate school buildings, and stated that in his opinion the High School problem was very acute. He suggested the building of two new Junior High Schools by this September, pointing out these would greatly relieve the high school situation.

The building of Frank A. Day Junior High School he considered the most important step taken in the last fifty years.

The question of remodeling the Bigelow School into a Junior High School was discussed, particularly the building of an addition to the school. It was learned that it would probably take about eight or nine months to accomplish this.

A discussion followed Mr. Wheeler's address. One of the questions asked was why a new Junior High School had not been built in place of the new Underwood School. The answer was that it was cheaper to remodel the Bigelow School.

The "Roaring Forties."

The term, the "Roaring Forties," in nautical parlance, denotes a stormy region of the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian oceans, lying between 40 degrees and 50 degrees south latitude. It is characterized by analogy to a rough part of the Atlantic ocean lying between 40 degrees and 50 degrees north latitude.

HIS INFLUENCE FOR GOOD

Incident That Shows How Christian Missionary May Lead Heathens Into Grace.

The influence for good that the ordinary Christian layman can wield in foreign lands is often enormous. An English army doctor was once stationed somewhere in the Mohammedan East. He knew only the least smattering of Arabic and could hardly issue orders to his black Sudanese servant, who was a Mohammedan. The Mohammedans, by the way, are considered hopeless subjects for conversion. The doctor, however, was a genuine Christian; he kept his Bible and other religious books always by his camp bed, and he used them daily. His habits of prayer were as regular as any Mohammedan's, and he appeared to have derived from them an imperturbable temper and a sunny disposition.

One day he gave his black servant a copy of the Gospel in his own tongue. That was all, but it was enough. Beside the written Gospel was the living commentary, and the black servant was not slow to compare the two. Eventually he offered himself for Christian baptism.

The story closes for us in a memorable scene: A farewell meeting is going on in a room full of Moslem converts, some Egyptian, some Syrian. It is in honor of the young Sudanese who is about to start for Arabia, there to witness for Christ in the land of Mohammed himself—a triumph of unofficial missionary enterprise!—Youth's Companion.

"BURROWS" PERIL THE LAND

Much of England Undermined by the Drain on the Resources of Its Coal Fields.

According to an English paper, England, Scotland and Wales together have produced some 8,500,000,000 tons of coal. Small wonder then that these countries are full of huge holes caused by the abstraction of this mass of mineral.

Indeed, so many holes are there, and so much is the land falling in, that in the West Riding of Yorkshire the local council is seeking power from parliament to make mine and royalty owners pay something toward draining the sunken districts.

Donaister coalfield is of comparatively recent date, but so badly has this district been affected by the mining operations that experts say that Donaister will stand on a morass in ten years' time. Even now a large area of land has been marked off as quite unfit for building purposes.

From Wakefield to Globe, practically along the whole course of the Don, the country is more or less flooded, and what might be fruitful land simply goes to waste. Roads, too, in this part frequently suffer—and they cost something like $17,000 a mile to re-surface.

Naturally, the Black country has suffered a great deal from subterranean workings. They have often caused whole districts to sink, and a few years ago the High street of Cradley Heath dropped suddenly five feet.

The solution of the problem rests in adequate draining of the subsided areas. Mining is proceeding all the time—drainage ought to follow to counteract the bad effects of boring and blasting.—London Mail.

Running the Gantlet.

The custom of punishing a culprit by forcing him to "run the gantlet" is said to have originated in the Thirty Years' war (1618-48), and to have been adopted by European armies as a mode of punishment. The culprit, stripped to the waist, was obliged to run repeatedly between two lines of soldiers facing each other. Each soldier struck at him with a short stick or switch. The word "gantlet," as here used, has not the meaning usually given it—that of an iron glove—but is simply a corruption of gantlope or gatlope, and is derived from the Swedish gatlopp, meaning "running down a lane." Some etymologists, however, derive the word from the German gassenlaufen, which means "running the lane," and others from the Dutch gangloopen, having the same meaning.

Fact Not to Be Denied.

"Two thousand dollars for a dog!" he exclaimed, as he looked up from his newspaper. "Do you believe anyone ever paid such a price, Maria?"

"It may be true, James," replied his wife. "Some of these pedigree animals fetch fancy prices, and there's no particular reason why the paper should lie about it."

"I know that, Maria; but just think of it—just try to grasp the magnitude of that sum in your weak, feminine mind. You don't seem to realize it. Two thousand dollars for a dog! Why, Maria, that's more than I'm worth!"

Ancient Cathay.

Cathay is an old name for China, said to have been introduced into Europe by Marco Polo, the celebrated Venetian traveler, who is said to have lived from 1252 to 1324. The word Cathay is corrupted from the Tartar name Kitlat, that is, the country of the Khitans, who occupied the northern portion of the Chinese empire at the time of the Mongol invasion.

The word is used by Tennyson in these well-known lines:

"Through the shadow of the globe we sweep into the younger day; Better fifty years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay."

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

A campaign to stimulate and encourage Christmas shopping in the Newtons with the business men of the city doing their share to make it effective through providing special trading facilities for holiday patrons, is to be developed as a result of an enthusiastic meeting of the Mercantile Division of the Newton Chamber of Commerce at the Newton Club on Monday evening.

The meeting was one of the best and most interesting yet held by the mercantile division, with continuous evidence throughout the evening of a growing recognition on the part of Newton business men of the possibilities of co-operative action and business development through the Chamber of Commerce. In addition to the consideration and endorsement of the Christmas trade plan, a substantial portion of the evening was devoted to a general round table discussion of various matters of special interest to local merchants, including advertising, the handling of credits, costs of delivery service, and other problems.

The Mercantile Division was especially fortunate in having as its guest a speaker who was well qualified to discuss these various questions with a clear understanding of their importance to the retail merchant, to answer questions in a helpful way, and to extend counsel and advice of the helpful type, regardless of the trend of the discussion. This was Arthur J. Kelly of the planning and research department of the R. H. White Company, and a former secretary of the Boston Retail Trade Board. Mr. Kelly gave an interesting talk of half an hour, speaking of the retailers' problems in a broad way, followed by a question period during which the more specific problems of the Newton business men were brought up and considered from varying angles. Those present were quick to take advantage of the opportunity to secure the benefit of Mr. Kelly's extended experience, with practical suggestions for the solution of the recognized general retail problems, from the viewpoint of either the large or the small store.

President Rupert C. Thompson of the Chamber was present and spoke interestingly of the mutual interests of the civic and mercantile divisions of the Chamber. He said the surest way to insure the sympathy interest of the citizens in the problems of the local retailer was to tie up both groups in one organization, that was working for the welfare and advancement of Newton as a whole. He pointed out that the prosperity of the city was to be determined largely by the prosperity of its commercial interests. Special emphasis was placed in the opportunity confronting the Newton merchants, through the rapid growth of the city and its inevitable increase in population, the rapidly increasing transportation problem and the growing expense of making shopping trips to the Boston stores, predicting that the time was coming when Newton people would voluntarily extend much more of their patronage to Newton stores because of the increasing inconvenience and expense of trading elsewhere. He urged the Newton business men to get together, and work together, in an effort to facilitate this natural trend of business back to the smaller city, and to be prepared to handle this business and profit by it in full measure when it comes.

With reference to the special Christmas campaign of the Mercantile Division, those present were of the opinion that the problem was largely one of co-operation among the merchants, supported by adequate publicity and that the details could be worked out to best advantage through a representative committee with one or more merchants from each of the several villages of the city.

Mr. Kelly's talk was one that offered much in the way of inspiration and helpful suggestion.

In illustrating his points, Mr. Kelly enumerated the many accomplishments of the Boston Retail Trade Board, through co-operative agreements and joint action in dealing with their most troublesome and expensive problems. One agreement resulted in an annual saving of $6000 to one large store alone, and in proportionate measure to all others participating in the work and benefits of the Board. Mr. Kelly congratulated the merchants of the Chamber upon their decision to establish a credit rating bureau, expressing the conviction that the solution of the credit problems of its members was the one great service that every commercial organization should seek to render and that its success would insure, more than anything else, the success of the organization itself. During the round table discussion that followed, many questions were asked and the initial talk supplemented with much additional information of interest and assistance to those present. Upon the conclusion of the meeting, a rising and enthusiastic vote of thanks was tendered the speaker.

NEWTON TIES WALTHAM

A Strange Football Game, Played in Rain and Mud

The Newton-Waltham game has come and gone, leaving behind it the impression in the minds of all who saw it that it was one of the strangest football games ever played. The two teams, rivals in the past, in the present, and in the future, battled last Saturday to a 7 to 7 deadlock on the Waltham High mud flats. The field was a veritable ocean of mud—oozy, slimy, sticky goop mud—mud that penetrated to every part of the contestants, and which made real football impossible.

Before the game was five minutes' old, every player looked like a South African Zulu, the centres on both teams were taking time out on every occasion to wipe their hands before attempting to pass the ball, and the backs were slipping, sliding, and tobogganing all over the field.

The game was just one fumble after another with breaks playing an important part in the outcome. There were twelve fumbles in the game, out of which Newton recovered nine. Tracy, Waltham's star punter, had trouble of his own in kicking, and surprised group of wet, bedraggled spectators saw O'Donnell outkicking Tracy five to fifteen yards on almost every exchange.

During the first quarter, the ball was constantly in Waltham's territory. Then very late in the period, Tracy, one of the outstanding stars for Waltham, got away from kick formation for 45 yards, shifting the tide of battle in a twinkling of an eye. Newton was now on the defensive with Waltham threatening to score. In three running plays Waltham made a first down on the four-yard line. It looked like a certain touchdown, but the gods of fate decreed otherwise. The Newton team was fighting—fighting as only a Newton team can fight when playing their Waltham City rivals. Carver stopped one play for no gain, Dewing stopped another, and then Ryall picked up a Waltham fumble, and the danger was over. O'Donnell punted out of danger, Guild could not hold the ball, and MacQuiston recovered. Later in the period O'Donnell had a shot at the Waltham goal posts, but the wet day made accurate dropping impossible and the ball fell short.

The rain continued to fall, the field became wetter and wetter, in fact it became so wet that the stands on the Newton side of the field almost floated away. Luckily the rain let up for a minute, and averted the danger. Waltham started off with a bang in the second half. After two or three plays, Captain Ward wiggled his way through the centre of the Newton line and on down the field fifty yards before O'Donnell downed him from behind with a terrific diving tackle. The ball was laying in that one small section of the field which gave decent footing. The Waltham offense picked up amazingly on account of this. The line surged forward, a first down was made, and after two plays Captain Ward carried the ball across for a touchdown. Tracy kicked the goal. The Newton score came almost at the end of the game. Tracy, forced to punt from behind his goal, got off his best kick of the day. O'Donnell caught the ball on the run and tobogganed his way to the 20-yard line. Two rushes, then a forward, O'Donnell to MacQuiston, and the ball rested quietly on the 10-yard line. MacQuiston bucked out a yard through centre, Bullock, the Waltham tackle, got off-side, and Newton had the ball on the 4-yard stripe. Two quarterback rushes through centre had the Waltham team massed in front of Oakes for the next play, but as it went through tackle, Considine slid across the goal line unhindered.

Score: Waltham 7, Newton 6. Hundreds of anxious Newton fans waited breathlessly as the team lined up. Could Newton kick that goal? Cupid Carver proved that it could be done, when from placement he booted the ball squarely through the uprights with enough drive behind it to carry from the middle of the field.

The mud fight was soon over. Both teams went away from the game with the firm conviction that had the field been dry, there would have been no question as to the outcome. Be that as it may, the fact remains that the question of the Waltham or Newton supremacy will have to go unsettled for another year.

For the Newton team every man played a first-class game but the work of Carver, Dewing, and O'Donnell stood out above the rest. Carver played the best game of his career. He stopped play after play in the line, and had the courage to kick the goal after the touchdown—when he had never did it before in a game. Captain Dewing played a whirlwind game until forced to leave the game by his charley horse. Had he been in the line-up at the time, it is doubtful if Waltham could have scored as easily as they did. O'Donnell, playing his first game of the season as quarterback, made a few errors in judgment, but more than made up for them by his kicking and tackling.

SIXTEENTH CENTURY ITALIAN ORCHESTRA

WEST NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL

The Eighteenth Century Italian Symphony orchestra, conducted by Raffaele Martino, will be heard in the Newton Centre Woman's Club on the evening of Friday, December 7. This concert includes a program of rare old and neglected masterpieces, music of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries. In keeping with the atmosphere of the times the members of the orchestra wear picturesque costumes and wigs and play their selections by candlelight. Under the leadership of Mr. Martino, the organization has brought to notice many remarkable compositions lost to the public ear these many years. It is filling a unique place among contemporary musical efforts by reason of the music it interprets and in the manner of the interpretation. Much credit for the unusual features of the program and for the excellence of the ideals is due Mr. Martino who has worked long and tirelessly to bring his ideal to happy realization.

A feature of the program of December 7, will be the performance of the old Sicilian air from which was written "Home Sweet Home." Other numbers are the Minuetto by Boccherini and the Passacaglia by Lullu, a concerto by Vivaldi and one by E. Dall Abaco, all selections of the period preceding the middle of the eighteenth century. This concert is worth hearing for its beauty alone, regardless of historical reason.

This concert is being given for the Social Service Committee of the club for the benefit of the West Newton Music School. A representative number of Newton Centre people are serving as patronesses, each part being given to make of the concert an artistic and attractive event.

JAMES THEATRE—In "Magnaolia" which will be offered by the Boston Stock Co. at the St. James this week for the first time here, Booth Tarkington admittedly has done the best work of his long and noteworthy career. This late play, used recently in New York as a starring vehicle for Leo Carrillo goes back to the glorious days of the Old South in 1841, when romance was at its height and men fought and died at the drop of a handkerchief for the sake of a fair lady. Duels in those days were so insignificant that they hardly ever excited even casual gossip.

CHRISTMAS SEAL HEALTH WORK

was how to help Belgium in a way Belgium wanted to be helped. Miss Harrison and Miss Gavin chose fifteen teachers to come over here to study health conditions a year, ten at Columbia, five at Technology. These teachers were out in Newton studying our health work. They studied in Miss Bragg's Chautauqua Health Classes. They went back to Belgium with Miss Bragg for intensive conferences with representative Belgian teachers at Chateau Dougelberg, for an intensive conference with Belgium's greatest educators, Mr. Maquet and Dr. De Crowley.

The Normal School men and the women teachers at the conference drew up health resolutions similar to those used in our Health Classes. They worked out their own health program along our lines. The Red Cross loaned Mr. Weiland, who was teaching the children of Czechoslovakia how to play. He taught health games to these teachers. Miss Bragg helped these men and women to think out their own health work.

So interested did all Belgium become that the leading papers gave daily space on the front pages, a thing hitherto without precedent. Belgium had copied our Health Program.

EDITORIAL

The editor has been both amused and pleased at the reaction which has followed the announcement last week that, in the absence of other candidates, he would stand for the office of Mayor at the coming city election. It might be said in passing that the decision to seek the office was made only after the declination of several prominent citizens to oppose Mayor Childs, and was without consultation with any friends, political or otherwise, as a long planned absence from the city, made it difficult to arrange a conference. The reaction, therefore, has been rather peculiar, in that friends who believed they should have been consulted, are rather antagonistic, while from elements, where opposition was expected there have come words of encouragement and offers of aid. It is still, too, a long enough time before the election to arouse the sentiment of the citizens, and we still have hopes that the slogan of "Ten years is long enough. Time to change," will receive careful consideration.

We are glad to note that for the important office of school committee, Ward 1 has been able to secure the services of so able a man as Mr. Elliott B. Church. In Ward 7, the nominee, Mr. William T. Foster, is a comparatively new resident, but we understand he is a gentleman of ability and of wide knowledge in the educational field. Ward 4 is fortunate in having Mr. M. C. Hutchins a candidate to succeed himself. Too little attention is usually paid to the membership in the school committee and the city is indeed to be congratulated in having men of the calibre of those mentioned above, ready to serve in that important capacity.

Thanksgiving time is the favorite period for enlisting the sympathies of our community in the various meritorious and worthy objects of philanthropy and charity. The editor is glad to give space to the appeals for these splendid outlets of community sympathy and aid. Let everyone give as we gave during the war—"until it hurts."

In the few days left before the city election, we wish it distinctly understood that the present mayor is our personal friend and we shall neither by word or pen, say anything which will in any way, disturb that friendship. In view of the campaign of two years ago, we do not even intend to criticize in a perfectly legitimate manner, acts of the present administration which might properly be made a subject of discussion. We shall keep solely to the statement that "ten years is long enough. Time to change." In support of this slogan, let us add that in many years' experience in City Hall, we have noticed the quickening up of the various departments whenever a new mayor assumed office and a general improvement in city work, due undoubtedly to the fresh point of view of each new executive. Continuance in office tends to routine and ruts, no matter how good an executive may be in office.

ultimately for the Bigelow Junior High School. It appears that the money question is an element. If the proposed new rooms are made out of space now occupied by the roof, the expense must be paid out of current revenues. But if an addition to the building is made, large enough to provide class rooms, gymnasium and showers, the expense could be met by a bond issue to spread the cost over the next twenty years. However, the building also needs new plumbing and revised ventilating, heating and lighting.

A joint committee are at present working on the city's problem of adequate buildings. This committee consists of Aldermen George W. Pratt, Newton Centre; Roy V. Collins, Newtonville; and Harry W. Pitts, Newton; and School Committee men, George M. Angier, Waban; Salmon W. Wilder, Newton Centre; Everett E. Went, Newton and Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, West Newton.

She had left her own room to visit a student in the same dormitory, going by way of the fire escape, and it is thought, fell through an opening. College authorities said no question of discipline was involved and it was just an unfortunate occurrence that she had not used the hall way.

QUEBEC SPRUCE HELD BEST

Peculiar Quality of Wood Considered to Give It Superiority for Certain Sporting Purposes.

Oxford may use American Rhodes scholars to win the annual boat race, but Quebec spruce is used for her oars. Once British Columbia spruce was tried, but though the Dark Blues won, the experiment was never repeated, owing to three or four of the oars having to be replaced at the last moment. Formerly pitch pine was used. Willows are used for cricket bats, but ash is the sportsman's tree. Without it lawn tennis would be impossible. Anyway, although various substitutes have been tried, including steel, cane, aluminum, and hickory, nothing has been found to approach, far less to equal, the best British ash, for racket frames. Ash is also unbeatable for billiard cues, though they are spliced with heavier woods, such as mahogany; also for hockey sticks, baseball clubs, jumping poles, cricket stumps, and croquet mallet shafts. Cane is also put to a variety of uses. It is used for fishing rods, polo sticks, the splicing of all kinds of bats and handles, cricket pads, and football and hockey shin guards. Greenheart is favored for fishing rods; and wooden golf club shafts are generally made of hickory, greenheart, and occasionally lance wood, orange wood, and sometimes ash being used for "irons." Heads are generally made of beech, but pear tree and apple tree are also used. Bowling enthusiasts have their "woods" made of lignum vitae or boxwood. Cork, like cane, is used for the splicing of handles, also the interior of cricket balls. Then there would be without the rubber tree? There would be no balls, or, at least, no suitable balls, for football, lawn tennis, netball, golf, water polo, cricket on the sands, for which a solid rubber ball is incomparably the best.

RICHES FOUND BY CHANCE

Discoveries Ranked Among the World's Greatest Assets Have Been the Result of Accident.

Some years ago a boy in Australia was tripping rabbits, and his dog, scratching at a hole, exposed a mass of yellowish rock. The boy, who knew the country to be gold bearing, told his father that he believed he had "struck it rich." The father, however, panned the idea, but when at last the boy persuaded him to go to the spot, he found that what his son said was true. A mine was started and since then it is estimated that $50,000 has been made as a result of the dog's discovery. One of the most valuable finds made with the help of an animal was in Montana, where a sapphire ledge was revealed to the eyes of a badger trapper. The man was setting his traps one day when his hand encountered something hard in the earth thrown out by the animals in their burrowings. Closer investigation revealed a number of sapphires. Today the trapper is a rich man. In Africa a small diamond find was once made by a man who discovered a diamond in the gizzard of a goose, and explored all its feeding places till he found the valuable one. The finding of a small piece of gold in a dog's paw, responsible for a gold "rush" in Alaska, recalls other instances of animals which have pointed out the path to prosperity to their owners.

Wonders of Education.

The doctor was calling on old Mrs. Canny. She was not very ill, but she always had some question to ask the doctor that had nothing to do with her own case.

"Doctor," she said on this occasion, "can you tell me why it is that some people are born dumb?"

The doctor thought for a moment. "Why—hem—certainly," he replied; "it is owing to the fact that they come into the world without the faculty of speech."

The old lady gazed at him in admiration. "There, now," she retorted. "Now just see what it means to have had a physio education. I asked Thomas more than a hundred times why it was, and all he could say was, 'Cause they is.'"

Was Not the Dog.

Sheffield, in England, has recently been amused at the adventures of a burglar, who stumbled against a chair and awakened the owner of the house. A big dog was allowed to roam the place at night, but had not disturbed the burglar, who crept under the bed. The occupant placed his hand on the burglar's head, stroked his hair, complimented him upon being a good dog and went to sleep again. Thereupon the burglar ransacked the other rooms, took all the valuables and departed at leisure. Next morning the owner ascertained that the real dog had been locked in the kitchen all night.

Wanted the Situation.

A weary-looking fellow who had opened all the doors looking for work happened to see a huge police advertisement headed:

"Murderer Wanted."

"Well," he said, scratching his head, "it's better'n nothing, anyhow. I'm going in and ask for the job."

Good Wishes.

Mr. Rockwell had just become the proud father of bouncing twin babies, when he encountered one of his wife's women friends.

"Congratulations!" she said. "I hear your wife gave birth to twins."

"Thank you!" he answered, excitedly. "The same to you and many of them!"

A CHRISTMAS SEAL HEALTH CLASS

SOMERSET FARMS WINS AGAIN

Most successful sessions of the Maine Dairymen's Association, the Maine Pomological Society and the Maine Seed Improvement Association were those held recently at Portland City Hall, according to the reports of Commissioner F. P. Washburn and the other officials of the Department of Agriculture who returned to their offices Friday. There was a fine attendance at the meetings and addresses of great practical value were given by well-known speakers.

The exhibits were all of high quality, including displays of milk, cream and butter, apples and various kinds of grains and seeds. The Boys' and Girls' Clubs had a fine exhibit of canned vegetables and fruit, and there were a good number of commercial exhibits.

The opening day of the convention was Seed Improvement Day, while on the second day the Maine Dairymen met in conference. A feature of the day was the address given by Dr. Charles E. North, director of the North Public Health Bureau at New York City, whose subject was "Premiums for Clean Milk." Dr. North told how good milk can be obtained with the ordinary equipment by use of good methods. Manager Richard Pattee of the N. E. M. P. A., also was a speaker.

State Dairy Inspector Forrest A. Barbour gave a demonstration showing the value of good methods in milk production by using sediment disks and sediment testers. He used cheese cloth and cotton pads for filter and tested out the results to show the advantage of the cotton pad over the cheese cloth.

The prize awards in the dairy division have just been announced by H. M. Tucker, chief of division of animal industry, Department of Agriculture, and are as follows: Market, Cream, pasteurized, 1st, Solon Creamery of Harmony; 2nd, George L. Bennett of Solon; 3rd, Sparkling Spring Creamery, of Norridgewock.

The above creameries are operated by the Somerset Creamery of Boston.

THE ROTARY CLUB

Superintendent of Schools U. G. Wheeler was the guest and speaker at the usual Monday luncheon of the Newton Rotary Club, held at the Newton club house. Mr. Wheeler gave an interesting account of the work done in the Newton Schools and answered a large number of questions asked by the members of the club.

THRU THE EMPIRE STATE

From Niagara to Manhattan with the National Editorial Association

If Wednesday was "some day" in the entertainment provided for the Association, we must surely designate Thursday as the "day of days." We were the guests of the Westchester County Publishers' Association on that day and from nine o'clock in the morning when we left the hotel in large busses until nearly two o'clock the next morning when we returned, there was a program which taxed the endurance, as well as absorbed the interest of all.

Mayor Hylan again showed his interest in our visit by providing us with a corps of motor cycle officers and once again our progress thru the busy streets of New York was made while other traffic was held up for our passage. As we entered the other cities and towns in Westchester County, other cycle cops met us and guided us thru their particular backwoods and at one time we had about twelve policemen guarding us.

Our first stop was at Yonkers City hall, where we were greeted by the Mayor and met a few of the county and city officials. Evidently, the political machine is in good shape in that county as we were introduced to the "next sheriff" and other prospective officers of the district.

We then drove on to Tarrytown, the home of the new president of the Association, Wallace Odell, and were greeted by members of the Rotary Club, who had gallantly decorated Mr. Odell's home in honor of the occasion.

As this was the home of Washington Irving, special services for us were held in the church in which he worshipped and a citizen well versed in its and Mr. Irving's history gave us a talk well filled with interesting incidents and data. The edifice has many interesting relics. Resuming our journey we passed the site of the capture of the British spy, Major Andre, now marked by a monument, then on and into the section made famous by Irving in his writings, Sleepy Hollow, the bridge of the Headless Horseman, and the old Dutch church wherein Ichabod Crane took the palm away from the minister. In this church, dating back 1699, were held services in our honor, and the pastor, the Rev. John Allen Knox, gave us much of the history of the church, the cemetery and the section. He quoted a number of the quaint epitaphs on the old headstones. The bell, which was cast in Holland in 1695, was tolled. The Sleepy Hollow cemetery with its old tombs, its recently constructed Washington Irving chapel as an entrance to the newer part and the magnificent mausoleum of such noted wealthy people as the Carnegies, the Rockefellers and others are truly worth viewing.

Country Club, said to be the finest country club in the world, and its claims will certainly not be disputed by any member of our Association.

Located on the top of the highest hill in the district it commands a magnificent view of country and shore. It occupies 650 acres. Uncle Sam's greatest battleship "The Maryland," could be laid easily to bed on the property. It is a great place for the golfer, the tennis player and the chap who is fond of polo. Its fascination is hard to define. One can skate, ski or toboggan in the winter time. In summer time you can swim at the Beach Club, an adjunct of the Country Club.

We were all tired out and hungry, but the beauty of the place appealed to us even under those handicaps. Our banquet, undoubtedly the finest we had had thruout our trip, was served in a room with several levels and was accompanied by some excellent music. Besides the toastmaster, Mr. Franklin A. Merriam of Mt. Vernon, the president of the Westchester County Publishers' Association, we had as guests Judge Arthur S. Tompkins of the New York Supreme Court and Mr. Augustus Thomas, the well-known playwright. I was honored that evening by the gift from the Association of a handsome Scottish Rite ring, the presentation being made by Judge Tompkins, who was the Grand Master of Masons in the State of New York. The Association, in this unique manner thus associated the fact that during the time I was its president, I also took the Scottish Rite degree of Free Masonry. It is needless for me to say that I deeply appreciated both the gift and the manner in which it was presented to me.

It was a weary ride home in the wee sma' hours, but there was a chorus of approval to the remark that Westchester County was certainly on the map of the National Editorial Association.

This ended the official entertainment in New York, but Mayor Hylan again showed his interest in us by giving those who remained in the city an excellent luncheon on Friday at the Waldorf Astoria.

I have attended many trips of the Association in years gone by and have enjoyed and appreciated the hospitality of the residents of many states of the Union. I do not know of any disparagement of what has been provided in the past, if I close this series of letters by the statement that in hospitality as well as in scenic beauty, New York is certainly "The Empire State."

SCHOOL NOTES

Newton Centre School Association

Hyde School

More than 400 parents visited the Hyde School during Education Week. The Hyde school football team played the Shady Hill school team at Newton Highlands, Tuesday afternoon. The victory was in favor of the Hyde team.

The seventh grades gave the Thanksgiving program in the hall on Wednesday morning. The entertainment took the form of a pictorial representation of Longfellow's "Miles Standish." Barbara Nichols read selections from the poem while illustrating the scenes were shown.

Louise Hawkes made a delightful "Priscilla" while Evan Collins and Emmons Brown did equally as well in the parts of John Alden and Miles Standish. Earl Banner was a dignified Elder Brewster; Wendall Allen a severe and ferocious Indian; Kenneth Hurley, a breathless messenger; Richard Hapgood, William Smith, Richard Gibbs and Kenneth Warren were members of the council; and Jeanne Manning, Gladys Williams, Dorothy True were guests at the wedding.

Preceding the program the Governor's Proclamation was read by Albert Hutchinson. Between pictures musical numbers were furnished by the following Trio of two violins with piano by Esta Woodworth, Virginia Lambert, and Martha Thompson. "Gallo solo" by Nancy Ryther, accompanied by Marguerite Parker. Piano solo by Marguerite Parker.

Mason School

The Newton Centre School Association has brought and presented to the Mason Library, Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia. It is in ten volumes of a convenient size for children to handle, and is beautifully illustrated. We are very grateful to the Association.

Wednesday, the third and fourth grades entertained the school with tableaux illustrating the life of the Pilgrims in England, in Holland and in America. They also presented the first meeting with the Indians and the first Thanksgiving. The little people made it a grand success.

National Education Week was observed by a hall gathering on Nov. 21. The program follows: "America, the Beautiful," School; Oral theme, The Value of Education, Constance Wright; Preamble to the Constitution, Bernard Rockwood; Play, A Man without a Country, Grade VIII; Battle Hymn of the Republic, School; Oral theme, What Newton Gives and Expects, Catherine Stone; Rhetoric, Respect the Flag, George Goodale; Exercise, Grade VII; History of Our Flag, "Star Spangled Banner," School.

Real Success in Life.

After all, that is the most success can yield—a landmark of achievement accomplished for the good of others. All the rest is mere food, washing and lodging. And so, unless we get joy and happiness into our lives in doing our daily routine business, any so-called success is meaningless and shadowy—mere Dead sea fruit—a mirage of the desert.—Viscount Leverhulme.

Woman Holds Honor.

The first woman to talk by telephone is said to have been Mrs. E. G. Sovereign. In 1874, when Alexander Graham Bell was making his first experiments with the telephone at Brantford, Ont., Mrs. Sovereign was teaching school in that place and helped the inventor string the wire and set up his first telephone instruments.

BETTER MUSIC QUICKLY MASTERED ON THE GULBRANSEN
Listen to the playing of a Gulbransen piano. Compare it with the average hand playing a cheap piano. Gulbransen playing is infinitely more expressive, more artistic. This is a broad statement, but it is true; and important because it points the way for you to play with your own individuality and expression, but without long and tedious study. Remember these facts: First, the Gulbransen is easy to play; second, you do the playing just as you would play any instrument; third, it is the only player-piano with an official bond. White House Model, $700; Country Sea Model, $400; Suburban Model, $420; Community Model, $420. Use Players, $250; very reasonable terms. Victrolas and Pianos taken in exchange. See us.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor

"To all Christian people He (the child of Bethlehem) symbolized hope for a better life here and beyond," says Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, president of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, in her Christmas message in the Federation Topics for December.

"In this criss cross world of today many people will tell you that hope is dead, that unless a great leader can be born into the world to lead it out of its present darkness, civilization will perish. I cannot think so. Every moment of every day new hope is born into the world in the birth of little children. Just as a little child, years and years ago, started the world on a new road, so today little children can cleanse the world of hate and make us rebuild a new civilization.

"Our club work has for its keynote a better world for our children, that hope goes through every avenue. We will cultivate their inborn love of beauty, develop their imagination, give them every chance at the right kind of physical and mental development, and then say to them, 'We turn this old world over to you to reconstruct and save.' Poor, poor children, is this the heritage we have given them, our hope of the world?

"I sometimes wonder, as we all do I imagine, just what that great Teacher would say to us if He came back and saw all of the plans we are making for the next generation. Don't you think He would say to us, as He said so many years ago, that 'the fields were white with harvest, but the laborers were few?' The enemies of greed, hatred, distrust, and indifference are stronger today than ever. If we could slay the last named, in difference, the battle would be soon won, but as long as he holds his own the fight is a discouraging one.

"The old year is about ready to join his companions. I wish he might feel as he leaves that the fight against indifference and inertia was truly one, that men and women in all walks of life and in all countries were alive and awake at last, and hope was strong in the hearts of all that a better day was really dawning.

"May we again, at this Christmas time, pledge ourselves anew for the fight, determined that our children shall have a happier heritage than has been ours."

Shannon Fund for Moral Education

Through the efforts of the late Mrs. Clara Bancroft Beatty, pioneer worker and one of its founders, the Conference Committee on Moral Education, (recently disbanded) has bequeathed to the Federation bonds amounting to about $2,000 known as the "Shannon Fund," the interest from which is to be used to promote the cause of moral education, especially among the young. Mrs. Beatty's earnest wish that this be given over to the Federation, long interested in the work, was accomplished just two weeks before her death, through the auspices of the last active president, Mrs. George C. Norton of Roxbury. This fund is to be administered by the Finance Committee of the Federation as trustees, Mrs. Frederick C. Smith, chairman. Several clubs around Boston were actively interested in the work and held membership in the Conference Committee of Moral Education.

Local Happenings

For two hours on a recent Friday evening in the Congregational church in Auburndale, Lasell pupils, Auburndale Woman's Club members, and community guests listened with intense absorption and appreciation of frequent sallies of wit of Miss Jane Richards of Washington, D. C., who regarded as the foremost woman lecturer on current events in the country, as she explained some of the problems now vexing Europe. Having returned from a summer abroad, Miss Richards was well qualified to speak with authority, especially of the troubles between France and Germany. The greater part of the lecture was given up to this problem, with a summary of the relations between the two countries covering many years, to show why the question is so complicated. She gave a clear summing up of the differences to be smoothed away before peace can be really permanent. An account of her recent interview with President Coolidge shows the high esteem in which she is held in Washington. The point the President had in mind was to urge her to improve on all her audiences the importance of reading for themselves, to obtain unbiased opinions, the actual notes exchanged between diplomats, rather than trusting to newspaper headlines. The lecture closed with a note of optimism and opportunity was given afterwards for questions. As the meeting was under the joint auspices of Lasell and the Woman's Club, the Club of St. Lasell first opened the program with two delightful Christmas carols. Expressions of appreciation for a most profitable evening were heard everywhere.

The Home Economics class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club met at the home of its chairman, Mrs. Otho Schofield on Thursday 3rd last week for luncheon. Afterwards the members gave practical hints on efficiency in home management, unusual recipes, new appliances of value as labor savers. Later in the afternoon they were conveyed by automobile to visit a laundry equipped with all the modern appliances.

The annual bridge and whist party held at the Brae Burn Country Club last week was well attended and netted a substantial sum for the club's scholarship.

Newton Federation

At the meeting of the executive board on Monday morning announcement was made of the classes in occupational therapy under the auspices of the Welfare Bureau. Those desiring to join must be recommended by a physician, and application should be made to the Bureau. A need for coats for boys ranging from 6 to 12 years of age, who have nothing to year but sweaters, was mentioned. Such may be sent to the office of the Bureau, 12 Austin street, Newtonville.

Costumes for the Newton women taking part in the Pageant to be presented by the State Federation on December 12 are much needed.

Mrs. D. M. Goodridge, chairman of the Conservation committee urged, as a conservation measure, the club women not to buy the mountain laurel for decorations at Christmas. Mrs. W. G. Starkweather, chairman of the Civics committee, reported that her committee has been securing the registration of voters, and is arranging for a University Extension course in Government to begin soon after the new year. The Education committee, Mrs. Harry Taylor, chairman, reported progress in its study of school conditions in the city. Mrs. Joseph Congdon, who has been making investigations relative to scholarships given by the federated clubs, reported the clubs in the Newton Federation offering them. Mrs. Arthur W. Lawton, chairman of the Legislative committee, stated that as yet the full Newton quota of signatures for the initiative petition has not been secured.

Mr. Arthur Dunham, executive secretary of the Central Council of Social Agencies in Newton, explained his aims for the future of the Council, exhibiting a chart which showed the grouping of the 34 organizations affiliated.

NEWTON CENTRE UNITARIAN CHURCH

One of the chief reasons why things do not move faster, both in democracy and religion, is personal timidity, sometimes called lack of courage. In a meeting people wait for someone else to get up and say what is in their own minds, so it never gets said. One of the greatest addresses made in the English language in the last few years was made by Mr. J. M. Barry on this very topic of courage. At the Unitarian Church at Newton Centre next Sunday the minister, George Laurence Parker, will hold a preaching conference on the subject "The Christian Sin of Timidity."

At 7.30 P. M. in the Parish House the second of the evening Forums under the auspices of the Laymen's League will be held. It is believed that the attendance of 200 of last Sunday evening will be surpassed. The speaker will be the minister of the church and his subject will be "Is There a Science of Personal Religion?" Questions from the floor will be invited after the lecture. A musical program of much interest will be furnished by the Glee Club of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The public is most cordially invited.

The Stebbins Alliance will meet on Monday, December 1st at 1.30 P. M. This will be Guest Day and the Alliance has invited the other Alliances of the vicinity to come and share the afternoon with them. After a brief business session there will be a musical

OBERLIN COLLEGE DRIVE

At a recent dinner in Boston, 150 alumni of Oberlin College, Mr. Herbert Mayer of Auburndale, was selected as chairman of the men's section and Mrs. Fred S. Retan of West Newton, was placed in charge of the pledges from women, in the drive being made for the Oberlin College Building and Endowment Fund.

It is interesting to note that Oberlin was the first college to prove the success of co-education and the Anti-Slavery agitation and the Anti-Saloon League had its birth there.

POST ROAD FARM—MILK

Do you ever stop to consider the source of your milk supply?
Do you know that the milk you receive daily is coming from a herd of cows that are clean and healthy?
Do you know that the stable, in which these cows are kept, is clean and sanitary?
Do you know that the milking is done in a sanitary, careful way?
Do you know that the milk is carefully bottled and delivered?
Do you know that the tuberculin test has been applied to the herd of cattle supplying you with milk and that you are now receiving milk from a tuberculin free herd?

Unless you are getting milk handled under these conditions, you are not getting the best. The source of a milk supply will easily determine its quality.
We invite you to inspect our Dairy. If you order from Post Road Farm you will get a rich, clean milk of fine flavor.
PRICE 18 cts. PER QUART

SAFELY GUIDED BY INSTINCT

Lower Animals Avoid Danger in a Manner That to Mankind is Remarkable.

The Metropolitan railway in London, England, generally known as the "underground," is infested with rats, and every effort is made to exterminate them. The electric current runs through one of the rails, but the other is free.

An official on the railway, who was setting traps on the line bank, told a newspaper representative that at certain places the rats can be observed, and he had noticed how careful they were to avoid the live rail.

They make their holes along the banks of the railway, and actually within a few inches of the deadly rail. "I have watched them making their way across the lines from one hole to another," he said, "and noticed that they go unhesitatingly over the ordinary metals, but they never go near the rail through which the current is passing. They will carefully go under it, but will not even touch the wooden rails which are on either side."

Special men are employed to keep the rat population down, and they have noticed this carefulness.

Asked if rats had any special sense which enabled them to detect danger from electrically live metals, a zoologist said that the problem was an interesting one, but obscure.

An official of the Zoological society said that no experiments had been made to his knowledge to test this, but it was known that many animals possessed a faculty for detecting danger which human beings lacked. In this case the extreme sensitiveness of the end of the rat's whisker might be the aid.

In like manner, many cases have been recorded of such highly developed sense in dogs and cats. Most dogs know when a person is in fear of them.

SAVES TIME IN HARVESTING

American Ingenuity Has Produced Engine That Has Been Sought Throughout the Centuries.

Sugar cane is harvested today in the same primitive manner that it was thirty centuries ago. The harvester cuts one stalk at a time, trims away the leaves and throws it aside. American ingenuity has attacked this problem. An efficient machine which resembles a grain reaper has been built. The sugar cane harvester does the work of a hundred men and does it much better. Profiting by the experience gained in developing grain harvesters, the inventor of the cane harvester may be said to have started in where the early inventors of similar machines ended.

The cane harvester is built somewhat upon the lines of a dinosaur. It is about the size of a modern grain harvester, although narrower for its height. It is driven by a gasoline engine and guided by a single operator, and is mounted on broad tractors so that it can pass with equal dexterity over rough or marshy ground at undiminished speed. At the forward end is a narrow nose-like prow which moves slowly but steadily through the thickest growth. The stalks of sugar cane are cut by two circular knives placed close to the ground. As the stalks are severed they are gathered in by a series of mechanical fingers and carried to the stripping machinery further astern.

In cutting sugar cane by hand the stalk is severed eight inches or more from the ground. The harvester cuts it within less than one inch of the ground. Since the lower part of the stalk is richest in sugar it is estimated that the stalks cut by machinery are 10 per cent richer than those cut by hand.

SMALL WONDER SHE BALKED

Bob's Selection of Best Man Naturally Created Misgivings in Mind of Bride-to-Be.

"Well, I suppose Mary and Bob are happily married by this time," Gladys remarked.

"No, Gladys, they're not!" Virginia answered. "I had a letter just yesterday afternoon from Mary, and she said the wedding had been postponed."

"Postponed!" Gladys exclaimed. "Why, whatever can the matter be?"

"She didn't say, but she intimated that it was something awful. I sat down right away and wrote her a letter in a day or two, and I'll tell you about it just the minute I hear."

Two days later Virginia came rushing over to Gladys with the expected letter from Mary.

"Oh, Gladys, I don't blame Mary a bit—not a single bit!" Virginia exclaimed. "She had the wedding date set and everything all arranged when she found out that the man Bob had chosen for best man was a young lawyer who was specializing in divorce cases."—Kansas City Star.

"Sporting One's Oak." To "sport one's oak" is a phrase signifying that one is not at home to visitors. The expression originated at the English universities, where the students' chambers have two doors—an inner and an outer one. The outer door is made of oak, and when this is closed or "sporting" it denotes either that the occupant of the apartment is out or that he does not wish to be disturbed.

Here is an example: "Young Wardlaw went down to Oxford and shut himself up in his own room, a prey to fear and remorse. He sported his oak, and never went out. All his exercise was that of a wild beast in its den, walking restlessly up and down."—"Foul Play," by Charles Reade and Dion Boucicault.

Curious Scottish Custom. A curious marriage custom prevails in the little northern fishing village of Burghhead, on the shores of the Moray Firth, Scotland.

If a fisherman or fishergirl is to be married, the guests do not expect a written or printed invitation to attend the ceremony. The custom is for some of the bride or bridegroom's relatives to go to the house of the invited guests (which often embraces the entire population) and shake an umbrella, at the same time remarking: "Ye ken what for."

The date, place, and time of marriage is then intimated, and the message bearer departs to shake the umbrella in the house of some other invited guest.

Turned Test Into Earnest. Is there any Canadian parallel for this experience of a pastor in a small Pennsylvania town. The citizens were deaf to all appeals for progress. In his effort to get a new community hall he found himself appointed a committee of one to begin construction. The next morning with pick and shovel, "the committee commenced to function." His spirit electrified the townsfolk to such a degree that they came to the rescue and completed the building.—Montreal Family Herald.

H. C. L. A wealthy, but tight-fisted clubman was accosted by a beggar who asked for a quarter. The clubman looked at the man sternly for a moment and then said:

"See here, aren't you the man who struck me for a dime three days ago?" "Yes, sir," said the beggar, "but do me best, I can't keep expenses under 3 1/2 cents a day."—Philadelphia Record.

Crowded China.

China is larger in area than the United States, Mexico and Central America. It has four times the population of the United States, eight times the population of all South America, almost equal the population of all Europe and one-quarter of the population of the world. The Yangtze delta, with an area about equal to Illinois, has a population of 40,000,000, or 800 to the square mile.

Observations of Oldest Inhabitants. As an oldtimer I'm beginning to wonder if things are gonna get so reversed that a young man of the future will refuse to marry a girl if she doesn't give up smoking.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Pit Safety-Spray.

After nine years' experimenting, an Aspatria (Cumberland) miner claims to have discovered a liquid which, when sprayed, will render mine explosions almost impossible and purify the air.

Cultivate Cheerful Thoughts.

No one can do work when the mind is clouded with unhappy or vicious thoughts. The mental sky must be clear or there can be no enthusiasm, no brightness, clearness, or efficiency in our work. To do the maximum of which you are capable, you must keep your mind filled with cheerful, uplifting thoughts.

Growth.

To claim completeness for our opinions is to abandon the encouragement of progress; and on the other hand, difficulties frankly met reveal new paths of truth.—Brooke Foss Westcott.

WONDERS OF AMERICA

By T. T. MAXEY

HOME OF WASHINGTON

ON THE peaceful and picturesque shore of the River Potomac, some sixteen miles south of our national capital, stands Mount Vernon—the home of The Father of His Country.

It was so named in honor of Admiral Vernon of the British navy and it is to the efforts of the Mount Vernon Ladies' association of the United States that the citizens of America are indebted for the preservation of this national shrine.

Occupying a site of great charm, commanding a sweeping view of broad river and pleasing landscape, is this grand old mansion—to which the young officer came to live shortly after his marriage and to which he retired from the presidency, to spend his days in a manner befitting one of his rank, means and time, and where he died in 1799.

The structure was built in 1743 and contains many of the original furnishings and relics of the family. Clustered about it are the barn, coach house, spinning house, meat house, ice house, wash house, kitchen and other outbuildings. Nearby is a remarkable, old-fashioned garden, with quaint, oddly-designed spaces set off by box hedges, said to be 150 years old. In this garden is a coffee tree said to have been planted in 1824 by General Lafayette and cuttings from a willow tree which it is claimed were brought from the grave of the great Napoleon at St. Helena.

Enclosed in two marble sarcophagi, in a small and simple structure within the grounds, rest the remains of General George Washington and his consort Martha.

—There will be an evening service at the Church of the Messiah this Sunday night.
